The Reliance In the Lead From the Start Today and Apparently a Certain Winner.

Sandy Hook, August 27.—(Special.)—The Reliance will win with ease today, according to all indications, and the great prize cup will be in the hands of American sportsmen for at least two more years, making 53 consecutive years that England yachtsmen have bowed before triumphant Americans.

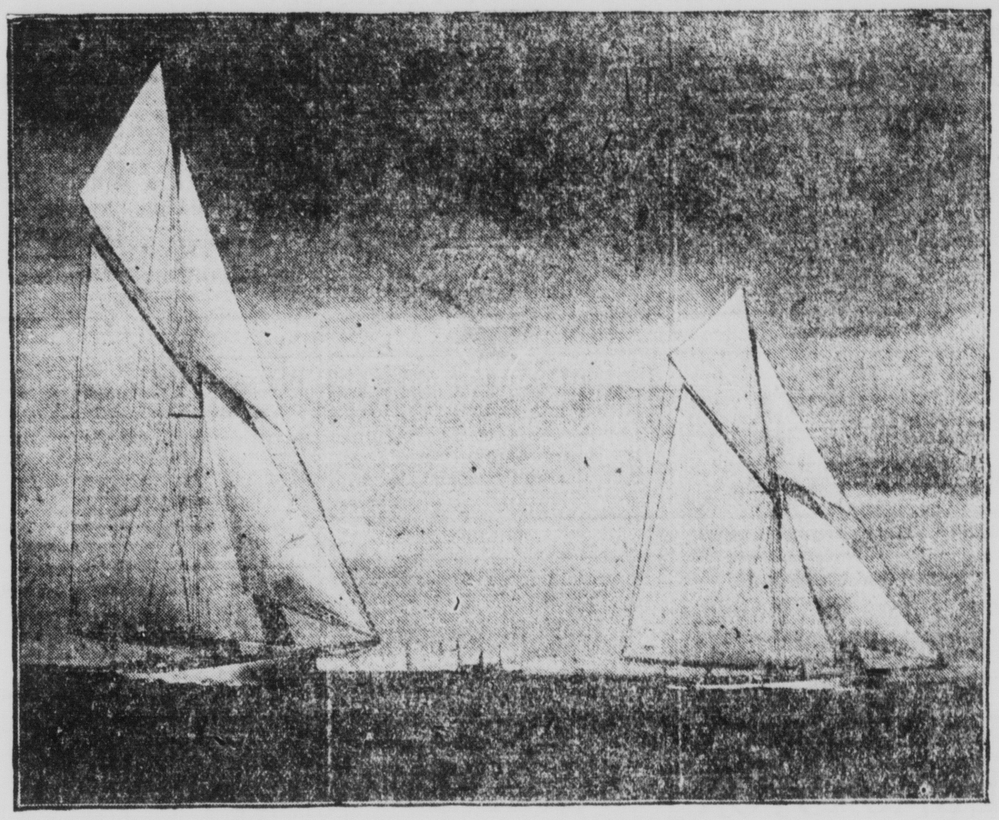

The race today was witnessed by thousands of most enthusiastic people, scores of boats being filled to their uttermost all along the line of the race. The boats, both in perfect condition, commenced getting ready for the heat early, and no racers ever looked prettier than they when the starting line was nearing. It was a windward and leeward battle.

The Reliance crossed the line first at 11:02, the Shamrock following a minute later. The wind was blowing 5½ miles per hour, the sea was calm and the weather excellent.

The advantage gained by the defender in her start was never overcome at any stage by the Shamrock, but for an hour or so there was not much difference in speed noted. At 12:30 the Reliance was a mile in the lead. Until 1 o'clock neither boat seemed to gain a point when the Reliance started rapidly to increase the span and at 2 o'clock was leading by 6 minutes.

The latest bulletin states that the Shamrock has gained slightly and the Reliance is only 4 minutes ahead.

ENGINES OF HEAVY TYPE ARE BEING NEGOTIATED FOR BY YOUNGSTOWN & SOUTHERN

As has been stated in the News Review, the Youngstown & Southern Railway company is preparing to haul coal from the North Lima coal fields as soon as the line which is now under process of construction has reached that point. The company has located the openings for the mines and will begin selling coal in Youngstown as soon as possible. The Cleveland Leader says regarding it:

"The Youngstown & Southern company is negotiating with builders of electric locomotives for three engines of the heaviest type. It is expected that these will be able to haul 20 cars each loaded with 50 tons of coal. The company is also negotiating with some car builders for heavy steel cars of 40 and 50 tons' carrying capacity. They will have hopper bottoms and all arrangements for the convenient handling of coal usually provided for the steam railroads. This equipment is being provided to drain some new coal fields in the East Liverpool district at present served by no railroad. The intention of the Youngstown & Southern company is to build a low grade road from Youngstown to East Liverpool, the maximum grade being less than 2 per cent. The engines, which have been negotiated for, although not yet purchased, will be able

MATTERS GROWING WORSE

The garbage situation in the city remains unchanged, nearly every street and alley outside the central district containing an unlimited amount of fever-breeding offal and the residents living on such thoroughfares being absolutely without recourse. They are at the mercy of the city council, and if the action of that body continues no more speedy than in the past they will be enwrapped by the same conditions for months to come.

Reports by the score are heard at the city hall every day from suffering humanity, and while objections are being raised concerning the derelict officials, there seems to be nothing doing relative to assisting the endangered ones. It is true that a committee was appointed by council Tuesday evening to confer with the city solicitor regarding the conditions, but the people do not feel that this was bringing the issue to an end. They knew by experience that committees galore have been appointed since last May, and they know that the garbage question is many fold worse now than it was then.

What the people want is definite action, and they want it to occur at once. Council knows the necessity of the action. An uprising will take place if the question is not finally settled soon. At least one member of council is cognizant of the need of a settlement. He stated on Tuesday evening that he had noticed for weeks the conditions in California hollow and pronounced them deplorable. "Garbage haulers are disposing of the filth in conspicuous places in the hollow," he said, "and not only is the stench disgusting, but the miles of dirt are running over with the germs that produce fever. In fact, there is one family living in the neighborhood at the present time at the mercy of the dreaded fever. I feel that something should be done."

"This councilman's assertion," said a prominent citizen, "should awaken the body to quick action. When the lives of the community are at stake something is due from the officials in charge. The councilmen have promised to awake at the next meeting, and they are urged to not let it pass. If they do the city will be completely helpless, Manager Bursner, of the Sanitary Reduction company, making the positive statement that he will shut down his plant on the day following council meeting if a contract is not closed with him. He has submitted his figures, both for disposing and collecting, and has agreed to file a surety bond, and it is now up to council to do the rest."

NEW PASTOR CHOSEN BY PRESBYTERIANS

Congregational Meeting Accepts Committee's Recommendation Unhesitatingly.

At the congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church last evening, Rev. J. N. Swan presided and George C. Murphy acted as clerk. The resignation of Rev. Charles G. Jordan was formally accepted. Prof. R. E. He is a graduate of Princeton and ranks high among the ministerial workers in Ohio.

The report of the committee was accepted, with only 12 opposing votes. Afterward the choice of the committee was made unanimous. A committee consisting of Messrs. Croxall, Stoddard and Warner, was appointed to dratt resolution in commendation of Pastor Jordan's work in the church. It was decided that Dr. Montgomery's work should begin as soon as Mr. Jordan's resignation took effect, and he is expected to enter upon his pastorate in October. The salary was fixed at $2,500, as at present.

The call will be reported to the Steubenville presbytery, which meets at Smithfield September 14, and arrangements will then be made for the installation.

A FINE OF $40 FOR YOUNG O'CONNOR

On the Charge of Pointing Firearms He Is Given a Stiff Sentence.

Edward O'Connor pleaded guilty yesterday at 5 p. m. before Mayor Weaver to the charge of resisting an officer and pointing firearms. The mayor imposed a fine of $40 and costs, upon the defendant's attorney waiving the right of a trial by a jury.

The charge against O'Connor, it will be remembered, was preferred by Officer Dawson, who with several other policemen arrested O'Connor a month ago after he had terrified his mother and others around his home on Monroe street. He was fined $10 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct, the day following his arrest.

Mrs. Leach Still Missing.

Park Leach, the Wellsville restaurant keeper, who reported the elopement of his wife with an oil man, at central station Tuesday evening, is yet on the hunt for her. She was located in this city yesterday morning, but before the police got on her trail she had gone to West Virginia. She was heard from at Empire and the husband left for that point.

OPTIONS CLOSED ON LARGE TRACT OF COAL LAND

Irondale Mining Company Pushing Ahead and Likely to Become One of the Big Industrial Corporations of This Section.

Irondale, August 27.—(Special)—That the Irondale Mining company is to become one of the largest and most important corporations of Eastern Ohio, was clearly shown yesterday when options on 1,500 acres of land, valuable for the coal and clay deposits, were taken up. The deals closed yesterday are of considerable magnitude, involving the expenditure of many thousands of dollars. Some time ago the company closed options on a tract of coal land and soon commenced upon its development, the first mine having been in operation a month or more and now producing 200 tons of coal per day.

The property secured by the company yesterday lies to the west and northwest of this town, although a portion of it is within the city limits. Experts have declared it to be very rich in both coal and clay and the topography of the land is such as to render both deposits easy of access.

It is the intention of the company at once to proceed with the development of the lands secured yesterday and with this end in view the contract has already been placed for an electrical equipment for the operation of a new mine. The openings to the coal veins will be started within the next few days.

These improvements will give the coal company a producing capacity of 1,000 tons of coal a day and will make it one of the largest in this section of the state. The enlargement will result in quite a boom for this city as several hundred men will be added to the company's payroll.

The Irondale Mining company was organized in May of this year with a capital of $300,000. The officers are: John A. Woods, Jr., of Pittsburg, president, E. W. Hill, of East Liverpool, vice president; F. L. Head, of Irondale, secretary and treasurer, and K. Head, of Irondale, general manager. A. D. Hill, of East Liverpool, is one of the directors. Under the direction of Manager Head, who is one of the best posted men in the coal business in the state, the company has made wonderful progress during the short period since it was organized and if nothing hinders the improvements mentioned above will make the record all the more remarkable.

Quite a number of Chester people were interested in the deals closed yesterday, they holding several small sections of the property taken up.

It was stated today that a mammoth sewer pipe works is soon to be built upon the property of the company by well known capitalists who will pay a royalty for the clays. The mining company, it is stated, is not interested in this project.

BEEF DAVIS ARRESTED ON THE USUAL CHARGE

James W. ("Beef") Davis, of Vine street, was arrested last night by Officer Morris on a charge of assault, preferred against him by his wife. He was released on his own recognizance to appear this morning, but was not compelled to do so, a friend of influence interceding and having his hearing postponed until next Saturday.

When she filed the charge, Mrs. Davis showed signs of having been roughly treated, marks being plainly visible on her neck and face. She claimed that Davis upon arriving at their home on Monday night gave her the worst licking of her life. She also claimed that she was not in the least to blame. However, this statement needs qualification, according to people living in the vicinity of the Davis home. The actions of the pair have become almost unbearable to their neighbors and it is the wish of all that some other locality be selected by them as a battle ground.

Salem Case Appealed.

Lisbon, August 27.—(Special.)—The case of Norman M. May vs. Robert Trimble and others, of Salem, in which the court gave a decision for the plaintiff some time ago, has been appealed. CLARKE AND HANNA LISBONS SONS

RIVAL CANDIDATES FOR SENATOR SENATOR WERE BOYS TOGETH

Success of the Democratic Aspirant Due to Johnson's Friend ship.

Columbus, August 27.—(Special)—The village of Lisbon gives to Ohio this year two candidates for the honored position of United States senator, the highest within her gift—Hon. Marcus A. Hanna and Hon. John H Clarke, both of whom first saw the light of day in that quaint, historical town. Yesterday afternoon, after a contest replete with stirring scenes,, the Democratic state convention named Hon. John H. Clarke as the man to oppose Hon. Marcus A. Hanna, candidate of the Republican party, for the office of United States senator.

It is somewhat singular that both men should be born in the same community, in after years should be neighbors in a city and should be pitted against each other by the rival big political parties for the greatest honor the state can confer. Mr. Clarke owes his success to his matchless oratory and to the help given him by Mayor Tom Johnson, of Cleveland.

RAILWAY FOREMAN BADLY INJUREO

Struck Violently With a Heavy Rope Attached to an Automatic Shovel.

An accident that might have resulted much more seriously befell M. W. Kelleher, a foreman in the employ of the contractors engaged in building the stone culverts for the C. & P., yesterday afternoon near Ralston crossing. As it is he is laid up with injuries of a rather serious nature and may not be able to resume his duties for several weeks.

Kelleher was standing upon the stone abutment of the culvert, directing the men in their work when he was struck violently with a heavy rope, attached to the automatic shovel. The force of the blow was so great that he was knocked from his position and fell to the ground, many feet beneath.

The injured man was picked up in a half conscious condition and taken to the office of Dr. R. J. Marshall. It was found that he was badly hurt about the arms and legs, but no bones were broken.

Miss Leonora Ball, of Pennsylvania avenue, East End, was painfully hurt early this morning while en route in a buggy to the Hookstown fair. The horse became frightened at a street car along the avenue between Wedgwood and Andrews avenues, and Miss Ball lost control of him. The frightened animal tried to run away, but the buggy struck a post, throwing Miss Ball and her companion to the ground. Miss McKinnon was not hurt, but Miss Ball's right arm was badly sprained and she was bruised and stunned.

The injured girl was carried into the home of Ben Mankins, where she awaited the arrival of a physician. Dr. Marshall rendered the necessary attendance.

DELAY IN BOND SALE IS UNPROFITABLE

Any Premium Possible Is Being Eaten Up By Innterest Charges.

The failure of council to sell the $92,925 worth of bonds is costing the taxpayers money. The city is paying interest on borrowed money at the rate of 7 per cent, and the amount is accumulating fast. Several of the councilmen stated that they wanted to hold the sale of the bonds up until sufficient money could be secured to pay for the printing of the bonds. They evidently did not take into consideration that the printing will cost less than $50, and that this amount is overbalanced already by interest.

TEAM TOOK FRIGHT AT A WHEELBARROW

AN EXCITING OCCURRENCE

Taking fright at a wheelbarrow being pushed directly at them by a boy who was runing at brekneck speed down Bradshaw avenue, two horses attached to a delivery wagon of Faulk Bros. & Co., the millers, wheeled abruptly from where they were left standing by their driver, John McDole, and ran down the avenue shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, quite seriously injuring two persons and causing damage estimated at nerly $200.

McDole was delivering some feed to a resident of Bradshaw avenue and had alighted from the wagon. The horses are ordinarily very peaceable and it was thought they would not become frightened at anything. The movement of the wheelbarrow and the noise it made was new to them, however, and before the driver could interfere they had turned completely around and were dashing at a terrible rate down toward the bottom of the hill, which is some places is very steep. People rushed wildly to their doors upon hearing the crash of wheels against big stones, and most of the persons on the street made a hasty exit. Charles Todd, driver of a wagon owned by Jones & Sellers, grocers, made a desperate attempt to get off the avenue and escape a collision with the frightened team, but he was not fast enough.

Charging down the narrow roadway with terrible fury, the horses seemingly made a bee-line for the Jones & Sellers wagon, and though the driver was tugging with all his might on the lines he was unable to get the grocery wagon out of danger. Onward the team sped and while spectators stood breathless they dashed into the grocery wagon, cutting a number of deep gashes in the horse's body, throwing Todd violently to the ground and smashing the frail wagon into smithereens.

Having wrecked as much damage as possible at this point, the wild team continued its mad rush and stopped only upon a collision with a water plug near the K., T. & K. pottery. The collision badly damaged the big mill wagon, bruised the horses considerably and broke off the water plug. The horses were then powerless to go further and their driver soon caught up with them, preventing any further excitement.

Todd is suffering much as a result of his experience and his horse will not recover for some time.

Harvey McHenry, of East Liverpool, and five carpenters, are now at Irondaye at work on the building of the Porter brick plant, to replace the structure burned recently. Mr. McHenry has the contract for the wood work and proposes to put on a large force and rush the work to completion.

The new building will be largely composed of iron and brick and made as nearly fireproof as possible.

TWO LADIES THROWN OUT OF A BUGGY

Miss Leonora Ball Hurt, Her Companion Escaping Any Injury.

Miss Leonora Ball, of Pennsylvania avenue, East End, was painfully hurt early this morning while en route in a buggy to the Hookstown fair. The horse became frightened at a street car along the avenue between Wedgwood and Andrews avenues, and Miss Ball lost control of him. The frightened animal tried to run away, but the buggy struck a post, throwing Miss Ball and her companion to the ground. Miss McKinnon was not hurt, but Miss Ball's right arm was badly sprained and she was bruised and stunned.

The injured girl was carried into the home of Ben Mankins, where she awaited the arrival of a physician. Dr. Marshall rendered the necessary attendance.

DELAY IN BOND SALE IS UNPROFITABLE

Any Premium Possible Is Being Eaten Up By Innterest Charges.

The failure of council to sell the $92,925 worth of bonds is costing the taxpayers money. The city is paying interest on borrowed money at the rate of 7 per cent, and the amount is accumulating fast. Several of the councilmen stated that they wanted to hold the sale of the bonds up until sufficient money could be secured to pay for the printing of the bonds. They evidently did not take into consideration that the printing will cost less than $50, and that this amount is overbalanced already by interest.

The advice of reprsentative citizens is that council dispose of these bonds at the earliest possible moment.

Lisbon, August 27.—(Special.)—Prof. F. M. Shelton, of the Canton high school, who was married Tuesday to Miss Mary Gertrude Packard, at her home in Oberlin, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Shelton, of this vicinity, who returned last evening from Oberlin, where they attended the wedding.

TEAM TOOK FRIGHT AT A WHEELBARROW

Taking fright at a wheelbarrow being pushed directly at them by a boy who was runing at brekneck speed down Bradshaw avenue, two horses attached to a delivery wagon of Faulk Bros. & Co., the millers, wheeled abruptly from where they were left standing by their driver, John McDole, and ran down the avenue shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, quite seriously injuring two persons and causing damage estimated at nerly $200.

McDole was delivering some feed to a resident of Bradshaw avenue and had alighted from the wagon. The horses are ordinarily very peaceable and it was thought they would not become frightened at anything. The movement of the wheelbarrow and the noise it made was new to them, however, and before the driver could interfere they had turned completely around and were dashing at a terrible rate down toward the bottom of the hill, which is some places is very steep. People rushed wildly to their doors upon hearing the crash of wheels against big stones, and most of the persons on the street made a hasty exit. Charles Todd, driver of a wagon owned by Jones & Sellers, grocers, made a desperate attempt to get off the avenue and escape a collision with the frightened team, but he was not fast enough.

Charging down the narrow roadway with terrible fury, the horses seemingly made a bee-line for the Jones & Sellers wagon, and though the driver was tugging with all his might on the lines he was unable to get the grocery wagon out of danger. Onward the team sped and while spectators stood breathless they dashed into the grocery wagon, cutting a number of deep gashes in the horse's body, throwing Todd violently to the ground and smashing the frail wagon into smithereens.

Having wrecked as much damage as possible at this point, the wild team continued its mad rush and stopped only upon a collision with a water plug near the K., T. & K. pottery. The collision badly damaged the big mill wagon, bruised the horses considerably and broke off the water plug. The horses were then powerless to go further and their driver soon caught up with them, preventing any further excitement.

Todd is suffering much as a result of his experience and his horse will not recover for some time.

Burial was in the Lisbon cemetery. The local miners' union attended.

WAR DOGS WATCHING

Navy Theoretically Lost Several Vessels in an Attack in the Morning.

MIMIC WAR GOES MERRILY ON

Portland, Me., Aug. 27.—At 10 o'clock last night the war maneuvers had again developed into a watching and waiting game for the defending forces just as before the mimic war was declared. At 7 o'clock the greater part of Admiral Barker's fleet was anchored off Goose island, about 10 miles from Fort McKinley, the eastermost of the protecting fortifications.

A demonstration, claimed by the army to be a day attack and by the navy a night attack, was made by the fleet early in the morning. The attack was repulsed with a theoretical loss of several vessels to the fleet.

The preliminary attack directly after midnight was made by landing parties; the later attack, which ended at 6 a. m., was made by two sections of the fleet, which attempted to force simultaneously the passages leading into the harbor. The fleet mobilized off Goose island and remained there all day.

During the early part of the evening there had been no open hostilities, but firing was heard shortly after 10 o'clock.

Moody Talks of Maneuvers.

Haverhill, Mass., Aug. 27.—Secretary of the Navy Moody was the chief guest of the boards of trades of the cities of the Merrimac Valley in Groveland and spoke briefly upon the navy and the present policy of the administration. Referring to the present war maneuvers, the secretary said:

"They are not for show or spectacle. The fact that they are a spectacle is the chief objection to them, but they are to train officers and men, because there is no other way in which they can be so well trained.

"There is an especial interest in these maneuvers for the people of New England. South of the Potomac there are few deep harbors, but as you come north the number and depth of the harbors increase until between Provincetown and Eastport there are more deep harbors than on other parts of our coast line.

"This is the most vulnerable part of our coast line, and because of the fact that upon each harbor stands a populous city representing in population and property vast interests of the nation, it becomes a part of the nation's duty to defend that property, and so these maneuvers are being held off this coast in order that the officers and men in our fleet may be trained to the defense of these cities and may have the opportunity by actual experience to learn the lesson which can be taught in no other way."

Cloudbursts Flood Council Bluffs.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 27.—Two cloudbursts destroyed hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property in this city. The first storm turned the streets of the city into torrents and hundreds of families in the lower districts were removed with difficulty. Another storm later in the evening raised the water still higher and many stocks were badly damaged. The loss in this city alone is estimated at easily half a million dollars. The rainfall here will amount to six inches. The Northwestern, Rock Island and Milwaukee roads are tied up and not running trains either in or out of the city.

TWO CARS DEMOLISHED IN EARLY MORNING WRECK

Two cars of a night freight train, east bound on the C. & P., were demolished in a wreck at 3 o'clock this morning just west of the Mulberry street crossing. The train crew escaped without injury. The wrecked cars were No. 3130, a flat loaded with dressed flag stones and No. 17,203, a box car, loaded with fertilizier. The woodwork of both cars was burning this morning after the contents had been removed.

The car carrying the stone was loaded too heavily, causing the car to jump the track, taking the box car directly in the rear with it. Fortunately the couplings parted or more cars would have been piled up. Both cars left the track to the south and struck the stone retaining wall with great force.

Nearly every slab of stone on the flat car was broken, adding much to the loss. The contents of the other wrecked car suffered but little. As a result of the track being blocked the early morning train was delayed three hours.

More Hookstown Visitors.

The threatening weather this morning did not deter several parties starting for the Hookstown fair and a great day is anticipated. From shortly after daylight until 9 o'clock the road to Hookstown was well sprinkled with vehicles. Among the East Enders who made the trip today were: Edward Searight, Miss Ida Betz, Mort Calhoun, Miss Edna Duncan, Pearl Finley, Ollie Hamilton, Mayme Randall, Samuel Searight, Joe Logan, Earl Horger, John White and wife, Charles White and wife, Helen McCain, Anna Searight, Miss Jennie Cowan, Fannie Jones and W. C. Supplee.

A New Industry.

According to a report in circulation this morning the East End is soon to have another industry and while not a great many men will be employed at first, it will add a great deal to the industrial reputation of the section. William Kinney, one of the most substantial citizens, it is reported, has already commenced preparations to become a mushroom farmer. He has secured a quantity of rotten wood and loam for mulching purposes and has had the gravel removed from his cellar, where he is to make the first attempt. In case the industry flourishes he will enlarge his farm and employ a number of assistants.

Rain May Interfere.

Manager Herbert, of the East End Grays, was a close observer of the weather indications this morning as the second of the series of games between his team and the Carroll club is scheduled for this afternon at Columbian park. In case rain prevents the contest it will be deferred until Saturday and the game that was schduled for that day will be played one day next week. Chambers was selected to do the pitching for the Grays today.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Robert Lacey, a popular East End barber, slipped and fell on the wet pavement this morning and suffered a painful injury to his knee.

Mrs. Hardman, of the Klondike, is reported very seriously ill with lung trouble.

C. J. Mench, of Allegheny, is the guest of Walter C. Supplee and family, of Pennsylvania avenue.

Mrs. Potts, an aged and highly respected lady, living in the Klondike, is very ill with paralysis.

The ladies of the Aid Society, of the Erie street Methodist church, will give an ice cream social at the home of Mrs. Sarah Dawson, of St. George street, on Friday evening.

Rev. J. N. Swan has received word that his son, Rev. B. H. Swan, who has been attending the Bible conference at Winona Lake, Ind., has left, with his family, for a visit at West Bethany, N. Y. Another son, Rev. C. W. Swan, who was also attending the conference, left for his home in Shreve.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Bellville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

Cloudburst Caused Great Damage.

Frankfort, Kan., Aug. 27.—The damage to farms in Nemaha and Marshall counties by the cloudburst is greater than at first estimated and now is placed at $500,000. Great quantities of hay, wheat and oats in stack, besides wheat and corn in bins, were swept away, while many farmers lost all their cattle and hogs. Business at Frankfort is at a standstill. Dozens of bridges are out and wire communication with most of the flooded points is still interrupted. The Vermillion river has fallen 10 feet.

Body Recovered by Fisherman.

Nantucket, Mass., Aug. 27.—The body of Albert E. Sivyer, the 17-year-old son of F. W. Sivyer, of Milwaukee, who was drowned by the capsizing of a sailboat last Saturday, was found on the north shore of Coatue by Charles Stackpole, a Nantucket fisherman. A reward of $500 offered for the body will be paid to Stackpole.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to, attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New size trial bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. POWERS APPEALED TO

Mass Meeting of Macedonians Ask for Immediate Intervention.

LIST OF VILLAGES DESTROYED

Help Must Come Quickly or There Will Be None Left to Save—Resolutions Adopted—Iron Bridge Blown Up by Rebels—Wires Cut.

Sofia, Aug. 27.—An immense mass meeting of Macedonians took place here. The proceedings were most enthusiastic. It was resolved that a memorandum should be presented to the representatives of the great powers at Sofia urging their governments to take action.

The recent visit of the Russian squadron to Turkish waters was much commented on at the meeting. It was described as "a moment of sunshine which quickly passed." The speakers impassionedly appealed for the immediate intervention of the powers in Macedonia, declaring that if the pouring out of blood in Macedonia continued another fortnight Europe would find nobody there to save. The Bulgarian ministers were urged not to stand by while their brethren were dying in Macedonia.

The gathering was the largest yet held in Sofia. Most of the shops were closed during the meeting as a mark of sympathy with its objects.

Resolutions were also adopted thanking the publicists who have defended the cause of the Macedonians, regretting the hesitation on the part of Europe to take steps to ameliorate the lot of the Christians in Turkey, demanding the appointment of a powerful Christian governor who would insure security for the country, and inviting all Bulgarians to aid in securing the triumph of the work already commenced.

The Macedonian committee has issued a black-bordered list of 70 villages which have been pillaged and destroyed in the vilayet of Monastir, to which are added instances of revolting outrages perpetrated on women. The publication of this sheet has created a sensation.

No news has been received in official circles from the interior of Macedonia. The revolutionists at Kischevo are reported to have seven quick-firing guns. In a fight which has just occurred in that district the insurgents defeated and slaughtered an entire detachment of 80 soldiers. A Turkish courier carrying 40,000 francs intended for the pay of the troops has been captured by insurgents near Surovitchovo. The rebels have blown up an iron bridge over a deep ravine on the high road between Los Engrad and Demirdgehand.

Salonica, Aug. 27.—The telegraph wires have been cut between Salonica and Vardar, 12 miles southwest of this city.

Time Made In Fraction Over Fifty-Four Days—Lost Seven Days at Yokohama.

New York, Aug. 27.—Henry Frederick, who left here July 2 on the steamer Deutschland for a tour around the world with the hope of breaking the record for the shortest time consumed in circling the globe, has returned. Mr. Frederick had been successful in his endeavor, having made the circuit in 54 days, 7 hours and 26 minutes. In speaking of his trip he said:

"My object in making the trip was to see the quickest time a man could go around the world comfortably. The train ride from Paris to Dalny, China, consumed 18 days. Two days were spent crossing the Yellow sea and two more by rail across Japan. At Yokohama I missed my steamer by 10 hours and lost seven days, as I was compelled to take a slow boat two days later, which spent 16 days on the Pacific. I landed at Victoria and crossed the continent in a little over four days. This, with the Deutschland's fast time of six days across the Atlantic, made my record of 54 days."

ORDER CREATES SOME SURPRISE

Washington, Aug. 27.—An order from Public Printer Palmer was issued to the heads of divisions in the government printing office just before the hour for closing to appear before a notary public in the office and take the oath of allegiance of the United States as subscribed to by clerks under the civil service law.

Mr. Palmer said he had issued the order at the suggestion of a government official whose name he declined to give. He said that its object was to place the per diem employes in the same attitude toward the government as that of the clerks on annual salaries who have subscribed to the order. He said that every employe of the office would be affected by the order, but to prevent loss of time and confusion the chiefs of divisions were asked to take it immediately and that gradually the entire force would have the oath administered.

The issuance of the order created considerable surprise among the employes of the office, especially among members of the bookbinders' union, who believe it has indirectly a bearing on the issues growing out of the case of W. A. Miller, the assistant foreman of the bindery, who was discharged from the office because he had been expelled from the local bookbinders' union, but who was afterwards reinstated at the direction of President Roosevelt.

FAVOR DEVELOPMENT OF ALASKA

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 27.—The revenue cutter McCulloch dropped anchor in Victoria harbor from Nome, having on board the sub-committee of the senate committee on territories. The party is all well and report a very pleasant and profitable trip. The members of the committee are evidently persuaded that Alaska should have a delegate in congress, but probably are not prepared to make him elective.

The construction of a national highway from Valdez to Eagle by the government aid seems to be regarded with favor. It is believed, too, that the building of a wagon road through the interior from the south coast will stimulate the development of the country to such an extent as to hasten materially the time when private capital will construct a railroad over practically the same route.

The committee also seem inclined to favor taking practical steps to perpetuate salmon and other fisheries by having the government establish hatcheries to be supported by taxes levied on the canneries and other fisheries according to output. The committee spent the day here, going to Seattle in the evening, where they will separate for home.

Charged With Swindling Immigrants.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Provincial Detective Murray, of Toronto, made an application to the military authorities at Plattsburg barracks to have George H. Stewart, alias Curtis, alias Gudley, turned over to him for extradition to Canada to answer a charge of swindling immigrants just arriving in that country. Murray chased Stewart several hundred miles through New England, finally arresting him in Troy and turning him over to the military authorities as a deserter from the Ninth infantry. Stewart was to have been married Tuesday to a Plattsburg woman whom he met while in the army.

Thought Matches Were Coins.

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 27.—County Judge Bradford Almy committed Lewis Bloom, aged 76, to the state insane hospital at Willard. For several months Bloom has been possessed with the hallucination that matches are coins and as he had collected hundreds of boxes of them he considered himself possessed of fabulous wealth. His peculiarity was first noticed when he began attempting to make purchases with lucifers. He several times recently attempted to burn his house.

Disposed of Grievances.

New York, Aug. 27.—The board of conciliation, which opened the consideration of several matters in dispute between the anthracite coal miners and their employes, disposed of five grievances. One was the case of Martin Delaney, a contract miner who complained that the Philadelphia and Reading company violated its agreement. The board found for the company. On the complaint of George Robinson, engineer of Leisenring & Co., that he has not received the advance awarded by the strike commission, the board directed that he receive an advance of 11½ per cent.

Yellow Fever Epidemic.

Laredo, Tex., Aug. 27.—A letter was received in this city from a responsible resident of Linares, Mexico, in which he states that yellow fever exists at that place and that the death rate is now 14 a day. This information was given to the quarantine officials, both federal and state, of this city and they will take the matter up at once for investigation. Linares is a small town on the gulf, about three hours' ride from Monterey. The letter further said that people are fleeing from there in all directions as fast as they can get out.

Girl Killed in Runaway.

Pawtucket, R. I., Aug. 27.—Jennie Montague, aged 23, a telephone operator, is dead and her companion, John F. Bannon, aged 22, is violently insane as a result of a runaway accident. For half a mile the two young people clung to their seat in the carriage. Then the girl jumped and a hundred yards farther Bannon followed her example. Miss Montague died an hour later. Bannon escaped with painful body bruises, but as soon as he learned of his companion's condition he became violently insane.

Employes Negotiating for Peace.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Peace negotiations looking to a settlement of the strike which began last Monday are being sought by the restaurant employes. Meditators will be asked to sue for peace with the restaurant keepers association. The restaurant employes have retracted statements issued from the joint board that "influence" was used to secure the arbitration award which was unsatisfactory to the union and was responsible for the present strike.

East Africa for Jewish Colony.

Basel, Switzerland, Aug. 27.—The debate in the Zionist congress on the British proposal to set apart a portion of British East Africa for colonization by the Jews has closed. The congress adopted a resolution to appoint a committee of nine who should be sent on an expedition to East Africa to investigate the situation. The Russian delegates opposed the project and left the hall as a protest.

GREAT ROMANTIC PLAY COMING

Mr. Thomas B. Alexander, the young romantic actor, who achieved such a notable success in "The Prisoner of Zenda," is said to have a wonderfully fascinating play in the new romantic drama, "Near the Throne," in which he will appear this season, under the management of Verbeck and Smiley. The action of the play is supposed to take place during Nalopeon's conquest of Egypt, one of the most romantic, as well as the most exciting epochs of either ancient or modern history. Mr. Alexander assumes the role of a dashing young French cavalry officer of Napolon's staff. The play will be beautifully mounted and the luxurious splendor of the Orient reproduced most realistically. One of the scenes in particular, that showing the palace of Murad Bay, with the historic Nile and the pyramids in the background, forming one of the most beautiful pictures ever put on the stage. At the Grand opera house, Thursday, August 27.

EAST END

Two cars of a night freight train, east bound on the C. & P., were demolished in a wreck at 3 o'clock this morning just west of the Mulberry street crossing. The train crew escaped without injury. The wrecked cars were No. 3130, a flat loaded with dressed flag stones and No. 17,203, a box car, loaded with fertilizier. The woodwork of both cars was burning this morning after the contents had been removed.

The car carrying the stone was loaded too heavily, causing the car to jump the track, taking the box car directly in the rear with it. Fortunately the couplings parted or more cars would have been piled up. Both cars left the track to the south and struck the stone retaining wall with great force.

Nearly every slab of stone on the flat car was broken, adding much to the loss. The contents of the other wrecqed car suffered but little. As a result of the track being blocked the early morning train was delayed three hours.

More Hookstown Visitors.

The threatening weather this morning did not deter several parties starting for the Hookstown fair and a great day is anticipated. From shortly after daylight until 9 o'clock the road to Hookstown was well sprinkled with vehicles. Among the East Enders who made the trip today were: Edward Searight, Miss Ida Betz, Mort Calhoun, Miss Edna Duncan, Pearl Finley, Ollie Hamilton, Mayme Randall, Samuel Searight, Joe Logan, Earl Horger, John White and wife, Charles White and wife, Helen McCain, Anna Searight, Miss Jennie Cowan, Fannie Jones and W. C. Supplee.

A New Industry.

According to a report in circulation this morning the East End is soon to have another industry and while not a great many men will be employed at first, it will add a great deal to the industrial reputation of the section. William Kinney, one of the most substantial citizens, it is reported, has already commenced preparations to become a mushroom farmer. He has secured a quantity of rotten wood and loam for mulching purposes and has had the gravel removed from his cellar, where he is to make the first attempt. In case the industry flourishes he will enlarge his farm and employ a number of assistants.

Rain May Interfere.

Manager Herbert, of the East End Grays, was a close observer of the weather indications this morning as the second of the series of games between his team and the Carroll club is scheduled for this afternon at Columbian park. In case rain prevents the contest it will be deferred until Saturday and the game that was schduled for that day will be played one day next week. Chambers was selected to do the pitching for the Grays today.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Robert Lacey, a popular East End barber, slipped and fell on the wet pavement this morning and suffered a painful injury to his knee.

Mrs. Hardman, of the Klondike, is reported very seriously ill with lung trouble.

C. J. Mench, of Allegheny, is the guest of Walter C. Supplee and family, of Pennsylvania avenue.

Mrs. Potts, an aged and highly respected lady, living in the Klondike, is very ill with paralysis.

The ladies of the Aid Society, of the Erie street Methodist church, will give an ice cream social at the home of Mrs. Sarah Dawson, of St. George street, on Friday evening.

Rev. J. N. Swan has received word that his son, Rev. B. H. Swan, who has been attending the Bible conference at Winona Lake, Ind., has left, with his family, for a visit at West Bethany, N. Y. Another son, Rev. C. W. Swan, who was also attending the conference, left for his home in Shreve.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Bellville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

Cloudburst Caused Great Damage.

Frankfort, Kan., Aug. 27.—The damage to farms in Nemaha and Marshall counties by the cloudburst is greater than at first estimated and now is placed at $500,000. Great quantities of hay, wheat and oats in stack, besides wheat and corn in bins, were swept away, while many farmers lost all their cattle and hogs. Business at Frankfort is at a standstill. Dozens of bridges are out and wire communication with most of the flooded points is still interrupted. The Vermillion river has fallen 10 feet.

Body Recovered by Fisherman.

Nantucket, Mass., Aug. 27.—The body of Albert E. Sivyer, the 17-year-old son of F. W. Sivyer, of Milwaukee, who was drowned by the capsizing of a sailboat last Saturday, was found on the north shore of Coatue by Charles Stackpole, a Nantucket fisherman. A reward of $500 offered for the body will be paid to Stackpole.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to, attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New size trial bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. At all druggists. 1

POWERS APPEALED TO

Help Must Come Quickly or There Will Be None Left to Save—Resolutions Adopted—Iron Bridge Blown Up by Rebels—Wires Cut.

Sofia, Aug. 27.—An immense mass meeting of Macedonians took place here. The proceedings were most enthusiastic. It was resolved that a memorandum should be presented to the representatives of the great powers at Sofia urging their governments to take action.

The recent visit of the Russian squadron to Turkish waters was much commented on at the meeting. It was described as "a moment of sunshine which quickly passed." The speakers impassionedly appealed for the immediate intervention of the powers in Macedonia, declaring that if the pouring out of blood in Macedonia continued another fortnight Europe would find nobody there to save. The Bulgarian ministers were urged not to stand by while their brethren were dying in Macedonia.

The gathering was the largest yet held in Sofia. Most of the shops were closed during the meeting as a mark of sympathy with its objects.

Resolutions were also adopted thanking the publicists who have defended the cause of the Macedonians, regretting the hesitation on the part of Europe to take steps to ameliorate the lot of the Christians in Turkey, demanding the appointment of a powerful Christian governor who would insure security for the country, and inviting all Bulgarians to aid in securing the triumph of the work already commenced.

The Macedonian committee has issued a black-bordered list of 70 villages which have been pillaged and destroyed in the vilayet of Monastir, to which are added instances of revolting outrages perpetrated on women. The publication of this sheet has created a sensation.

No news has been received in official circles from the interior of Macedonia. The revolutionists at Kischevo are reported to have seven quick-firing guns. In a fight which has just occurred in that district the insurgents defeated and slaughtered an entire detachment of 80 soldiers. A Turkish courier carrying 40,000 francs intended for the pay of the troops has been captured by insurgents near Surovitchovo. The rebels have blown up an iron bridge over a deep ravine on the high road between Los Engrad and Demirdgehand.

Salonica, Aug. 27.—The telegraph wires have been cut between Salonica and Vardar, 12 miles southwest of this city.

Time Made In Fraction Over Fifty-Four Days—Lost Seven Days at Yokohama.

New York, Aug. 27.—Henry Frederick, who left here July 2 on the steamer Deutschland for a tour around the world with the hope of breaking the record for the shortest time consumed in circling the globe, has returned. Mr. Frederick had been successful in his endeavor, having made the circuit in 54 days, 7 hours and 26 minutes. In speaking of his trip he said:

"My object in making the trip was to see the quickest time a man could go around the world comfortably. The train ride from Paris to Dalny, China, consumed 18 days. Two days were spent crossing the Yellow sea and two more by rail across Japan. At Yokohama I missed my steamer by 10 hours and lost seven days, as I was compelled to take a slow boat two days later, which spent 16 days on the Pacific. I landed at Victoria and crossed the continent in a little over four days. This, with the Deutschland's fast time of six days across the Atlantic, made my record of 54 days."

ORDER CREATES SOME SURPRISE

Washington, Aug. 27.—An order from Public Printer Palmer was issued to the heads of divisions in the government printing office just before the hour for closing to appear before a notary public in the office and take the oath of allegiance of the United States as subscribed to by clerks under the civil service law.

Mr. Palmer said he had issued the order at the suggestion of a government official whose name he declined to give. He said that its object was to place the per diem employes in the same attitude toward the government as that of the clerks on annual salaries who have subscribed to the order. He said that every employe of the office would be affected by the order, but to prevent loss of time and confusion the chiefs of divisions were asked to take it immediately and that gradually the entire force would have the oath administered.

The issuance of the order created considerable surprise among the employes of the office, especially among members of the bookbinders' union, who believe it has indirectly a bearing on the issues growing out of the case of W. A. Miller, the assistant foreman of the bindery, who was discharged from the office because he had been expelled from the local bookbinders' union, but who was afterwards reinstated at the direction of President Roosevelt.

FAVOR DEVELOPMENT OF ALASKA

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 27.—The revenue cutter McCulloch dropped anchor in Victoria harbor from Nome, having on board the sub-committee of the senate committee on territories. The party is all well and report a very pleasant and profitable trip. The members of the committee are evidently persuaded that Alaska should have a delegate in congress, but probably are not prepared to make him elective.

The construction of a national highway from Valdez to Eagle by the government aid seems to be regarded with favor. It is believed, too, that the building of a wagon road through the interior from the south coast will stimulate the development of the country to such an extent as to hasten materially the time when private capital will construct a railroad over practically the same route.

The committee also seem inclined to favor taking practical steps to perpetuate salmon and other fisheries by having the government establish hatcheries to be supported by taxes levied on the canneries and other fisheries according to output. The committee spent the day here, going to Seattle in the evening, where they will separate for home.

Charged With Swindling Immigrants.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Provincial Detective Murray, of Toronto, made an application to the military authorities at Plattsburg barracks to have George H. Stewart, alias Curtis, alias Gudley, turned over to him for extradition to Canada to answer a charge of swindling immigrants just arriving in that country. Murray chased Stewart several hundred miles through New England, finally arresting him in Troy and turning him over to the military authorities as a deserter from the Ninth infantry. Stewart was to have been married Tuesday to a Plattsburg woman whom he met while in the army.

Thought Matches Were Coins.

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 27.—County Judge Bradford Almy committed Lewis Bloom, aged 76, to the state insane hospital at Willard. For several months Bloom has been possessed with the hallucination that matches are coins and as he had collected hundreds of boxes of them he considered himself possessed of fabulous wealth. His peculiarity was first noticed when he began attempting to make purchases with lucifers. He several times recently attempted to burn his house.

Disposed of Grievances.

New York, Aug. 27.—The board of conciliation, which opened the consideration of several matters in dispute between the anthracite coal miners and their employes, disposed of five grievances. One was the case of Martin Delaney, a contract miner who complained that the Philadelphia and Reading company violated its agreement. The board found for the company. On the complaint of George Robinson, engineer of Leisenring & Co., that he has not received the advance awarded by the strike commission, the board directed that he receive an advance of 11½ per cent.

Yellow Fever Epidemic.

Laredo, Tex., Aug. 27.—A letter was received in this city from a responsible resident of Linares, Mexico, in which he states that yellow fever exists at that place and that the death rate is now 14 a day. This information was given to the quarantine officials, both federal and state, of this city and they will take the matter up at once for investigation. Linares is a small town on the gulf, about three hours' ride from Monterey. The letter further said that people are fleeing from there in all directions as fast as they can get out.

Girl Killed in Runaway.

Pawtucket, R. I., Aug. 27.—Jennie Montague, aged 23, a telephone operator, is dead and her companion, John F. Bannon, aged 22, is violently insane as a result of a runaway accident. For half a mile the two young people clung to their seat in the carriage. Then the girl jumped and a hundred yards further Bannon followed her example. Miss Montague died an hour later. Bannon escaped with painful body bruises, but as soon as he learned of his companion's condition he became violently insane.

Employes Negotiating for Peace.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Peace negotiations looking to a settlement of the strike which began last Monday are being sought by the restaurant employes. Meditators will be asked to sue for peace with the restaurant keepers association. The restaurant employes have retracted statements issued from the joint board that "influence" was used to secure the arbitration award which was unsatisfactory to the union and was responsible for the present strike.

East Africa for Jewish Colony.

Basel, Switzerland, Aug. 27.—The debate in the Zionist congress on the British proposal to set apart a portion of British East Africa for colonization by the Jews has closed. The congress adopted a resolution to appoint a committee of nine who should be sent on an expedition to East Africa to investigate the situation. The Russian delegates opposed the project and left the hall as a protest.

GREAT ROMANTIC PLAY COMING

Mr. Thomas B. Alexander, the young romantic actor, who achieved such a notable success in "The Prisoner of Zenda," is said to have a wonderfully fascinating play in the new romantic drama, "Near the Throne," in which he will appear this season, under the management of Verbeck and Smiley. The action of the play is supposed to take place during Nalopeon's conquest of Egypt, one of the most romantic, as well as the most exciting epochs of either ancient or modern history. Mr. Alexander assumes the role of a dashing young French cavalry officer of Napolon's staff. The play will be beautifully mounted and the luxurious splendor of the Orient reproduced most realistically. One of the scenes in particular, that showing the palace of Murad Bay, with the historic Nile and the pyramids in the background, forming one of the most beautiful pictures ever put on the stage. At the Grand opera house, Thursday, August 27.

The Democratic party of Ohio is characteristically Democratic in one respect. It makes no progressive step, but goes back into the past for a platform and issues. It reaffirms the Kansas City platform, which reaffirmed the Chicago platform. It therefore stands committed to every form of Bryanism—fifty cent dollars, condemnation of the United States supreme court, calamity howls and all the other Popocratic "issues" and notions upon which the party has met with two successive defeats. Progressive Democrats are aware that the country has no confidence in Bryanism and are shaking themselves free of his control. They are casting about for leaders whom the party can trust and issues upon which they can gain votes. Even the Iowa Democrats, who stood by Bryan in two campaigns, have now repudiated his doctrines utterly. But the Ohio Democracy, led by a demagogue whose theories are as wild and visionary as those of Bryan himself, if not more so, loses sight of the opportunity to show a progressive spirit, and reaffirms the doctrines that have weakened and disrupted its party. Tom Johnson ruled the convention and ruled it with a rod of iron. Conservative and progressive Democrats, if any still remain in Ohio, will be still further alienated and disgusted. The result of the Democratic convention at Columbus is eminently satisfactory to Republicans. How it can be satisfactory to Democrats who are not Populists, single tax men or socialists, passes comprehension.

The real issue in Ohio is whether a business man shall be governor or whether the visionary theorist who has plunged Cleveland into debt and increased other people's taxes while avoiding payment of his own shall have that honor. It won't take long to decide the matter and to forever eliminate Tom L. Johnson as a factor in state politics.

Turkey promises to restore order in Macedonia without outside assistance. The great powers of Europe know what Turkish promises are worth and will be foolish if they give this one any heed.

Pittsburg undoubtedly has good base ball players. Her clubs may learn in time that the theory that any team is good enough to send to East Liverpool is a most erroneous one.

If Sir Thomas Lipton cannot carry back the cup, he will take with him the good will and esteem of this country, and these are worth more than tarnished silver.

The Ohio Democracy is living up to its old record. It can do more blundering in a few minutes in a convention than it can repair in a year.

AT THE THEATER

Theater-goers braved the torrid weather of last night to attend the opening of the season at the Grand opera house. It was one of the best hot weather audiences in the history of the house, and is certainly indicative that the people are glad of the return of the theater season. While no great changes have taken place in the play house since the close of last season it had a very pleasing appearance.

The offering was a mammoth production of the stirring western drama, "The Queen of the Highway," and that it was pleasing to the audience was readily seen from the continuous applause. The company was a strong one, evenly balanced and thoroughly competent to dramatically portray the many thrilling situations. The scenes were calculated to be realistic of the west in the days of the gold excitement and several rather unusual stage properties were introduced. In the canon scene the hero was surrounded with genuine wolves and at other places several ponies were seen upon the stage.

Lovers of the romantic drama will have the opportunity tonight to see one of the best of the year's productions, an entirely new play to the stage, "Near the Throne." The play is a dramatization of the book by that name, and the leading role was created by Thomas Alexander, who last season had such remarkable success as Rupert in Anthony Hope's "Prisoner of Zenda." The scene of "Near the Throne" is laid at Cairo, Egypt, during the time of Napoleon's invasion, a period rich in stirring incidents for dramatic writers. The company carries its own scenery for the entire production, and the costumes are said to be gorgeous.

The Philadelphia newspapers were the first great dailies of this country to call public attention to Thorold's novel, "Near the Throne," and to pronounce it new and unique. A Philadelphia firm of theatrical managers were the first to direct attention to "Near the Throne" as a play, the book being dramatized by the author and made a romantic spectacle of the orient. Don't fail to see this big scenic production at the Grand tonight.

The Democratic party of Ohio is characteristically Democratic in one respect. It makes no progressive step, but goes back into the past for a platform and issues. It reaffirms the Kansas City platform, which reaffirmed the Chicago platform. It therefore stands committed to every form of Bryanism—fifty cent dollars, condemnation of the United States supreme court, calamity howls and all the other Popocratic "issues" and notions upon which the party has met with two successive defeats. Progressive Democrats are aware that the country has no confidence in Bryanism and are shaking themselves free of his control. They are casting about for leaders whom the party can trust and issues upon which they can gain votes. Even the Iowa Democrats, who stood by Bryan in two campaigns, have now repudiated his doctrines utterly. But the Ohio Democracy, led by a demagogue whose theories are as wild and visionary as those of Bryan himself, if not more so, loses sight of the opportunity to show a progressive spirit, and reaffirms the doctrines that have weakened and disrupted its party. Tom Johnson ruled the convention and ruled it with a rod of iron. Conservative and progressive Democrats, if any still remain in Ohio, will be still further alienated and disgusted. The result of the Democratic convention at Columbus is eminently satisfactory to Republicans. How it can be satisfactory to Democrats who are not Populists, single tax men or socialists, passes comprehension.

The real issue in Ohio is whether a business man shall be governor or whether the visionary theorist who has plunged Cleveland into debt and increased other people's taxes while avoiding payment of his own shall have that honor. It won't take long to decide the matter and to forever eliminate Tom L. Johnson as a factor in state politics.

Turkey promises to restore order in Macedonia without outside assistance. The great powers of Europe know what Turkish promises are worth and will be foolish if they give this one any heed.

Pittsburg undoubtedly has good base ball players. Her clubs may learn in time that the theory that any team is good enough to send to East Liverpool is a most erroneous one.

If Sir Thomas Lipton cannot carry back the cup, he will take with him the good will and esteem of this country, and these are worth more than tarnished silver.

The Ohio Democracy is living up to its old record. It can do more blundering in a few minutes in a convention than it can repair in a year.

John H. Clarke, a gold Democrat, running for senator on a free silver platform, comes near the climax of Democratic inconsistency.

AT THE THEATER

Theater-goers braved the torrid weather of last night to attend the opening of the season at the Grand opera house. It was one of the best hot weather audiences in the history of the house, and is certainly indicative that the people are glad of the return of the theater season. While no great changes have taken place in the play house since the close of last season it had a very pleasing appearance.

The offering was a mammoth production of the stirring western drama "The Queen of the Highway," and that it was pleasing to the audience was readily seen from the continuous applause. The company was a strong one, evenly balanced and thoroughly competent to dramatically portray the many thrilling situations. The scenes were calculated to be realistic of the west in the days of the gold excitement and several rather unusual stage properties were introduced. In the canon scene the hero was surrounded with genuine wolves and at other places several ponies were seen upon the stage,

Lovers of the romantic drama will have the opportunity tonight to see one of the best of the year's productions, an entirely new play to the stage, "Near the Throne." The play is a dramatization of the book by that name, and the leading role was created by Thomas Alexander, who last season had such remarkable success as Rupert in Anthony Hope's "Prisoner of Zenda." The scene of "Near the Throne" is laid at Cairo, Egypt, during the time of Napoleon's invasion, a period rich in stirring incidents for dramatic writers. The company carries its own scenery for the entire production, and the costumes are said to be gorgeous.

The Philadelphia newspapers were the first great dailies of this country to call public attention to Thorold's novel, "Near the Throne," and to pronounce it new and unique. A Philadelphia firm of theatrical managers were the first to direct attention to "Near the Throne" as a play, the book being dramatized by the author and made a romantic spectacle of the orient. Don't fail to see this big scenic production at the Grand tonight.

PARENTS ARE WORRIED BY THEIR SON'S ABSENCE

The failure of Howard Russell, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell, of Front street, to return to his home, which he left on Saturday afternoon, August 15, is causing considerable excitement and agitation among his relatives and friends, and is particularly distressing to his father and mother. For the past week or 10 days the matter has been kept very quiet and only a few are aware of young Russell's disappearance. Mrs. Russell is nearly frantic over the affair and is almost on the verge of collapse.

It seems that on the date mentioned, Russell drew a small pay from the railroad pay car for odd jobs around the railroad yards. It is also stated that Russell sold his bicycle in order to secure as much money as possible with which to take a trip. He was not missed at his home until evening when he failed to come home for supper, and it is now thought that he left the city on one of the afternoon trains.

A few days ago Mr. Russell, the father, received word from Coshocton, which led him to believe that the boy had gone to that city. He made a trip to Coshocton in search of the lad, but was unable to find any trace of him. Last Saturday morning Mr. Russell learned from a railroader that his son had been seen in Pittsburg. Mr. Russell went to Pittsburg on the first train, but was unable to locate his son.

No one seems to know what brought about the action of the lad, as he has never been known to run away from home. None of his friends seem able to attribute any cause to his actions. He had money enough when he left the city to last him for a couple of weeks, if used economically, and it is hoped that he will return within a few days.

HAY FEVER'S CONQUEROR

By the use of Hyomei, you can save an expensive trip to the mountains and escape weeks of suffering. This remarkable remedy for the cure of hay fever, kills the germs of the disease, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane, if used two or three weeks before the time of the usual appearance of hay fever, will prevent the attack.

The complete Hyomei treatment consists of a neat pocket inhaler, through which Hyomei is breathed, a bottle of Hyomei, and a medicine dropper. The air taken into the lungs in this way is filled with healing balsams and forms a perfect safeguard against attacks of hay fever or rose cold.

Those who have had hay fever, know how little help can be gained by stomach dosing in this disease. Hyomei is the only scientific yet common sense treatment for the trouble.

It is easy enough for any one to say that a remedy will give satisfaction, but Will Reed's offer to refund the money if Hyomei does not do all that is claimed for it, certainly inspires faith in the treatment.

Hyomei really gives you in your own home, a change of climate, and hay fever sufferers know from past experience that this has been the only thing that afforded them relief. By breathing Hyomei a few times daily, you can save the expense and trouble of a mountain trip and avoid all danger of hay fever.

Unclaimed Letters.

List of unclaimed letters remaining in the Wellsville postoffice for the week ending August 24: J. E. Albertson, J. E. Baker, Charles Boyd, Alessi Bellanea, Frank Evans, Geseppe Caramossa, Castelveten Ginseppe, Antonio Giovanio, Mrs. Ellie Hamilton, Miss Mattie Hilton, Charles Harkins, Miss Julia Lemon, Miss Anabel Lee, Miss Helen Malone, Joe McBane, James Morehead (2), Michael Domenico, Georgia Cunningham, Francesco Reguga, David Rice, Mrs. George Seeley, Miss Mary Smith, Charles B. Statements Unsubstantiated.

An article was published in one of Wellsville's dailies a few days ago, stating that Cudahay, the millionaire beef packer of Kansas City, was negotiating for the purchase of a tract of land on the north side of Yellow creek, between the county bridge and the street car bridge, upon which an abbatoir and stock yards were to be built. The article further stated that negotiations were under way for the purchase of eight or ten acres of ground outside of the corporation for stock yards. The story is thought to have been a manufactured one for "booming" purposes, as none of the statements in the story can be substantiated.

Water Must be Used Sparingly.

On account of the broken piston rod at the water works pumping station and on account of the lack of the usual water supply of water, a notice has been sent out to all water consumers by Supt. Ewing, requesting the consumers to be as economical as possible in the use of water until the repairs to the disabled pump can be made. It is expected that these repairs will be made Friday or Saturday. The water supply is very limited and the careful use of water is urged to save the city from running out of a supply entirely before the difficulty is overcome.

DEATH DUST

...Roaches...

A big, black roach, is a big, mean nuisance; and the sooner they are driven out or killed, the better. They not only eat food and spoil infinitely more than they eat, but they destroy many fine things, such as book covers, etc. Numerous are the ways and means employed to rid premises and places of them but without permanent result.

The very best thing to kill roaches is Death Dust.

It kills them in their tracks before they reach their haunts. Sprinkle it freely about the places they are seen. They breathe it and DIE. Just what every good housekeeper wants them to do.

OIL LANDS LEASED

By a Big Company Proposing a Thorough Test of the Territory.

J. A. McDonald and Thomas Campbell have secured leases on a number of farms on Oak Run for the purpose of developing for oil and gas. The gentlemen are working in the interest of a large concern with headquarters at Marietta and expect operations to be commenced very soon on one of the four farms that have been already secured.

Leases were closed yesterday on the farms of O. A. Lowary, Charles Geer, Burgess Geer and Mrs. George Miller. The leases adjoin territory that has been developed to the extent of 21 wells, and only one of them has proved a duster and the farms that have been secured are considered gilt edge by the Vilginia Oil company, who will work the leases. The well on the Stewart farm, which adjoins and showed up favorably, would have been in today but for the breaking of the tools.

Two Strangers Taken In.

Only two arrests were made yesterday by the officers. The men arrested gave their names as Samuel Watt, of Allegheny, and John Gilchrist, of Jeannette. Both men were intoxicated and when requested by the police to take their trains for home, refused to do so. They were taken before Mayor Mercer and fined $6.60 each. Being unable to produce, they remained in the lockup over night. Friends came to the assistance of Gilchrist this morning and Watt stated his intention of boarding out his $6.60, and is still the guest of the town.

Rain Did Not Check the Rush.

The threatening weather or the showers during the morning had but little effect on the attendance at the Hookstown fair on the last day of the meeting. As early as 6 o'clock rigs of different descriptions were noticed going through the town and the travel was steady throughout the day. The horses and vehicles of all kinds were much in demand and the liverymen did a rushing business.

An Important Purchase.

The well known oil operator, James Murray, of New Cumberland, has purchased of the rolling mill land company six lots on Louisiana avenue for $4,000. He will erect a house and stable on one of the lots and move to Chester. He proposes also to sink a gas well and have a gas supply of his own. Mr. Murray is a lover of fine horses and will build a $4,000 stable in which to keep them.

Heptasophs' Big Picnic.

The Heptasophs' picnic was one of the biggest of the season. Members of the order from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, took in the sights of the park and of East Liverpool and had a royal good time. The chief amusements were dancing and athletic sports. Crowds patronized the theater.

Horse Died Of Colic.

A valuable horse belonging to Nick Genalley succumbed to an attack of colic last night. Mr. Genalley was awakened in the early morning by the noise of the suffering animal, but before the assistance of a veterinary surgeon could be had, the horse died.

Postoffice Not to Move.

Contrary to report, the location of the Chester postoffice, for the present at least, will not be changed. Postmaster Johnston, when asked about the matter this morning, stated that privilege to change the location had been granted by the department August 11, but no location had yet been contracted for. In all likelihood as soon as a building is erected more centrally that will answer the purpose, the postmaster will avail himself of the oportunity to secure quarters.

PARENTS ARE WORRIED BY THEIR SON'S ABSENCE

The failure of Howard Russell, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell, of Front street, to return to his home, which he left on Saturday afternoon, August 15, is causing considerable excitement and agitation among his relatives and friends, and is particularly distressing to his father and mother. For the past week or 10 days the matter has been kept very quiet and only a few are aware of young Russell's disappearance. Mrs. Russell is nearly frantic over the affair and is almost on the verge of collapse.

It seems that on the date mentioned, Russell drew a small pay from the railroad pay car for odd jobs around the railroad yards. It is also stated that Russell sold his bicycle in order to secure as much money as possible with which to take a trip. He was not missed at his home until evening when he failed to come home for supper, and it is now thought that he left the city on one of the afternoon trains.

A few days ago Mr. Russell, the father, received word from Coshocton, which led him to believe that the boy had gone to that city. He made a trip to Coshocton in search of the lad, but was unable to find any trace of him. Last Saturday morning Mr. Russell learned from a railroader that his son had been seen in Pittsburg. Mr. Russell went to Pittsburg on the first train, but was unable to locate his son.

No one seems to know what brought about the action of the lad, as he has never been known to run away from home. None of his friends seem able to attribute any cause to his actions. He had money enough when he left the city to last him for a couple of weeks, if used economically, and it is hoped that he will return within a few days.

By the use of Hyomei, you can save an expensive trip to the mountains and escape weeks of suffering. This remarkable remedy for the care of hay fever, kills the germs of the disease, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane, if used two or three weeks before the time of the usual appearance of hay fever, will prevent the attack.

The complete Hyomei treatment consists of a neat pocket inhaler, through which Hyomei is breathed, a bottle of Hyomei, and a medicine dropper. The air taken into the lungs in this way is filled with healing balsams and forms a perfect safeguard against attacks of hay fever or rose cold.

Those who have had hay fever, know how little help can be gained by stomach dosing in this disease. Hyomei is the only scientific yet common sense treatment for the trouble.

It is easy enough for any one to say that a remedy will give satisfaction, but Will Reed's offer to refund the money if Hyomei does not do all that is claimed for it, certainly inspires faith in the treatment.

Hyomei really gives you in your own home, a change of climate, and hay fever sufferers know from past experience that this has been the only thing that afforded them relief. By breathing Hyomei a few times daily, you can save the expense and trouble of a mountain trip and avoid all danger of hay fever.

Statements Unsubstantiated.

An article was published in one of Wellsville's dailies a few days ago, stating that Cudahay, the millionaire beef packer of Kansas City, was negotiating for the purchase of a tract of land on the north side of Yellow creek, between the county bridge and the street car bridge, upon which an abbatoir and stock yards were to be built. The article further stated that negotiations were under way for the purchase of eight or ten acres of ground outside of the corporation for stock yards. The story is thought to have been a manufactured one for "booming" purposes, as none of the statements in the story can be substantiated.

REALM OF SPORTS

ONLY PRACTICE FOR THE LOCALS

H. H. A. C. Failed to Make the Game Even Interesting.

BUT THREE PUNK HITS

And No Runs Were Scored By the Visitors—They Put Up a Fair Game, But Were Out of Their Company. Lawrence Was the Show.

Considering the fact that they needed a little practice for the genuine battles they are to fight during the next 10 days, the locals do not feel that the time they spent yesterday afternoon in the West End park was totally fruitless. They are going to buck three of the best teams outside the major leagues within two weeks, and a little limbering up was really good for them. They shut out the Pittsburg Herron Hill Athletic club, 10 to 0.

The fans evidently were governed by a premonition, few of them being fooled to the park, and it was a lucky thing, not many people particularly admiring practice ball. However, there was considerable sport in the exhibition, the locals playing one of the prettiest games of the season. The visitors did not play bad ball—they were simply out of their class. In fact, they have got two men, the third baseman and short stop, who will see better days in the base ball world. They are certainly comers.

It was with difficulty that either trio of outfielders managed to escape a broken leg or two. The circus had rested on the grounds for two days and the holes and uprisals scattered over the field made it almost impossible for a man to navigate. The condition came dangerously near sending Gibson to the happy hunting grounds. He was running like the wind after a hard one in left when his foot became entangled in a tuft of mud and grass and the next thing Gibson knew he was rolling some.

The locals made their runs in a steady stream, escaping but two innings. Their greatest onslaught was in the third, however, when three runs were scored on two hits, one of them a three-bagger by the old captain, Reark. The visitors did manage to reach third once, but they were eaten alive in every other inning. They got only three hits, and one of them was anything but clean. Gibson had his hands all over it, but the run was so hard the runner was credited. In errors they were not so bad, having but four scored against them. As stated above they were out of their class, and being unable to hit had no chance. The score:

A Great Agency

We Have Secured Control for This City of the Fulton Compounds, the Only Things Known to Medicine That Cure Kidney Diseases in Both the Primary and Secondary Stages.

The kidneys are not sensitive and the disease is sometimes fastened and already chronic with the very first symptoms. If it has hung on eight to ten months it is surely chronic. In either case why take chances? Why not take at first the only thing known that cures kidney disease in the chronic as well as the primary stages. The Pell case cited below, by permission, is especially valuable, for its incurability was doubly confirmed by consulting physicians and after recovery under the Fulton Compounds the recovery was also doubly attested.

On May 1st, 1902, the son of R. C. Pell, the manager of the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company of Second and Folsom streets, San Francisco was declared by the family physician to have chronic kidney disease and incurable. Another physician was called in and confirmed the diagnosis. The whole body was swollen with dropsy, and a fatal termination looked for. The Fulton Compounds were then turned to as the only hope. On September 15 the dropsy had disappeared and the boy was well, and after double examinations the physician declared the recovery complete and gave Mr. Pell a written report which he now has.

Judge G. A. Cabaniss, the Police Judge of San Francisco, also attests the recovery under his own observation of a friend of his who also recovered when the case (chronic Bright's Disease of the kidneys) was well known to be incurable according to all medical authorities.

Up to the advent of the Fulton Compounds medicine knew nothing that would cure kidney troubles after they became chronic. About nine-tenths of all cases are now curable, ever after they have developed into the dreaded chronic forms of Bright's Disease and diabetes. No statements are published or invited except from chronic cases that, like the above, are incurable by all other known medicines. If your kidney trouble is recent Fulton's Renal Compound will cure it quickly. If it is of over eight to ten months standing it is the only thing known that will save your life. John J. Fulton Co., 409 Washington street, San Francisco, sole compounders. Fulton's Renal Compound for Bright's and Kidney Diseases, $1; for Diabetes, $1.50. Free analyses made for patients. Heart Beats Per Minute. Weak Heart

Complicated With Kidney Trouble.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me Permanently.

"Your medicine is worth its weight in gold, and I cannot recommend it too highly for the good it has done me. I was troubled with heart disease complicated with a weak back and kidney complaint for a number of years. Although five of our best doctors waited on me I grew worse instead of better, until at last nothing seemed to do me any good. I had a rapid pulse varying from 100 to 150 beats per minute, a choking and burning sensation in the wind-pipe, and pain in the heart. At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure I weighed but 130 pounds. After using the remedies six months I weighed 185 pounds and felt well, and strong and hearty. My nerve, heart and kidney troubles are all gone now and as this cure was performed nearly seven years ago I know that it is permanent."—Edward Knapp, Wilkersville, Ohio.

"For many years I have been a great sufferer from heart disease. I was subject to faint and sinking spells, with a clutching, oppressive or full feeling at the heart, that is difficult to describe. I was unable to attend to my household duties and was thoroughly wretched and miserable. I doctored with some of our best physicians but got no relief until I tried Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine. I experienced benefit from the first few doses and finally was completely cured."—Mrs. J. M. Holloway, Geneva, Ind.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 11th, 1902.
Mr. Frank Nau, New York City:

"Dear Sir—I have been troubled with Stomach trouble for a number of years, and have had the pleasure of giving your remedy a trial, and am convinced that it will prove beneficial in every case where one is suffering from troubles of the stomach. I highly recommend it, having received great benefit myself from the use of your remedy. Respectfully."

MEETING CALLED FOR ASSOCIATION PLAYERS

New Organization Is to Be Formed from Remnants of Last Year's Clubs.

Next Monday evening, August 31, at 7:30 it is proposed to hold a general meeting of all old members of the East Liverpool Rovers foot ball club, and as many more outside foot ball players (that is, players not belonging to the Rovers) as are desirous of becoming members of a new foot ball organization to be formed out of the remnants of the old Rovers and Buckeye clubs. It is hoped that, as there are quite a number of young foot ball aspirants in the Crockery City, a first-class team can be got together that will uphold the name of East Liverpool in the world of sport.

President Hancock and Manager Wooliscraft, of last year's Rovers club, will deliver a few interesting remarks concerning last year's foot ball season. The Rovers finished up with a few dollars on hand last season.

NINE FAST GAMES

Scheduled for the Next Ten Days And the Locals Expect to Win the Majority.

Contrary to the announcement in another evening paper the crack team of Waynesburg, Pa., will be the attraction at the West End park during the remainder of the week. In this series the locals will be up against one of the strongest teams that has appeared in the city this season. Though the Waynesburg aggregation has gained but little mention so far, it demonstrated on last Tuesday its superiority by defeating Homestead, conceded to be one of the fastest amateur teams in the country. The local team is probably better qualified for a strenuous series than for many months, every weak point having been strengthened and each player playing the game to the satisfaction of his well-trained captain, "Chick" Reark.

There will no doubt be enormous crowds at each game, local fans having shown in the past their enthusiasm over such contests. That they will get the worth of their money no one doubts, the contesting teams being well matched.

Notwithstanding that the series alluded to above will be witnessed by every fan in the city, it is predicted that the games scheduled for every day of next week will be the biggest drawing card ever presented by any local management. There are none in this vicinity ignorant of the merits of the Niles steel workers and the team of Youngstown has gained a reputation equally as good. Niles will oppose the locals Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and Youngstown on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. As a result of hard and continuous practice the locals expect to carry the scalps of both teams. They showed a few weeks ago that these crack teams are in their class and that by steady playing they can win a victory every time.

Barbers vs. Street Car Men.

A game of ball between East Liverpool barbers and Rock Springs street railway men will be played at Rock Springs park Monday afternoon.

Gun Club Shoot.

The East Liverpool Gun club will shoot Friday, August 28, instead of today.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

The St. Louis American league team wants Catcher Shannon, of Wheeling.

George Gardner says Fitz is a bluffer and that he will meet him any time that Bob gets ready.

Art Simms, the Akron boxer, wants to arrange matches with Eddie Hanlon and Young Corbett.

J. J. Corbett says Eddie Hanlon, the Pacific coast boy, will be the next feather weight champion.

Jeffries has become tired of fighting and may retire from the ring after his match with Jack Munroe.

BUCKEYE DEMOCRATS

TOM L. JOHNSON FOR GOVERNOR

Columbus, O., Aug. 27.—The Johnson program was carried out completely in the Democratic state convention. Every nomination on the state ticket, including Mayor Tom L. Johnson for governor, was made by acclamation. Even after the chair announced that the name of Mayor Johnson was the only one before the convention for governor there were some dissenting Zimmerman votes on the motion to make the nomination unanimous, but the Zimmerman supporters subsided after the selections for governor and senator were made.

The following ticket was nominated:

The Ticket.

Governor—Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland.

Lieutenant Governor — Frank B. Niles, of Toledo.

Attorney General—Frank S. Monnett, of Columbus.

State Treasurer—V. J. Dahl, of Washington Court House.

Auditor—Charles A. Kloeb, of Wapakoneta.

Member of Board of Public Works—W. B. Jones, of Ironton.

Supreme Judge—E. J. Dempsey, of Cincinnati.

John H. Clarke, of Cleveland, was endorsed for United States senator.

The opposition by various obstruction movements kept the convention in continuous session for about seven hours. While minority reports were presented from the committees the only fight that worried the Johnson managers was on the senatorship. The only ballots forced on the dominant element were in that contest. The minority report on rules and order of business, which was intended to omit the endorsement of a senatorial candidate, was defeated by a vote of 211 ayes to 448 nays, which was considered a test vote between Johnson and Zimmerman, after all the contested seats had been decided in favor of the former.

Johnson Forces Divided.

On naming the candidate for senator the Johnson supporters were divided among themselves. Mayor Johnson and former Congressman John J. Lentz have been very close personally and politically for years, but an almost intensely bitter feeling existed between them, at least on the part of Lentz, who openly accused Johnson with favoring for senator a man who had voted against Bryan. Zimmerman men had intended voting for Clarke, the Johnson candidate for senator, as they said he represented their conservative views, but when Lentz opened a fight on Johnson on the senatorial candidate the opposition resumed its obstructive tactics and voted for Lentz for senator, thus driving the Johnson faction to the second ballot.

John H. Clarke, who will canvass the state with Mayor Johnson and other Democratic committees, has been a prominent attorney at Youngstown for many years, but now he is located in Cleveland, which city has four prominent candidates, Republican as well as the Democratic, for senator and governor.

Clarke Active in Convention.

Next to the commanding presence of Johnson was the part of Clarke in the convention. He made two masterly speeches, one presenting the name of Johnson and the other in accepting the senatorial nomination. Mr. Clarke intimated that he would ask Senator Hanna for joint debates during the campaign.

With the single exception of senatorial endorsement the Johnson men controlled the convention. The convention was as distinctly with Bryan on national as with Johnson on state issues. The speeches of both Temporary Chairman Saltzgaber and Permanent Chairman Goeke insisted that if the Democratic party is to change its policy to suit the times, the change "must be made by the friends of the party and not by its enemies."

The result of the convention leaves the state committee 18 to 3 in the hands of the Bryan-Johnson element for next year, when delegates to the Democratic national convention are to be selected.

Want Freight Rates Reduced.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 27.—Alabama iron manufacturers have addressed a strong letter to the traffic managers of the railroads throughout this section for the immediate reduction of 50 cents a ton in freight rates to enable them to meet competition with the iron manufacturers in Pennsylvania, Ohio and elsewhere.

Mother and Daughter Injured.

Cleveland, Aug. 27.—Mrs. J. J. Lohrer, wife of a Cincinnati physician, and their daughter, Dorothy, were run into by a brewery wagon on Euclid avenue and knocked down. Mrs. Lohrer is not seriously hurt, but Dorothy is said to be so badly hurt that she may die. Mrs. Lohrer is visiting her brother in this city.

RICH COAL LANDS PURCHASED

Block of Over Two Thousand Acres Sold to Eastern People for a Quarter of a Million.

Wheeling, Aug. 27.—A block of 2,220 acres of good coal land lying about 10 miles above this city changed hands. About $250,000 was paid for the land. The most of those interested in the gigantic scheme are from the east.

James Bradock, of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., and John M. Stauffer, of Scottdale, are the two promoters and those who will likely be at the head of the company when it is chartered.

The land lies in Beech Bottom which is traversed by the lines of the Panhandle Traction company, and is considered one of the richest pieces of coal land in the Ohio valley. It has an outcrop facing along the river two miles in length and has the river rights for two landings.

American Lawyer Acquitted.

Havana, Aug. 27.—The criminal court acquitted Joseph De Wyckoff, an American lawyer, of the charge of misappropriating $10,000 sent to him by Michael J. Dady, of Brooklyn, for the purpose of securing an option on the aqueduct of Cienfuegos. The purchase was not consummated and De Wyckoff did not return the money. The contention of the defense was that the power of attorney given by Dady to De Wyckoff was not special, but general; that Dady owed De Wyckoff more than $10,000, and that De Wyckoff was justified in applying the money to that account.

King Peter's Iron Hand.

Belgrade, Aug. 27.—King Peter is determined to suppress the military malcontents with an iron hand. On Tuesday three army colonels, two captains and a newspaper editor were condemned to death for participation in a plot which was discovered and rendered abortive. Despite this, however, the king is obviously in the hands of the recent regicides, who are causing a veritable reign of terror.

Miles a Guest of Veterans.

The Weirs, N. H., Aug. 27.—General Nelson A. Miles was the guest at the New Hampshire Veterans' association camp and spoke at the afternoon camp fire. A salute of 17 guns was fired in his honor and he was accorded a most enthusiastic greeting. General Miles confined his remarks chiefly to reminiscences of the Civil war and paid tribute to the part taken in that struggle by the troops from New England.

BUT THREE PUNK HITS

Considering the fact that they needed a little practice for the genuine battles they are to fight during the next 10 days, the locals do not feel that the time they spent yesterday afternoon in the West End park was totally fruitless. They are going to buck three of the best teams outside the major leagues within two weeks, and a little limbering up was really good for them. They shut out the Pittsburg Herron Hill Athletic club, 10 to 0.

The fans evidently were governed by a premonition, few of them being fooled to the park, and it was a lucky thing, not many people particularly admiring practice ball. However, there was considerable sport in the exhibition, the locals playing one of the prettiest games of the season. The visitors did not play bad ball—they were simply out of their class. In fact, they have got two men, the third baseman and short stop, who will see better days in the base ball world. They are certainly comers.

It was with difficulty that either trio of outfielders managed to escape a broken leg or two. The circus had rested on the grounds for two days and the holes and uprisals scattered over the field made it almost impossible for a man to navigate. The condition came dangerously near sending Gibson to the happy hunting grounds. He was running like the wind after a hard one in left when his foot became entangled in a tuft of mud and grass and the next thing Gibson knew he was rolling some.

The locals made their runs in a steady stream, escaping but two innings. Their greatest onslaught was in the third, however, when three runs were scored on two hits, one of them a three-bagger by the old captain, Reark. The visitors did manage to reach third once, but they were eaten alive in every other inning. They got only three hits, and one of them was anything but clean. Gibson had his hands all over it, but the run was so hard the runner was credited. In errors they were not so bad, having but four scored against them. As stated above they were out of their class, and being unable to hit had no chance. The score:

MEETING CALLED FOR ASSOCIATION PLAYERS

New Organization Is to Be Formed from Remnants of Last Year's Clubs.

Next Monday evening, August 31, at 7:30 it is proposed to hold a general meeting of all old members of the East Liverpool Rovers foot ball club, and as many more outside foot ball players (that is, players not belonging to the Rovers) as are desirous of becoming members of a new foot ball organization to be formed out of the remnants of the old Rovers and Buckeye clubs. It is hoped that, as there are quite a number of young foot ball aspirants in the Crockery City, a first-class team can be got together that will uphold the name of East Liverpool in the world of sport.

President Hancock and Manager Wooliscraft, of last year's Rovers club, will deliver a few interesting remarks concerning last year's foot ball season. The Rovers finished up with a few dollars on hand last season.

NINE FAST GAMES

Scheduled for the Next Ten Days And the Locals Expect to Win the Majority.

Contrary to the announcement in another evening paper the crack team of Waynesburg, Pa., will be the attraction at the West End park during the remainder of the week. In this series the locals will be up against one of the strongest teams that has appeared in the city this season. Though the Waynesburg aggregation has gained but little mention so far, it demonstrated on last Tuesday its superiority by defeating Homestead, conceded to be one of the fastest amateur teams in the country. The local team is probably better qualified for a strenuous series than for many months, every weak point having been strengthened and each player playing the game to the satisfaction of his well-trained captain, "Chick" Reark.

There will no doubt be enormous crowds at each game, local fans having shown in the past their enthusiasm over such contests. That they will get the worth of their money no one doubts, the contesting teams being well matched.

Notwithstanding that the series alluded to above will be witnessed by every fan in the city, it is predicted that the games scheduled for every day of next week will be the biggest drawing card ever presented by any local management. There are none in this vicinity ignorant of the merits of the Niles steel workers and the team of Youngstown has gained a reputation equally as good. Niles will oppose the locals Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and Youngstown on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. As a result of hard and continuous practice the locals expect to carry the scalps of both teams. They showed a few weeks ago that these crack teams are in their class and that by steady playing they can win a victory every time.

Heart Beats Per Minute. Weak Heart

Complicated With Kidney Trouble.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me Permanently.

"Your medicine is worth its weight in gold, and I cannot recommend it too highly for the good it has done me. I was troubled with heart disease complicated with a weak back and kidney complaint for a number of years. Although five of our best doctors waited on me I grew worse instead of better, until at last nothing seemed to do me any good. I had a rapid pulse varying from 100 to 150 beats per minute, a choking and burning sensation in the wind-pipe, and pain in the heart. At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure I weighed but 130 pounds. After using the remedies six months I weighed 182 pounds and felt well, and strong and hearty. My nerve, heart and kidney troubles are all gone now and as this cure was performed nearly seven years ago I know that it is permanent."—Edward Knapp, Wilkersville, Ohio.

"For many years I have been a great sufferer from heart disease. I was subject to faint and sinking spells, with a clutching, oppressive or full feeling at the heart, that is difficult to describe. I was unable to attend to my household duties and was thoroughly wretched and miserable. I doctored with some of our best physicians but got no relief until I tried Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine. I experienced benefit from the first few doses and finally was completely cured."—Mrs. J. M. Holloway, Geneva, Ind.

Mr. Frank Nau, New York City:

I highly recommend it, having received great benefit myself from the use of your remedy. Respectfully,"

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BUCKEYE DEMOCRATS

TOM L. JOHNSON FOR GOVERNOR

Columbus, O., Aug. 27.—The Johnson program was carried out completely in the Democratic state convention. Every nomination on the state ticket, including Mayor Tom L. Johnson for governor, was made by acclamation. Even after the chair announced that the name of Mayor Johnson was the only one before the convention for governor there were some dissenting Zimmerman votes on the motion to make the nomination unanimous, but the Zimmerman supporters subsided after the selections for governor and senator were made.

The following ticket was nominated:

The Ticket.

Governor—Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland.

Attorney General—Frank S. Monett, of Columbus.

State Treasurer—V. J. Dahl, of Washington Court House.

Auditor—Charles A. Kloeb, of Wapakoneta.

Member of Board of Public Works—W. B. Jones, of Ironton.

Supreme Judge—E. J. Dempsey, of Cincinnati.

John H. Clarke, of Cleveland, was endorsed for United States senator.

The opposition by various obstruction movements kept the convention in continuous session for about seven hours. While minority reports were presented from the committees the only fight that worried the Johnson managers was on the senatorship. The only ballots forced on the dominant element were in that contest. The minority report on rules and order of business, which was intended to omit the endorsement of a senatorial candidate, was defeated by a vote of 211 ayes to 448 nays, which was considered a test vote between Johnson and Zimmerman, after all the contested seats had been decided in favor of the former.

Johnson Forces Divided.

On naming the candidate for senator the Johnson supporters were divided among themselves. Mayor Johnson and former Congressman John J. Lentz have been very close personally and politically for years, but an almost intensely bitter feeling existed between them, at least on the part of Lentz, who openly accused Johnson with favoring for senator a man who had voted against Bryan. Zimmerman men had intended voting for Clarke, the Johnson candidate for senator, as they said he represented their conservative views, but when Lentz opened a fight on Johnson on the senatorial candidate the opposition resumed its obstructive tactics and voted for Lentz for senator, thus driving the Johnson faction to the second ballot.

John H. Clarke, who will canvass the state with Mayor Johnson and other Democratic committees, has been a prominent attorney at Youngstown for many years, but now he is located in Cleveland, which city has four prominent candidates, Republican as well as the Democratic, for senator and governor.

Clarke Active in Convention.

Next to the commanding presence of Johnson was the part of Clarke in the convention. He made two masterly speeches, one presenting the name of Johnson and the other in accepting the senatorial nomination. Mr. Clarke intimated that he would ask Senator Hanna for joint debates during the campaign.

With the single exception of senatorial endorsement the Johnson men controlled the convention. The convention was as distinctly with Bryan on national as with Johnson on state issues. The speeches of both Temporary Chairman Saltzgaber and Permanent Chairman Goeke insisted that if the Democratic party is to change its policy to suit the times, the change "must be made by the friends of the party and not by its enemies."

The result of the convention leaves the state committee 18 to 3 in the hands of the Bryan-Johnson element for next year, when delegates to the Democratic national convention are to be selected.

Want Freight Rates Reduced.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 27.—Alabama iron manufacturers have addressed a strong letter to the traffic managers of the railroads throughout this section for the immediate reduction of 50 cents a ton in freight rates to enable them to meet competition with the iron manufacturers in Pennsylvania, Ohio and elsewhere.

Mother and Daughter Injured.

Cleveland, Aug. 27.—Mrs. J. J. Lohrer, wife of a Cincinnati physician, and their daughter, Dorothy, were run into by a brewery wagon on Euclid avenue and knocked down. Mrs. Lohrer is not seriously hurt, but Dorothy is said to be so badly hurt that she may die. Mrs. Lohrer is visiting her brother in this city.

RICH COAL LANDS PURCHASED

Block of Over Two Thousand Acres Sold to Eastern People for a Quarter of a Million.

Wheeling, Aug. 27.—A block of 2,220 acres of good coal land lying about 10 miles above this city changed hands. About $250,000 was paid for the land. The most of those interested in the gigantic scheme are from the east.

James Bradock, of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., and John M. Stauffer, of Scottdale, are the two promoters and those who will likely be at the head of the company when it is chartered.

The land lies in Beech Bottom which is traversed by the lines of the Panhandle Traction company, and is considered one of the richest pieces of coal land in the Ohio valley. It has an outcrop facing along the river two miles in length and has the river rights for two landings.

American Lawyer Acquitted.

Havana, Aug. 27.—The criminal court acquitted Joseph De Wyckoff, an American lawyer, of the charge of misappropriating $10,000 sent to him by Michael J. Dady, of Brooklyn, for the purpose of securing an option on the aqueduct of Cienfuegos. The purchase was not consummated and De Wyckoff did not return the money. The contention of the defense was that the power of attorney given by Dady to De Wyckoff was not special, but general; that Dady owed De Wyckoff more than $10,000, and that De Wyckoff was justified in applying the money to that account.

King Peter's Iron Hand.

Belgrade, Aug. 27.—King Peter is determined to suppress the military malcontents with an iron hand. On Tuesday three army colonels, two captains and a newspaper editor were condemned to death for participation in a plot which was discovered and rendered abortive. Despite this, however, the king is obviously in the hands of the recent regicides, who are causing a veritable reign of terror.

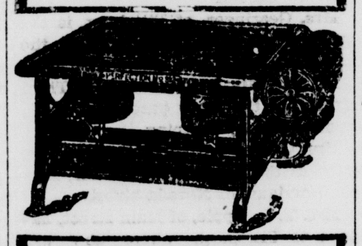

Miles a Guest of Veterans.

The Weirs, N. H., Aug. 27.—General Nelson A. Miles was the guest at the New Hampshire Veterans' association camp and spoke at the afternoon camp fire. A salute of 17 guns was fired in his honor and he was accorded a most enthusiastic greeting. General Miles confined his remarks chiefly to reminiscences of the Civil war and paid tribute to the part taken in that struggle by the troops from New England.

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

CHAPTER I.—Grenfall Lorry, a wealthor occupant who refuses or neglects to do quaintance with a charming foreign girl on the train from Denver to Washington. The pair are left behind when the fler stops for repairs in West Virginia. II.—Lorry wires ahead to hold the train. He and the unknown girl ride twenty miles at a tearing pace in a mountain coach. Lorry knows it is a dangerous ride. There is no love-making, but a near approach to it as the rolling stage tumbles the passengers about. III.—Lorry dines with the foreign party, consisting of Miss Guggenslocker, Uncle Caspar and Aunt Yvonne. They are natives of Graustark, a country Lorry had never heard of before. IV.—Lorry shows the foreigners the sights of Washington. They leave for New York to sail on the Kaiser Wilhelm. Miss Guggenslocker naively calls Lorry her "Ideal American" and invites him to come and see her at Edelweiss. V.—Wildly infatuated, Lorry hurries to New York. The name Guggenslocker is not on the steamer list. He sees the steamer off. Miss G. waves him a kiss from the deck. VI.—Lorry joins his old friend, Harry Anguish, an American artist in Paris. Graustark and its capital Edelweiss, are located by a guide book. The Americans get no trace of the Guggenslockers there. VII.—Lorry sees his charmer driving in a carriage with a beautiful companion of her own sex. He gets a glance of recognition, but the carriage rolls on, leaving the mystery unsolved. Later he receives a note at his hotel signed Sophia Guggenslocker, inviting him to visit her next day. VIII.—In the evening Lorry and Anguish ramble about the grounds of the castle where dwells the court of the princess of Graustark. They overhear a plot to abduct the princess and resolve to capture the plotters red handed. IX.—Following the conspirators, Lorry finds himself in a room he heard them designate as that of the princess. X.—Lorry tells the princess of the plot. Mutual recognition; she is Miss Guggenslocker. Dannox, the guard, is in the abduction plot. He fells Lorry with a terrible blow. Anguish to the rescue. XI.—Lorry quartered in the castle. The princess visits him, but forbids all talk of love. XII.—Graustark is bankrupt and owes the neighboring princedom of Axphain $30,000,000. The creditor demands cash or the cession of the richest districts of Graustark. XIII.—The Prince of Axphain offers to extend the loan if the princess will marry his son Lorenz. Prince Gabriel, of Dawsbergen, also bids for the princess' hand with offer of a loan. Yetive tells Lorry that she belongs to her people and will marry Lorenz. XIV.—Lorry discovered kissing the princess while she is seated on the throne. He quits the castle by royal command. XV.—Betrothal of the princess to Lorenz. The Americans recognize Gabriel as chief conspirator in the abduction plot. XVI.—Lorenz toasts the princess lightly in a cafe. Lorry dashes the glass from his hand. Challenge to a duel. Lorenz assassinated. Lorry charged with the crime. XVII.—Princess Yetive commits Lorry to prison. All Graustark rejoices at the death of Lorenz. XVIII and XIX.—The princess helps Lorry to escape.

With Lorry in the center, the trio walked off rapidly in the darkness, the fugitive with the sense of fear that belongs only to a blind man. A little light far ahead told the position of the gate, and for this they bent their steps. Reaching the gate, the captain pounded vigorously, and a sleepy monk soon peered from the little window through which shone the light.

"On important business with the abbot, from her royal highness the Princess Yetive," said Quinnox in response to a sharp query, spoken in the Graustark tongue. A little gate beside the big one opened, and the monk, lantern in hand, bade them enter.

"Await me here, captain," commanded the slim, straight soldier, with face turned from the light. A moment later the gate closed, and Lorry was behind the walls of St. Valentine's, a prisoner again. The monk preceded them across the dark court toward the great black mass, his lantern creating ghastly shadows against the broken mist. His followers dropped some little distance behind, the tall one's arm stealing about the other's waist, his head bending to a level with hers.

"Is it to be goodby, dearest?" he asked. "Goodby forever?"

"I cannot say that. It would be like wishing you dead. Yet there is no hope. No, no! We will not say goodby—forever," she said despairingly.

"Won't you bid me hope?"

"Impossible! You will stay here until Quinnox comes to take you away. Then you must not stop until you are in your own land. We may meet again"—

"Yes, by my soul, we shall meet again! I'll do as you bid and all that, but I'll come back when I can stay away no longer. Go to your castle and look forward to the day that will find me at your feet again. It is bound to come."

They passed inside the massive doors and halted. "You must remain here until I have seen the prior," she said, laughing nervously and glancing down at the boots which showed beneath the long coat. Then she hastily followed the monk, disappearing down the corridor. In ten minutes—ten hours to Lorry—she returned with her guide.

"He will take you to your room," she said breathlessly, displaying unmistakable signs of embarrassment. "Goodby, and God be with you always. Remember, I love you."

The monk's back was turned, so the new recluse snatched the slight figure to his heart.

"Some day?" he whispered.

She would not speak, but he held her until she nodded her head.

CHAPTER XX.

THE APPROACHING ORDEAL.

"THE American has escaped!" was the cry that spread through Edelweiss the next morning.

It brought undisguised relief to the faces of thousands. There was not one who upbraided Baron Dangloss for his astounding negligence. Never before had a criminal escaped from the tower. The only excuse, uttered in woebegone tone, was that the prison had not been constructed or manned for such clever scoundrels as Yankees—good name for audacity.

The full story of the daring break for liberty flashed from lip to lip during the day, and it was known all over the water swept city before noon. Baron Dangloss himself had gone to the prisoner's cell early in the morning, mystified by the continued absence of the guard. The door was locked, but from within came groans and cries. Alarmed at once, the captain procured duplicate keys and entered the cell. There he found the helpless, blood covered Ogbot, bound hand and foot and almost dead from loss of blood. The clothes of the American were on the floor, while his own were missing, gone with the prisoner.

Ogbot as soon as he was able related his experience of the night before. It was while making his rounds at midnight that he heard moans from the cell. Animated by a feeling of pity, he opened the slab door and asked if he were ill. The wretched American was lying on the bed, apparently suffering. He said something which the guard could not understand, but which he took to be a plea for assistance. Not suspecting a trick, the kindly guard unlocked the second door and stepped to the bedside only to have the sick man rise suddenly and deal him a treacherous blow over the head with the heavy stool he had secreted behind him. Ogbot knew nothing of what followed, so effective was the blow. When he regained consciousness, he was lying on the bed just as the captain had found him. The poor fellow, overwhelmed by the enormity of his mistake, begged Dangloss to shoot him at once. But Dangloss had him conveyed to the hospital ward and tenderly cared for.

Three guards in one of the offices saw a man whom they supposed to be Ogbot pass from the prison shortly after 12, and the mortified chief admitted that some one had gone through his private apartment. As the prisoner had taken Ogbot's keys, he experienced little difficulty in getting outside the gates. But, vowed Dangloss stormily, he should be recaptured if it required the efforts of all the policemen in Edelweiss. The chagrin of the grim old captain, who had never lost a prisoner, was pitiful to behold.

The forenoon was half over before Harry Anguish heard of his friend's escape. To say that he was paralyzed would be putting it much too mildly. There is no language that can adequately describe his sensations. Forgetting his bodyguard, he tore down the street toward the prison, wild with anxiety and doubt. He met Baron Dangloss, tired and worn, near the gate, but the old officer could tell him nothing except what he had learned from

"Oh, I beg pardon!"

Ogbot. Of one thing there could be no doubt—Lorry was gone. Not knowing where to turn or what to do, Anguish raced off to the castle, his bodyguard having located him in the meantime. He was more in need of their protection than ever.

At the castle gates he encountered a party of raving Axphainians, crazed with anger over the flight of the man whose life they had thirsted for so ravenously. Had he been unprotected Anguish would have fared badly at their hands, for they were outspoken in their assertions that he had aided Lorry in the escape. One fiery little fellow cast a glove in the American's face and expected a challenge. Anguish snapped his fingers and sarcastically invited the insulter to meet him next winter in a battle with snowballs, upon which the aggressor blasphemed in three languages and 300 gestures. Anguish and his men passed inside the gates, which had been barred to the others, and struck out rapidly for the castle doors.

The Princess Yetive was sleeping soundly, peacefully, with a smile on her lips, when her prime minister sent an excited attendant to inform her of the prisoner's escape. She sat up in bed, and, with her hands clasped about her knees, sleepily announced that she would receive him after her coffee was served. Then she summoned her maids.

Her uncle and aunt, the Countess Dagmar (whose merry brown eyes were so full of pretended dismay that the princess could scarcely restrain a smile), and Gaspon, the minister of finance, were awaiting her appearance. She heard the count's story of the escape, marveled at the prisoner's audacity and firmly announced that everything possible should be done to apprehend him. With a perplexed frown on her brow and a dubious twist to her lips, she said:

"I suppose I must offer a reward?"

"Certainly!" exclaimed her uncle.

"About 50 gavvos, uncle?"

"Fifty!" cried the two men, aghast.

"Isn't that enough?"

"For the murderer of a prince?" demanded Gaspon. "It would be absurd, your highness. He is a most important person."

"Quite so. He is a most important person. I think I'll offer 5,000 gavvos."

"More like it. He is worth that, at least," agreed Uncle Caspar.

"Beyond a doubt," sanctioned Gaspon.

"I am glad you do not consider me extravagant," she said demurely. "You may have the placards printed at once," she went on, addressing the treasurer. "Say that a reward of 5,000 gavvos will be paid to the person who delivers Grenfall Lorry to me."

"Would it not be better to say 'delivers Grenfall Lorry to the tower?'" submitted Gaspon.

"You may say 'to the undersigned' and sign my name," she said reflectively.

"Very well, your highness. They shall be struck off this morning."

"In large type, Gaspon. You must catch him if you can," she added. "He is a very dangerous man, and royalty needs protection." With this wise bit of caution she dismissed the subject and began to talk of the storm.

As the two young plotters were hastening up the stairs later on an attendant approached and informed the princess that Mr. Anguish requested an audience.

"Conduct him to my boudoir," she said, her eyes sparkling with triumph. In the seclusion of the boudoir she and the countess laughed like children over the reward that had been so solemnly ordered.

"Five thousand gavvos!" cried Dagmar, leaning back in her chair to emphasize the delight she felt. "What a joke!"

Tap, tap, came a knock on the door, and in the same instant it flew open, for Mr. Anguish was in a hurry. As he plunged into their presence a pair of heels found the floor spasmodically.

"Oh, I beg pardon!" he gasped as if about to fly. "May I come in?"

"Not unless you go outside. You are already in, it seems," said the princess, advancing to meet him. The countess was very still and sedate. "I am so glad you have come."

"Heard about Lorry? The fool is out and gone!" he cried, unable to restrain himself. Without a word she dragged him to the divan, and, between them, he soon had the whole story poured into his ears, the princess on one side, the countess on the other.

"You are a wonder!" he exclaimed when all the facts were known to him. He executed a little dance of approval, entirely out of place in the boudoir of a princess, but very much in touch with prevailing sentiment. "But what's to become of me?" he asked after cooling down. "I have no excuse for remaining in Graustark, and I don't like to leave him here either."

"Oh, I have made plans for you," said she. "You are to be held as hostage."

"What!"

"I thought of your predicament last night, and here is the solution: This very day I shall issue an order forbidding you the right to leave Edelweiss. You will not be in prison, but your every movement is to be watched. A strong guard will have you under surveillance, and any attempt to escape or to communicate with your friend will result in your confinement and his detection. In this way you may stay here until the time comes to fly. The Axphain people must be satisfied, you know. Your freedom will not be disturbed. You may come and go as you like, but you are ostensibly a prisoner. By detaining you forcibly we gain a point, for you are needed here. There is no other way in which you can explain a continued presence in Graustark. Is not my plan a good one?"

"It is beyond comparison," he said, rising and bowing low. "So shrewd is this plan that you make me a hostage forever. I shall not escape its memory if I live to be a thousand."

At parting she said seriously:

"A great deal depends on your discretion, Mr. Anguish. My guards will watch your every action, for they are not in the secret—excepting Quinnox—and any attempt on your part to communicate with Grenfall Lorry will be fatal."

"Trust me, your highness. I have had much instruction in wisdom today."

"I hope we shall see you often," she said.

"Daily—as a hostage," he replied glancing toward the countess.

"That means until the other man is captured," said the young lady saucily.

As he left the castle he gazed at the distant building in the sky and wondered how it had ever been approached in a carriage. She had not told him that Allode drove for miles over winding roads that led to the monastery up a gentler slope from the rear.

The next afternoon Edelweiss thrilled with a new excitement. Prince Bolaroz of Axphain, mad with grief and rage, came thundering into the city with his court at his heels. His wrath had been increased until it resembled a tornado when he read the reward placard in the uplands. Not until then did he know that the murderer had escaped and that vengeance might be denied him.

After viewing the body of Lorenz as it lay in the sarcophagus of the royal palace, where it had been borne at the command of the Princess Yetive, he demanded audience with his son's betrothed, and it was with fear that she prepared for the trying ordeal, an interview with the grief crazed old man. The castle was in a furore. Its halls soon thronged with diplomatists and there was an ugly sense of trouble in the air, suggestive of the explosion which follows the igniting of a powder magazine.

The slim, pale faced princess met the burly old ruler in the grand council chamber. He and his nobles had been kept waiting but a short time. Within a very few minutes after they had been conducted to the chamber by Count Halfont and other dignitaries the fair ruler came into the room and advanced between the bowing lines of courtiers to the spot where sat the man who held Graustark in his grasp.

Bolaroz arose as she drew near, his gaunt face black and unfriendly. She extended her hand graciously, and he, a prince for all his wrath, touched his trembling lips to its white, smooth back.

"I come in grief and sadness to your court, most glorious Yetive. My burden of sorrow is greater than I can bear," he said hoarsely.

"Would that I could give you consolation," she said, sitting in the chair reserved for her use at council gatherings. "Alas, it grieves me that I can offer nothing more than words." Truly she pitied him in his bereavement.

Bolaroz said that he had heard of the murderer's escape and asked what effort was being made to recapture him. Yetive related all that had happened, expressing humiliation over the fact that her officers had been unable to accomplish anything, adding that she did not believe the fugitive could get away from Graustark safely without her knowledge. The old prince was working himself back into the violent rage that had been temporarily subdued, and at last broke out in a vicious denunciation of the carelessness that had allowed the man to escape. He first insisted that Dangloss and his incompetent assistants be thrown into prison for life or executed for criminal negligence; then he demanded the life of Harry Anguish as an aider and abettor in the flight of the murderer. In both cases the princess firmly refused to take the action demanded. Then she acquainted him with her intention to detain Anguish as hostage and to have his every action watched in the hope that a clew to the whereabouts of the fugitive might be discovered, providing, of course, that the friend knew anything at all about the matter. The Duke of Mizrox and others loudly joined in the cry for Anguish's arrest, but she bravely held out against them and in the end curtly informed them that the American, whom she believed to be innocent of all complicity in the escape, should be subjected to no indignity other than detention in the city under guard, as she had ordered.

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

CHAPTER I.—Grenfall Lorry, a wealthor occupant who refuses or neglects to do quaintance with a charming foreign girl on the train from Denver to Washington. The pair are left behind when the her stops for repairs in West Virginia. II.—Lorry wires ahead to hold the train. He and the unknown girl ride twenty miles at a tearing pace in a mountain coach. Lorry knows it is a dangerous ride. There is no love-making, but a near approach to it as the rolling stage tumbles the passengers about. III.—Lorry dines with the foreign party, consisting of Miss Guggenslocker, Uncle Caspar and Aunt Yvonne. They are natives of Graustark, a country Lorry had never heard of before. IV.—Lorry shows the foreigners the sights of Washington. They leave for New York to sail on the Kaiser Wilhelm. Miss Guggenslocker naively calls Lorry her "Ideal American" and invites him to come and see her at Edelweiss. V.—Wildly infatuated, Lorry hurries to New York. The name Guggenslocker is not on the steamer list. He sees the steamer off. Miss G. waves him a kiss from the deck. VI.—Lorry joins his old friend, Harry Anguish, an American artist in Paris. Graustark and its capital Edelweiss, are located by a guide book. The Americans get no trace of the Guggenslockers there. VII.—Lorry sees his charmer driving in a carriage with a beautiful companion of her own sex. He gets a glance of recognition, but the carriage rolls on, leaving the mystery unsolved. Later he receives a note at his hotel signed Sophia Guggenslocker, inviting him to visit her next day. VIII.—In the evening Lorry and Anguish ramble about the grounds of the castle where dwells the court of the princess of Graustark. They overhear a plot to abduct the princess and resolve to capture the plotters red handed. IX.—Following the conspirators, Lorry finds himself in a room he heard them designate as that of the princess. X.—Lorry tells the princess of the plot. Mutual recognition; she is Miss Guggenslocker. Dannox, the guard, is in the abduction plot. He fells Lorry with a terrible blow. Anguish to the rescue. XI.—Lorry quartered in the castle. The princess visits him, but forbids all talk of love. XII.—Graustark is bankrupt and owes the neighboring princedom of Axphain $30,000,000. The creditor demands cash or the cession of the richest districts of Graustark. XIII.—The Prince of Axphain offers to extend the loan if the princess will marry his son Lorenz. Prince Gabriel, of Dawsbergen, also bids for the princess' hand with offer of a loan. Yetive tells Lorry that she belongs to her people and will marry Lorenz. XIV.—Lorry discovered kissing the princess while she is seated on the throne. He quits the castle by royal command. XV.—Betrothal of the princess to Lorenz. The Americans recognize Gabriel as chief conspirator in the abduction plot. XVI.—Lorenz toasts the princess lightly in a cafe. Lorry dashes the glass from his hand. Challenge to a duel. Lorenz assassinated. Lorry charged with the crime. XVII.—Princess Yetive commits Lorry to prison. All Graustark rejoices at the death of Lorenz. XVIII and XIX.—The princess helps Lorry to escape.

With Lorry in the center, the trio walked off rapidly in the darkness, the fugitive with the sense of fear that belongs only to a blind man. A little light far ahead told the position of the gate, and for this they bent their steps. Reaching the gate, the captain pounded vigorously, and a sleepy monk soon peered from the little window through which shone the light.

"On important business with the abbot, from her royal highness the Princess Yetive," said Quinnox in response to a sharp query, spoken in the Graustark tongue. A little gate beside the big one opened, and the monk, lantern in hand, bade them enter.

"Await me here, captain," commanded the slim, straight soldier, with face turned from the light. A moment later the gate closed, and Lorry was behind the walls of St. Valentine's, a prisoner again. The monk preceded them across the dark court toward the great black mass, his lantern creating ghastly shadows against the broken mist. His followers dropped some little distance behind, the tall one's arm stealing about the other's waist, his head bending to a level with hers.

"Is it to be goodby, dearest?" he asked. "Goodby forever?"

"I cannot say that. It would be like wishing you dead. Yet there is no hope. No, no! We will not say goodby—forever," she said despairingly.

"Impossible! You will stay here until Quinnox comes to take you away. Then you must not stop until you are in your own land. We may meet again"—

"Yes, by my soul, we shall meet again! I'll do as you bid and all that, but I'll come back when I can stay away no longer. Go to your castle and look forward to the day that will find me at your feet again. It is bound to come."

They passed inside the massive doors and halted. "You must remain here until I have seen the prior," she said, laughing nervously and glancing down at the boots which showed beneath the long coat. Then she hastily followed the monk, disappearing down the corridor. In ten minutes—ten hours to Lorry—she returned with her guide.

"He will take you to your room," she said breathlessly, displaying unmistakable signs of embarrassment. "Goodby, and God be with you always. Remember, I love you."

The monk's back was turned, so the new recluse snatched the slight figure to his heart.

"Some day?" he whispered.

She would not speak, but he held her until she nodded her head.

CHAPTER XX.

THE APPROACHING ORDEAL.

"THE American has escaped!" was the cry that spread through Edelweiss the next morning.

It brought undisguised relief to the faces of thousands. There was not one who upbraided Baron Dangloss for his astounding negligence. Never before had a criminal escaped from the tower. The only excuse, uttered in woebegone tone, was that the prison had not been constructed or manned for such clever scoundrels as Yankees—good name for audacity.

The full story of the daring break for liberty flashed from lip to lip during the day, and it was known all over the water swept city before noon. Baron Dangloss himself had gone to the prisoner's cell early in the morning, mystified by the continued absence of the guard. The door was locked, but from within came groans and cries. Alarmed at once, the captain procured duplicate keys and entered the cell. There he found the helpless, blood covered Ogbot, bound hand and foot and almost dead from loss of blood. The clothes of the American were on the floor, while his own were missing, gone with the prisoner.

Ogbot as soon as he was able related his experience of the night before. It was while making his rounds at midnight that he heard moans from the cell. Animated by a feeling of pity, he opened the slab door and asked if he were ill. The wretched American was lying on the bed, apparently suffering. He said something which the guard could not understand, but which he took to be a plea for assistance. Not suspecting a trick, the kindly guard unlocked the second door and stepped to the bedside only to have the sick man rise suddenly and deal him a treacherous blow over the head with the heavy stool he had secreted behind him. Ogbot knew nothing of what followed, so effective was the blow. When he regained consciousness, he was lying on the bed just as the captain had found him. The poor fellow, overwhelmed by the enormity of his mistake, begged Dangloss to shoot him at once. But Dangloss had him conveyed to the hospital ward and tenderly cared for.

Three guards in one of the offices saw a man whom they supposed to be Ogbot pass from the prison shortly after 12, and the mortified chief admitted that some one had gone through his private apartment. As the prisoner had taken Ogbot's keys, he experienced little difficulty in getting outside the gates. But, vowed Dangloss stormily, he should be recaptured if it required the efforts of all the policemen in Edelweiss. The chagrin of the grim old captain, who had never lost a prisoner, was pitiful to behold.

The forenoon was half over before Harry Anguish heard of his friend's escape. To say that he was paralyzed would be putting it much too mildly. There is no language that can adequately describe his sensations. Forgetting his bodyguard, he tore down the street toward the prison, wild with anxiety and doubt. He met Baron Dangloss, tired and worn, near the gate, but the old officer could tell him nothing except what he had learned from

Ogbot. Of one thing there could be no doubt—Lorry was gone. Not knowing where to turn or what to do, Anguish raced off to the castle, his bodyguard having located him in the meantime. He was more in need of their protection than ever.

At the castle gates he encountered a party of raving Axphainians, crazed with anger over the flight of the man whose life they had thirsted for so ravenously. Had he been unprotected Anguish would have fared badly at their hands, for they were outspoken in their assertions that he had aided Lorry in the escape. One fiery little fellow cast a glove in the American's face and expected a challenge. Anguish snapped his fingers and sarcastically invited the insulter to meet him next winter in a battle with snowballs, upon which the aggressor blasphemed in three languages and 300 gestures. Anguish and his men passed inside the gates, which had been barred to the others, and struck out rapidly for the castle doors.

The Princess Yetive was sleeping soundly, peacefully, with a smile on her lips, when her prime minister sent an excited attendant to inform her of the prisoner's escape. She sat up in bed, and, with her hands clasped about her knees, sleepily announced that she would receive him after her coffee was served. Then she summoned her maids.

Her uncle and aunt, the Countess Dagmar (whose merry brown eyes were so full of pretended dismay that the princess could scarcely restrain a smile), and Gaspon, the minister of finance, were awaiting her appearance. She heard the count's story of the escape, marveled at the prisoner's audacity and firmly announced that everything possible should be done to apprehend him. With a perplexed frown on her brow and a dubious twist to her lips, she said:

"I suppose I must offer a reward?"

"Certainly!" exclaimed her uncle.

"Fifty!" cried the two men, aghast.

"For the murderer of a prince?" demanded Gaspon. "It would be absurd, your highness. He is a most important person."

"Quite so. He is a most important person. I think I'll offer 5,000 gavvos."

"More like it. He is worth that, at least," agreed Uncle Caspar.

"Beyond a doubt," sanctioned Gaspon.

"I am glad you do not consider me extravagant," she said demurely. "You may have the placards printed at once," she went on, addressing the treasurer. "Say that a reward of 5,000 gavvos will be paid to the person who delivers Grenfall Lorry to me."

"Would it not be better to say 'delivers Grenfall Lorry to the tower?'" submitted Gaspon.

"You may say 'to the undersigned' and sign my name," she said reflectively.

"Very well, your highness. They shall be struck off this morning."

"In large type, Gaspon. You must catch him if you can," she added. "He is a very dangerous man, and royalty needs protection." With this wise bit of caution she dismissed the subject and began to talk of the storm.

As the two young plotters were hastening up the stairs later on an attendant approached and informed the princess that Mr. Anguish requested an audience.

"Conduct him to my boudoir," she said, her eyes sparkling with triumph. In the seclusion of the boudoir she and the countess laughed like children over the reward that had been so solemnly ordered.

"Five thousand gavvos!" cried Dagmar, leaning back in her chair to emphasize the delight she felt. "What a joke!"

Tap, tap, came a knock on the door, and in the same instant it flew open, for Mr. Anguish was in a hurry. As he plunged into their presence a pair of heels found the floor spasmodically.

"Oh, I beg pardon!" he gasped as if about to fly. "May I come in?"

"Not unless you go outside. You are already in, it seems," said the princess, advancing to meet him. The countess was very still and sedate. "I am so glad you have come."

"Heard about Lorry? The fool is out and gone!" he cried, unable to restrain himself. Without a word she dragged him to the divan, and, between them, he soon had the whole story poured into his ears, the princess on one side, the countess on the other.

"You are a wonder!" he exclaimed when all the facts were known to him. He executed a little dance of approval, entirely out of place in the boudoir of a princess, but very much in touch with prevailing sentiment. "But what's to become of me?" he asked after cooling down. "I have no excuse for remaining in Graustark, and I don't like to leave him here either."

"Oh, I have made plans for you," said she. "You are to be held as hostage."

"What!"

"I thought of your predicament last night, and here is the solution: This very day I shall issue an order forbidding you the right to leave Edelweiss. You will not be in prison, but your every movement is to be watched. A strong guard will have you under surveillance, and any attempt to escape or to communicate with your friend will result in your confinement and his detection. In this way you may stay here until the time comes to fly. The Axphain people must be satisfied, you know. Your freedom will not be disturbed. You may come and go as you like, but you are ostensibly a prisoner. By detaining you forcibly we gain a point, for you are needed here. There is no other way in which you can explain a continued presence in Graustark. Is not my plan a good one?"

"It is beyond comparison," he said, rising and bowing low. "So shrewd is this plan that you make me a hostage forever. I shall not escape its memory if I live to be a thousand."

At parting she said seriously:

"A great deal depends on your discretion, Mr. Anguish. My guards will watch your every action, for they are not in the secret—excepting Quinnox—and any attempt on your part to communicate with Grenfall Lorry will be fatal."

"Trust me, your highness. I have had much instruction in wisdom today."

"I hope we shall see you often," she said.

"Daily—as a hostage," he replied glancing toward the countess.

"That means until the other man is captured," said the young lady saucily.

As he left the castle he gazed at the distant building in the sky and wondered how it had ever been approached in a carriage. She had not told him that Allode drove for miles over winding roads that led to the monastery up a gentler slope from the rear.

The next afternoon Edelweiss thrilled with a new excitement. Prince Bolaroz of Axphain, mad with grief and rage, came thundering into the city with his court at his heels. His wrath had been increased until it resembled a tornado when he read the reward placard in the uplands. Not until then did he know that the murderer had escaped and that vengeance might be denied him.

After viewing the body of Lorenz as it lay in the sarcophagus of the royal palace, where it had been borne at the command of the Princess Yetive, he demanded audience with his son's betrothed, and it was with fear that she prepared for the trying ordeal, an interview with the grief crazed old man. The castle was in a furore. Its halls soon thronged with diplomatists and there was an ugly sense of trouble in the air, suggestive of the explosion which follows the igniting of a powder magazine.

The slim, pale faced princess met the burly old ruler in the grand council chamber. He and his nobles had been kept waiting but a short time. Within a very few minutes after they had been conducted to the chamber by Count Halfont and other dignitaries the fair ruler came into the room and advanced between the bowing lines of courtiers to the spot where sat the man who held Graustark in his grasp.

Bolaroz arose as she drew near, his gaunt face black and unfriendly. She extended her hand graciously, and he, a prince for all his wrath, touched his trembling lips to its white, smooth back.

"I come in grief and sadness to your court, most glorious Yetive. My burden of sorrow is greater than I can bear," he said hoarsely.

"Would that I could give you consolation," she said, sitting in the chair reserved for her use at council gatherings. "Alas, it grieves me that I can offer nothing more than words." Truly she pitied him in his bereavement.

Bolaroz said that he had heard of the murderer's escape and asked what effort was being made to recapture him. Yetive related all that had happened, expressing humiliation over the fact that her officers had been unable to accomplish anything, adding that she did not believe the fugitive could get away from Graustark safely without her knowledge. The old prince was working himself back into the violent rage that had been temporarily subdued, and at last broke out in a vicious denunciation of the carelessness that had allowed the man to escape. He first insisted that Dangloss and his incompetent assistants be thrown into prison for life or executed for criminal negligence; then he demanded the life of Harry Anguish as an aider and abettor in the flight of the murderer. In both cases the princess firmly refused to take the action demanded. Then she acquainted him with her intention to detain Anguish as hostage and to have his every action watched in the hope that a clew to the whereabouts of the fugitive might be discovered, providing, of course, that the friend knew anything at all about the matter. The Duke of Mizrox and others loudly joined in the cry for Anguish's arrest, but she bravely held out against them and in the end curtly informed them that the American, whom she believed to be innocent of all complicity in the escape, should be subjected to no indignity other than detention in the city under guard, as she had ordered.

"This new line will be the first electric property to have a separate right of way through a city for the handling of freight. In Youngstown they will have a freight track separate from the street line, which will connect with the belt line and with all of the railroads in that city. Backers of the Youngstown & Southern own 2,300 acres of coal land near East Liverpool, which produces North Lima coal, a fuel of about the same grade as the Palmyra, which was recently exhausted. In addition the same parties own about 3,000 acres of land, producing West Point coal of about equal grade with the production from the Massillon district. This fuel is to be marketed in Youngstown and the surplus sent out over the various railroads with which the Youngstown & Southern will connect.

"The liabilities of the company will amount to $1,800,000 of stock and $1,500,000 of 5 per cent bonds. These bonds have been underwritten very largely in Boston. Construction work has been under way for four months and will hardly be completed for 18 months or two years. The matter of a connection with other properties is one for future consideration."

WOMEN LITIGANTS BEFORE THE MAYOR

A Large Number Call Upon Him to Adjudicate Various Sorts of Complaints.

Mayor Weaver is making a record for handling petty cases, those in which women are mostly the participants, occurring generally in backyards and the kind that former chief executives have been only too glad to dismiss. The present incumbent has no kick coming, however, very few of the cases failing to fatten his purse to the extent of $3 or more.

Besides a number that he has on the docket awaiting the law the mayor gave out the following this afternoon: Mrs. Ella Powell versus Mrs. Mary Lynch, Mrs. Gertrude Short versus Mrs. John Frye and Mrs. Anna Stilwell versus her husband. Mrs. Powell alleges that Mrs. Lynch was very disorderly and that she used profane and indecent language. Mrs. Frye pleaded guilty to "cussin'" Mrs. Short and was fined $1 and costs. Mrs. Stilwell charges her husband with all kinds of cruelty. She says he gets drunk and fails to provide for her and that he must be turned away from their household. Mrs. Stilwell has employed the mayor as her attorney and will file a suit for divorce if she can get together enough charges to insure a victory in the courts.

A woman of Second street, who failed to leave her card, complained this morning that neighbor women were tormenting her nigh unto death. She said they swore so terribly that she could not eat breakfast this morning. One of them, she said, is bent on fastening a clothes line to her fence, too.

The mayor takes all such cases without protest and feels that he is being well rewarded.

Mayor Weaver is making a record for handling petty cases, those in which women are mostly the participants, occurring generally in backyards and the kind that former chief executives have been only too glad to dismiss. The present incumbent has no kick coming, however, very few of the cases failing to fatten his purse to the extent of $3 or more.

Besides a number that he has on the docket awaiting the law the mayor gave out the following this afternoon: Mrs. Ella Powell versus Mrs. Mary Lynch, Mrs. Gertrude Short versus Mrs. John Frye and Mrs. Anna Stilwell versus her husband. Mrs. Powell alleges that Mrs. Lynch was very disorderly and that she used profane and indecent language. Mrs. Frye pleaded guilty to "cussin'" Mrs. Short and was fined $1 and costs. Mrs. Stilwell charges her husband with all kinds of cruelty. She says he gets drunk and fails to provide for her and that he must be turned away from their household. Mrs. Stilwell has employed the mayor as her attorney and will file a suit for divorce if she can get together enough charges to insure a victory in the courts.

A woman of Second street, who failed to leave her card, complained this morning that neighbor women were tormenting her nigh unto death. She said they swore so terribly that she could not eat breakfast this morning. One of them, she said, is bent on fastening a clothes line to her fence, too.

The mayor takes all such cases without protest and feels that he is being well rewarded.

Sandy Hook, August 27.—(Special.)—The Reliance will win with ease today, according to all indications, and the great prize cup will be in the hands of American sportsmen for at least two more years, making 53 consecutive years that England yachtsmen have bowed before triumphant Americans.

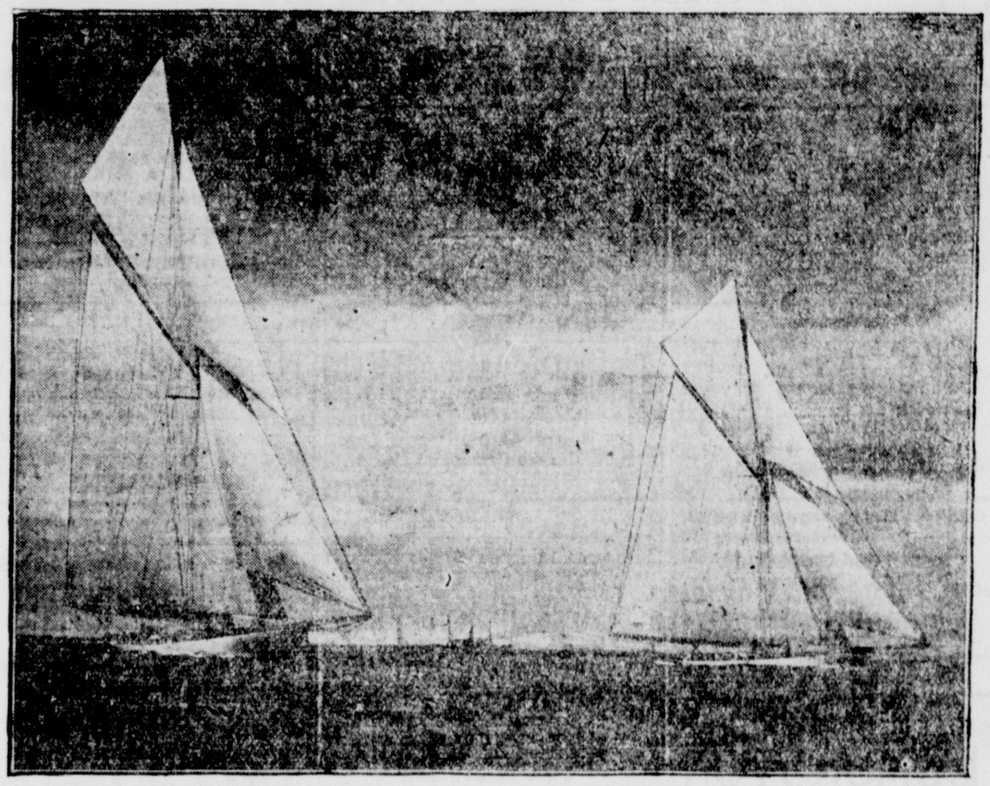

The race today was witnessed by thousands of most enthusiastic people, scores of boats being filled to their uttermost all along the line of the race. The boats, both in perfect condition, commenced getting ready for the heat early, and no racers ever looked prettier than they when the starting line was nearing. It was a windward and leeward battle.

The Reliance crossed the line first at 11:02, the Shamrock following a minute later. The wind was blowing 5½ miles per hour, the sea was calm and the weather excellent.

The advantage gained by the defender in her start was never overcome at any stage by the Shamrock, but for an hour or so there was not much difference in speed noted. At 12:30 the Reliance was a mile in the lead. Until 1 o'clock neither boat seemed to gain a point when the Reliance started rapidly to increase the span and at 2 o'clock was leading by 6 minutes.

The latest bulletin states that the Shamrock has gained slightly and the Reliance is only 4 minutes ahead.

As has been stated in the News Review, the Youngstown & Southern Railway company is preparing to haul coal from the North Lima coal fields as soon as the line which is now under process of construction has reached that point. The company has located the openings for the mines and will begin selling coal in Youngstown as soon as possible. The Cleveland Leader says regarding it:

"The Youngstown & Southern company is negotiating with builders of electric locomotives for three engines of the heaviest type. It is expected that these will be able to haul 20 cars each loaded with 50 tons of coal. The company is also negotiating with some car builders for heavy steel cars of 40 and 50 tons' carrying capacity. They will have hopper bottoms and all arrangements for the convenient handling of coal usually provided for the steam railroads. This equipment is being provided to drain some new coal fields in the East Liverpool district at present served by no railroad. The intention of the Youngstown & Southern company is to build a low grade road from Youngstown to East Liverpool, the maximum grade being less than 2 per cent. The engines, which have been negotiated for, although not yet purchased, will be able

MATTERS GROWING WORSE

The garbage situation in the city remains unchanged, nearly every street and alley outside the central district containing an unlimited amount of fever-breeding offal and the residents living on such thoroughfares being absolutely without recourse. They are at the mercy of the city council, and if the action of that body continues no more speedy than in the past they will be enwrapped by the same conditions for months to come.

Reports by the score are heard at the city hall every day from suffering humanity, and while objections are being raised concerning the derelict officials, there seems to be nothing doing relative to assisting the endangered ones. It is true that a committee was appointed by council Tuesday evening to confer with the city solicitor regarding the conditions, but the people do not feel that this was bringing the issue to an end. They knew by experience that committees galore have been appointed since last May, and they know that the garbage question is many fold worse now than it was then.

What the people want is definite action, and they want it to occur at once. Council knows the necessity of the action. An uprising will take place if the question is not finally settled soon. At least one member of council is cognizant of the need of a settlement. He stated on Tuesday evening that he had noticed for weeks the conditions in California hollow and pronounced them deplorable. "Garbage haulers are disposing of the filth in conspicuous places in the hollow," he said, "and not only is the stench disgusting, but the miles of dirt are running over with the germs that produce fever. In fact, there is one family living in the neighborhood at the present time at the mercy of the dreaded fever. I feel that something should be done."

"This councilman's assertion," said a prominent citizen, "should awaken the body to quick action. When the lives of the community are at stake something is due from the officials in charge. The councilmen have promised to awake at the next meeting, and they are urged to not let it pass. If they do the city will be completely helpless, Manager Bursner, of the Sanitary Reduction company, making the positive statement that he will shut down his plant on the day following council meeting if a contract is not closed with him. He has submitted his figures, both for disposing and collecting, and has agreed to file a surety bond, and it is now up to council to do the rest."

Congregational Meeting Accepts Committee's Recommendation Unhesitatingly.

At the congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church last evening, Rev. J. N. Swan presided and George C. Murphy acted as clerk. The resignation of Rev. Charles G. Jordan was formally accepted. Prof. R. E. Rayman, for the committee of the session to recommend a successor as pastor, reported that the committee were unanimously in favor of extending a call to Rev. Dr. John Montgomery, of Findlay. He is a graduate of Princeton and ranks high among the ministerial workers in Ohio.

The report of the committee was accepted, with only 12 opposing votes. Afterward the choice of the committee was made unanimous. A committee consisting of Messrs. Croxall, Stoddard and Warner, was appointed to draft resolution in commendation of Pastor Jordan's work in the church. It was decided that Dr. Montgomery's work should begin as soon as Mr. Jordan's resignation took effect, and he is expected to enter upon his pastorate in October. The salary was fixed at $2,500, as at present.

The call will be reported to the Steubenville presbytery, which meets at Smithfield September 14, and arrangements will then be made for the installation.

On the Charge of Pointing Firearms He Is Given a Stiff Sentence.

Edward O'Connor pleaded guilty yesterday at 5 p. m. before Mayor Weaver to the charge of resisting an officer and pointing firearms. The mayor imposed a fine of $40 and costs, upon the defendant's attorney waiving the right of a trial by a jury.

The charge against O'Connor, it will be remembered, was preferred by Officer Dawson, who with several other policemen arrested O'Connor a month ago after he had terrified his mother and others around his home on Monroe street. He was fined $10 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct, the day following his arrest.

Mrs. Leach Still Missing.

Park Leach, the Wellsville restaurant keeper, who reported the elopement of his wife with an oil man, at central station Tuesday evening, is yet on the hunt for her. She was located in this city yesterday morning, but before the police got on her trail she had gone to West Virginia. She was heard from at Empire and the husband left for that point.

OPTIONS CLOSED ON LARGE TRACT OF COAL LAND

Irondale Mining Company Pushing Ahead and Likely to Become One of the Big Industrial Corporations of This Section.

Irondale, August 27.—(Special)—That the Irondale Mining company is to become one of the largest and most important corporations of Eastern Ohio, was clearly shown yesterday when options on 1,500 acres of land, valuable for the coal and clay deposits, were taken up. The deals closed yesterday are of considerable magnitude, involving the expenditure of many thousands of dollars. Some time ago the company closed options on a tract of coal land and soon commenced upon its dvelopment, the first mine having been in operation a month or more and now producing 200 tons of coal per day.

The property secured by the company yesterday lies to the west and northwest of this town, although a portion of it is within the city limits. Experts have declared it to be very rich in both coal and clay and the topography of the land is such as to render both deposits easy of access.

It is the intention of the company at once to proceed with the development of the lands secured yesterday and with this end in view the contract has already been placed for an electrical equipment for the operation of a new mine. The openings to the coal veins will be started within the next few days.

These improvements will give the coal company a producing capacity of 1,000 tons of coal a day and will make it one of the largest in this section of the state. The enlargement will result in quite a boom for this city as several hundred men will be added to the company's payroll.

The Irondale Mining company was organized in May of this year with a capital of $300,000. The officers are: John A. Woods, Jr., of Pittsburg, president, E. W. Hill, of East Liverpool, vice president; F. L. Head, of Irondale, secretary and treasurer, and K. Head, of Irondale, general manager. A. D. Hill, of East Liverpool, is one of the directors. Under the direction of Manager Head, who is one of the best posted men in the coal business in the state, the company has made wonderful progress during the short period since it was organized and if nothing hinders the improvements mentioned above will make the record all the more remarkable.

Quite a number of Chester people were interested in the deals closed yesterday, they holding several small sections of the property taken up.

It was stated today that a mammoth sewer pipe works is soon to be built upon the property of the company by well known capitalists who will pay a royalty for the clays. The mining company, it is stated, is not interested in this project.

BEEF DAVIS ARRESTED ON THE USUAL CHARGE

James W. ("Beef") Davis, of Vine street, was arrested last night by Officer Morris on a charge of assault, preferred against him by his wife. He was released on his own recognizance to appear this morning, but was not compelled to do so, a friend of influence interceding and having his hearing postponed until next Saturday.

When she filed the charge, Mrs. Davis showed signs of having been roughly treated, marks being plainly visible on her neck and face. She claimed that Davis upon arriving at their home on Monday night gave her the worst licking of her life. She also claimed that she was not in the least to blame However, this statement needs qualification, according to people living in the vicinity of the Davis home. The actions of the pair have become almost unabearable to their neighbors and it is the wish of all that some other locality be selected by them as a battle ground.

Salem Case Appealed.

Lisbon, August 27.—(Special.)—The case of Norman M. May vs. Robert Trimble and others, of Salem, in which the court gave a decision for the plaintiff some time ago, has been appealed. May had inherited an interest in Salem property by descent through his wife, who was a Trimble, and the court held that he was entitled to her full one-fourth interest, also decreeing the partition of the property at Main and Chestnut streets in Salem, which includes the Trimble business block.

CLARKE AND HANNA LISBONS SONS

Success of the Democratic Aspirant Due to Johnson's Friendship.

Columbus, August 27.—(Special)—The village of Lisbon gives to Ohio this year two candidates for the honored position of United States senator, the highest within her gift—Hon. Marcus A. Hanna and Hon. John H. Clarke, both of whom first saw the light of day in that quaint, historical town. Yesterday afternoon, after a contest replete with stirring scenes, the Democratic state convention named Hon. John H. Clarke as the man to oppose Hon. Marcus A. Hanna, candidate of the Republican party, for the office of United States senator.

It is somewhat singular that both men should be born in the same community, in after years should be neighbors in a city and should be pitted against each other by the rival big political parties for the greatest honor the state can confer. Mr. Clarke owes his success to his matchless oratory and to the help given him by Mayor Tom Johnson, of Cleveland.

RAILWAY FOREMAN BADLY INJUREO

Struck Violently With a Heavy Rope Attached to an Automatic Shovel.

An accident that might have resulted much more seriously befell M. W. Kelleher, a foreman in the employ of the contractors engaged in building the stone culverts for the C. & P., yesterday afternoon near Ralston crossing. As it is he is laid up with injuries of a rather serious nature and may not be able to resume his duties for several weeks.

Kelleher was standing upon the stone abutment of the culvert, directing the men in their work when he was struck violently with a heavy rope, attached to the automatic shovel. The force of the blow was so great that he was knocked from his position and fell to the ground, many feet beneath.

The injured man was picked up in a half conscious condition and taken to the office of Dr. R. J. Marshall. It was found that he was badly hurt about the arms and legs, but no bones were broken.

AT WORK REBUILDING BURNED BRICK PLANT

Harvey McHenry, of East Liverpool, and five carpenters, are now at Irondaye at work on the building of the Porter brick plant, to replace the structure burned recently. Mr. McHenry has the contract for the wood work and proposes to put on a large force and rush the work to completion.

The new building will be largely composed of iron and brick and made as nearly fireproof as possible.

Miss Leonora Ball, of Pennsylvania avenue, East End, was painfully hurt early this morning while en route in a buggy to the Hookstown fair. The horse became frightened at a street car along the avenue between Wedgwood and Andrews avenues, and Miss Ball lost control of him. The frightened animal tried to run away, but the buggy struck a post, throwing Miss Ball and her companion to the ground. Miss McKinnon was not hurt, but Miss Ball's right arm was badly sprained and she was bruised and stunned.

The injured girl was carried into the home of Ben Mankins, where she awaited the arrival of a physician. Dr. Marshall rendered the necessary attendance.

DELAY IN BOND SALE IS UNPROFITABLE

Any Premium Possible Is Being Eaten Up By Innterest Charges.

The failure of council to sell the $92,925 worth of bonds is costing the taxpayers money. The city is paying interest on borrowed money at the rate of 7 per cent, and the amount is accumulating fast. Several of the councilmen stated that they wanted to hold the sale of the bonds up until sufficient money could be secured to pay for the printing of the bonds. They evidently did not take into consideration that the printing will cost less than $50, and that this amount is overbalanced already by interest.

Returned From a Wedding.

Lisbon, August 27.—(Special)—Prof. F. M. Shelton, of the Canton high school, who was married Tuesday to Miss Mary Gertrude Packard, at her home in Oberlin, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Shelton, of this vicinity, who returned last evening from Oberlin, where they attended the wedding.

TEAM TOOK FRIGHT AT A WHEELBARROW

Taking fright at a wheelbarrow being pushed directly at them by a boy who was runing at brekneck speed down Bradshaw avenue, two horses attached to a delivery wagon of Faulk Bros. & Co., the millers, wheeled abruptly from where they were left standing by their driver, John McDole, and ran down the avenue shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, quite seriously injuring two persons and causing damage estimated at nerly $200.

McDole was delivering some feed to a resident of Bradshaw avenue and had alighted from the wagon. The horses are ordinarily very peaceable and it was thought they would not become frightened at anything. The movement of the wheelbarrow and the noise it made was new to them, however, and before the driver could interfere they had turned completely around and were dashing at a terrible rate down toward the bottom of the hill, which is some places is very steep. People rushed wildly to their doors upon hearing the crash of wheels against big stones, and most of the persons on the street made a hasty exit. Charles Todd, driver of a wagon owned by Jones & Sellers, grocers, made a desperate attempt to get off the avenue and escape a collision with the frightened team, but he was not fast enough.

Charging down the narrow roadway with terrible fury, the horses seemingly made a bee-line for the Jones & Sellers wagon, and though the driver was tugging with all his might on the lines he was unable to get the grocery wagon out of danger. Onward the team sped and while spectators stood breathless they dashed into the grocery wagon, cutting a number of deep gashes in the horse's body, throwing Todd violently to the ground and smashing the frail wagon into smithereens.

Having wrecked as much damage as possible at this point, the wild team continued its mad rush and stopped only upon a collision with a water plug near the K., T. & K. pottery. The collision badly damaged the big mill wagon, bruised the horses considerably and broke off the water plug. The horses were then powerless to go further and their driver soon caught up with them, preventing any further excitement.

Funeral of Accident Victim.

Lisbon, August 27.—(Special.)—The funeral of Thomas White, who was killed in the McKinley mine, near here, Tuesday evening, took place at 10 o'clock this morning in the Catholic church, Father Barch, of East Palestine, officiating. Burial was in the Lisbon cemetery. The local miners' union attended.

WAR DOGS WATCHING

Navy Theoretically Lost Several Vessels in an Attack in the Morning.

MIMIC WAR GOES MERRILY ON

Portland, Me., Aug. 27.—At 10 o'clock last night the war maneuvers had again developed into a watching and waiting game for the defending forces just as before the mimic war was declared. At 7 o'clock the greater part of Admiral Barker's fleet was anchored off Goose Island, about 10 miles from Fort McKinley, the eastermost of the protecting fortifications.

A demonstration, claimed by the army to be a day attack and by the navy a night attack, was made by the fleet early in the morning. The attack was repulsed with a theoretical loss of several vessels to the fleet.

The preliminary attack directly after midnight was made by landing parties; the later attack, which ended at 6 a. m., was made by two sections of the fleet, which attempted to force simultaneously the passages leading into the harbor. The fleet mobilized off Goose island and remained there all day.

During the early part of the evening there had been no open hostilities, but firing was heard shortly after 10 o'clock.

Moody Talks of Maneuvers.

Haverhill, Mass., Aug. 27.—Secretary of the Navy Moody was the chief guest of the boards of trades of the cities of the Merrimac Valley in Groveland and spoke briefly upon the navy and the present policy of the administration. Referring to the present war maneuvers, the secretary said:

"They are not for show or spectacle. The fact that they are a spectacle is the chief objection to them, but they are to train officers and men, because there is no other way in which they can be so well trained.

"There is an especial interest in these maneuvers for the people of New England. South of the Potomac there are few deep harbors, but as you come north the number and depth of the harbors increase until between Provincetown and Eastport there are more deep harbors than on other parts of our coast line.

"This is the most vulnerable part of our coast line, and because of the fact that upon each harbor stands a populous city representing in population and property vast interests of the nation, it becomes a part of the nation's duty to defend that property, and so these maneuvers are being held off this coast in order that the officers and men in our fleet may be trained to the defense of these cities and may have the opportunity by actual experience to learn the lesson which can be taught in no other way."

Cloudbursts Flood Council Bluffs.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 27.—Two cloudbursts destroyed hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property in this city. The first storm turned the streets of the city into torrents and hundreds of families in the lower districts were removed with difficulty. Many business houses were flooded by the first storm and the damage to stocks will amount into the thousands. Another storm later in the evening raised the water still higher and many stocks were badly damaged. The loss in this city alone is estimated at easily half a million dollars. The rainfall here will amount to six inches. The Northwestern, Rock Island and Milwaukee roads are tied up and not running trains either in or out of the city.

Killed for Thirty Cents.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 27.—Bass Cook shot and killed Noah Sloan near Oceana, W. Va. Both are well-known citizens of Wyoming county, and the altercation which led to the killing was over 30 cents, which Sloan claimed Cook owed him. Sloan went to Cook's home armed with a revolver. The latter saw Sloan approaching and fired upon him.

News and Notes About The Potteries

CONFEREES OUT OF TOWN.

President T. J. Duffy, of the N. B. of O. P., tried yesterday to arrange for a meeting this week between the committees representing the operatives and the manufacturers, but was not successful, owing to the absence from the city of Messrs. W. L. Smith and W. E. Wells, both of whom are members of the manufacturers' committee. If the gentlemen return in time a meeting may yet be arranged for, and if not it will be arranged for next week. President Duffy announced yesterday afternoon that the result of the referendum vote on the propositions submitted from the recent sessions of the committees would not be made known until the two committees get together.

FAREWELL SOCIAL.

Lisbon, August 27. — (Special.) — The few former employes of the Thomas China company's plant yet remaining in Lisbon held a farewell social last evening in a vacant tenement house on East Washington street. About 40 were present, most of whom will have left town by the last of the week. The evening passed pleasantly with music and social amusements.

The plants is temporarily closed on account of extensive repairs and renovations that are being made.

STARTING WELL.

The Hall China company, recently incorporated with a capital of $100,000, is starting under very favorable conditions if the amount of work being done at the plant is indicative. With the exception of the decorating department, which naturally is the last to get under full sway, the plant is running in all departments. William Meakin, foreman of the clay shop, who came to the plant from Murphy's, is making an excellent showing.

SUDDEN ILLNESS.

Charles Henderson, of the warehouse at the Dresden, was taken very suddenly and seriously ill while at his work yesterday morning and for a time his condition was alarming. Those near him at the plant worked with him until the arrival of a physician, when he revived sufficiently to be removed to his home on Fourth street. He is much better today.

EXPECT TO HEAR OF IT.

George Salsberry, a well known presser, has taken Tommy Lounds' bench at McNicol's while Tommy takes the trip he won in the News Review popularity contest. All the operatives at the plant unite in wishing Tommy godspeed and will expect to hear an interesting account of his trip upon his return home.

PARKER CHANGES.

POTTERY NOTES.

The Vulcan Brick company has secured a contract for furnishing 800,000 paving brick.

The biscuit kilnmen at Brunt's have been busier the past few days than at any time for weeks.

Two cars of a night freight train, east bound on the C. & P., were demolished in a wreck at 3 o'clock this morning just west of the Mulberry street crossing. The train crew escaped without injury. The wrecked cars were No. 3130, a flat loaded with dressed flag stones and No. 17,203, a box car, loaded with fertilizier. The woodwork of both cars was burning this morning after the contents had been removed.

The car carrying the stone was loaded too heavily, causing the car to jump the track, taking the box car directly in the rear with it. Fortunately the couplings parted or more cars would have been piled up. Both cars left the track to the south and struck the stone retaining wall with great force.

Nearly every slab of stone on the flat car was broken, adding much to the loss. The contents of the other wrecqed car suffered but little. As a result of the track being blocked the early morning train was delayed three hours.

More Hookstown Visitors.

The threatening weather this morning did not deter several parties starting for the Hookstown fair and a great day is anticipated. From shortly after daylight until 9 o'clock the road to Hookstown was well sprinkled with vehicles. Among the East Enders who made the trip today were: Edward Searight, Miss Ida Betz, Mort Calhoun, Miss Edna Duncan, Pearl Finley, Ollie Hamilton, Mayme Randall, Samuel Searight, Joe Logan, Earl Horger, John White and wife, Charles White and wife, Helen McCain, Anna Searight, Miss Jennie Cowan, Fannie Jones and W. C. Supplee.

A New Industry.

According to a report in circulation this morning the East End is soon to have another industry and while not a great many men will be employed at first, it will add a great deal to the industrial reputation of the section. William Kinney, one of the most substantial citizens, it is reported, has already commenced preparations to become a mushroom farmer. He has secured a quantity of rotten wood and loam for mulching purposes and has had the gravel removed from his cellar, where he is to make the first attempt. In case the industry flourishes he will enlarge his farm and employ a number of assistants.

Rain May Interfere.

Manager Herbert, of the East End Grays, was a close observer of the weather indications this morning as the second of the series of games between his team and the Carroll club is scheduled for this afternon at Columbian park. In case rain prevents the contest it will be deferred until Saturday and the game that was schduled for that day will be played one day next week. Chambers was selected to do the pitching for the Grays today.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Robert Lacey, a popular East End barber, slipped and fell on the wet pavement this morning and suffered a painful injury to his knee.

Joseph Webb is moving from Mulberry street to Greasley street, down town.

Mrs. Hardman, of the Klondike, is reported very seriously ill with lung trouble.

C. J. Mench, of Allegheny, is the guest of Walter C. Supplee and family, of Pennsylvania avenue.

Mrs. Potts, an aged and highly respected lady, living in the Klondike, is very ill with paralysis.

The ladies of the Aid Society, of the Erie street Methodist church, will give an ice cream social at the home of Mrs. Sarah Dawson, of St. George street, on Friday evening.

Rev. J. N. Swan has received word that his son, Rev. B. H. Swan, who has been attending the Bible conference at Winona Lake, Ind., has left, with his family, for a visit at West Bethany, N. Y. Another son, Rev. C. W. Swan, who was also attending the conference, left for his home in Shreve.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Bellville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

Cloudburst Caused Great Damage.

Frankfort, Kan., Aug. 27.—The damage to farms in Nemaha and Marshall counties by the cloudburst is greater than at first estimated and now is placed at $500,000. Great quantities of hay, wheat and oats in stack, besides wheat and corn in bins, were swept away, while many farmers lost all their cattle and hogs. Business at Frankfort is at a standstill. Dozens of bridges are out and wire communication with most of the flooded points is still interrupted. The Vermillion river has fallen 10 feet.

Body Recovered by Fisherman.

Nantucket, Mass., Aug. 27.—The body of Albert E. Siryer, the 17-year-old son of F. W. Sivyer, of Milwaukee, who was drowned by the capsizing of a sailboat last Saturday, was found on the north shore of Coatue by Charles Stackpole, a Nantucket fisherman. A reward of $500 offered for the body will be paid to Stackpole.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to, attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. Now size trial bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. POWERS APPEALED TO

Help Must Come Quickly or There Will Be None Left to Save—Resolutions Adopted—Iron Bridge Blown Up by Rebels—Wires Cut.

Sofia, Aug. 27.—An immense mass meeting of Macedonians took place here. The proceedings were most enthusiastic. It was resolved that a memorandum should be presented to the representatives of the great powers at Sofia urging their governments to take action.

The recent visit of the Russian squadron to Turkish waters was much commented on at the meeting. It was described as "a moment of sunshine which quickly passed." The speakers impassionedly appealed for the immediate intervention of the powers in Macedonia, declaring that if the pouring out of blood in Macedonia continued another fortnight Europe would find nobody there to save. The Bulgarian ministers were urged not to stand by while their brethren were dying in Macedonia.

The gathering was the largest yet held in Sofia. Most of the shops were closed during the meeting as a mark of sympathy with its objects.

Resolutions were also adopted thanking the publicists who have defended the cause of the Macedonians, regretting the hesitation on the part of Europe to take steps to ameliorate the lot of the Christians in Turkey, demanding the appointment of a powerful Christian governor who would insure security for the country, and inviting all Bulgarians to aid in securing the triumph of the work already commenced.

The Macedonian committee has issued a black-bordered list of 70 villages which have been pillaged and destroyed in the vilayet of Monastir, to which are added instances of revolting outrages perpetrated on women. The publication of this sheet has created a sensation.

No news has been received in official circles from the interior of Macedonia. The revolutionists at Kischevo are reported to have seven quick-firing guns. In a fight which has just occurred in that district the insurgents defeated and slaughtered an entire detachment of 80 soldiers. A Turkish courier carrying 40,000 francs intended for the pay of the troops has been captured by insurgents near Surovitchovo. The rebels have blown up an iron bridge over a deep ravine on the high road between Los Engrad and Demirdgehand.

Salonica, Aug. 27.—The telegraph wires have been cut between Salonica and Vardar, 12 miles southwest of this city.

Time Made In Fraction Over Fifty-Four Days—Lost Seven Days at Yokohama.

New York, Aug. 27.—Henry Frederick, who left here July 2 on the steamer Deutschland for a tour around the world with the hope of breaking the record for the shortest time consumed in circling the globe, has returned. Mr. Frederick had been successful in his endeavor, having made the circuit in 54 days, 7 hours and 26 minutes. In speaking of his trip he said:

"My object in making the trip was to see the quickest time a man could go around the world comfortably. The train ride from Paris to Dalny, China, consumed 18 days. Two days were spent crossing the Yellow sea and two more by rail across Japan. At Yokohama I missed my steamer by 10 hours and lost seven days, as I was compelled to take a slow boat two days later, which spent 16 days on the Pacific. I landed at Victoria and crossed the continent in a little over four days. This, with the Deutschland's fast time of six days across the Atlantic, made my record of 54 days."

ORDER CREATES SOME SURPRISE

Washington, Aug. 27.—An order from Public Printer Palmer was issued to the heads of divisions in the government printing office just before the hour for closing to appear before a notary public in the office and take the oath of allegiance of the United States as subscribed to by clerks under the civil service law.

Mr. Palmer said he had issued the order at the suggestion of a government official whose name he declined to give. He said that its object was to place the per diem employes in the same attitude toward the government as that of the clerks on annual salaries who have subscribed to the order. He said that every employe of the office would be affected by the order, but to prevent loss of time and confusion the chiefs of divisions were asked to take it immediately and that gradually the entire force would have the oath administered.

The issuance of the order created considerable surprise among the employes of the office, especially among members of the bookbinders' union, who believe it has indirectly a bearing on the issues growing out of the case of W. A. Miller, the assistant foreman of the bindery, who was discharged from the office because he had been expelled from the local bookbinders' union, but who was afterwards reinstated at the direction of President Roosevelt.

FAVOR DEVELOPMENT OF ALASKA

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 27.—The revenue cutter McCulloch dropped anchor in Victoria harbor from Nome, having on board the sub-committee of the senate committee on territories. The party is all well and report a very pleasant and profitable trip. The members of the committee are evidently persuaded that Alaska should have a delegate in congress, but probably are not prepared to make him elective.

The construction of a national highway from Valdez to Eagle by the government aid seems to be regarded with favor. It is believed, too, that the building of a wagon road through the interior from the south coast will stimulate the development of the country to such an extent as to hasten materially the time when private capital will construct a railroad over practically the same route.

The committee also seem inclined to favor taking practical steps to perpetuate salmon and other fisheries by having the government establish hatcheries to be supported by taxes levied on the canneries and other fisheries according to output. The committee spent the day here, going to Seattle in the evening, where they will separate for home.

Charged With Swindling Immigrants.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Provincial Detective Murray, of Toronto, made an application to the military authorities at Plattsburg barracks to have George H. Stewart, alias Curtis, alias Gudley, turned over to him for extradition to Canada to answer a charge of swindling immigrants just arriving in that country. Murray chased Stewart several hundred miles through New England, finally arresting him in Troy and turning him over to the military authorities as a deserter from the Ninth infantry. Stewart was to have been married Tuesday to a Plattsburg woman whom he met while in the army.

Thought Matches Were Coins.

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 27.—County Judge Bradford Almy committed Lewis Bloom, aged 76, to the state insane hospital at Willard. For several months Bloom has been possessed with the hallucination that matches are coins and as he had collected hundreds of boxes of them he considered himself possessed of fabulous wealth. His peculiarity was first noticed when he began attempting to make purchases with lucifers. He several times recently attempted to burn his house.

Disposed of Grievances.

New York, Aug. 27.—The board of conciliation, which opened the consideration of several matters in dispute between the anthracite coal miners and their employes, disposed of five grievances. One was the case of Martin Delaney, a contract miner who complained that the Philadelphia and Reading company violated its agreement. The board found for the company. On the complaint of George Robinson, engineer of Leisenring & Co., that he has not received the advance awarded by the strike commission, the board directed that he receive an advance of 11½ per cent.

Yellow Fever Epidemic.

Laredo, Tex., Aug. 27.—A letter was received in this city from a responsible resident of Linares, Mexico, in which he states that yellow fever exists at that place and that the death rate is now 14 a day. This information was given to the quarantine officials, both federal and state, of this city and they will take the matter up at once for investigation. Linares is a small town on the gulf, about three hours' ride from Monterey. The letter further said that people are fleeing from there in all directions as fast as they can get out.

Girl Killed in Runaway.

Pawtucket, R. I., Aug. 27.—Jennie Montague, aged 23, a telephone operator, is dead and her companion, John F. Bannon, aged 22, is violently insane as a result of a runaway accident. For half a mile the two young people clung to their seat in the carriage. Then the girl jumped and a hundred yards farther Bannon followed her example. Miss Montague died an hour later. Bannon escaped with painful body bruises, but as soon as he learned of his companion's condition he became violently insane.

Employes Negotiating for Peace.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Peace negotiations looking to a settlement of the strike which began last Monday are being sought by the restaurant employes. Meditators will be asked to sue for peace with the restaurant keepers association. The restaurant employes have retracted statements issued from the joint board that "influence" was used to secure the arbitration award which was unsatisfactory to the union and was responsible for the present strike.

East Africa for Jewish Colony.

Basel, Switzerland, Aug. 27.—The debate in the Zionist congress on the British proposal to set apart a portion of British East Africa for colonization by the Jews has closed. The congress adopted a resolution to appoint a committee of nine who should be sent on an expedition to East Africa to investigate the situation. The Russian delegates opposed the project and left the hall as a protest.

GREAT ROMANTIC PLAY COMING

Mr. Thomas B. Alexander, the young romantic actor, who achieved such a notable success in "The Prisoner of Zenda," is said to have a wonderfully fascinating play in the new romantic drama, "Near the Throne," in which he will appear this season, under the management of Verbeck and Smiley. The action of the play is supposed to take place during Nalopeon's conquest of Egypt, one of the most romantic, as well as the most exciting epochs of either ancient or modern history. Mr. Alexander assumes the role of a dashing young French cavalry officer of Napolon's staff. The play will be beautifully mounted and the luxurious splendor of the Orient reproduced most realistically. One of the scenes in particular, that showing the palace of Murad Bay, with the historic Nile and the pyramids in the background, forming one of the most beautiful pictures ever put on the stage. At the Grand opera house, Thursday, August 27.

It cures to stay cured—all diseases of the STOMACH—LIVER—KIDNEYS—BLOOD and SKIN DISEASES. Its rapid cures are marvelous. It is a system restorer and tissue builder of the highest standard. There is no failure or disappointment. It does the work quickly and thoroughly—it brings back the color to the cheeks—the lips grow red—the eyes bright—unsightly blotches and pimples disappear—the head is held erect—the step becomes quick and buoyant—sleep is sweet and refreshing. No dreams leave their shadows for the next day—the mind becomes clear and active—appetite and digestion are perfect—the love of life is sweet again and the weak, tired, worn-out, moody and despondent self is buried irrevocably in the past.

Mr. J. C. Lukens, of Tippecanoe, Ohio, says: I have been greatly relieved of Nervousness, Stomach and Kidney Trouble by the use of Life Plant. As a family medicine to keep the blood in order and tone up the system and prevent sickness, I think it stands at the head of the list. Tippecanoe, March 1, 1900.

The Democratic party of Ohio is characteristically Democratic in one respect. It makes no progressive step, but goes back into the past for a platform and issues. It reaffirms the Kansas City platform, which reaffirmed the Chicago platform. It therefore stands committed to every form of Bryanism—fifty cent dollars, condemnation of the United States supreme court, calamity howls and all the other Popocratic "issues" and notions upon which the party has met with two successive defeats. Progressive Democrats are aware that the country has no confidence in Bryanism and are shaking themselves free of his control. They are casting about for leaders whom the party can trust and issues upon which they can gain votes. Even the Iowa Democrats, who stood by Bryan in two campaigns, have now repudiated his doctrines utterly. But the Ohio Democracy, led by a demagogue whose theories are as wild and visionary as those of Bryan himself, if not more so, loses sight of the opportunity to show a progressive spirit, and reaffirms the doctrines that have weakened and disrupted its party. Tom Johnson ruled the convention and ruled it with a rod of iron. Conservative and progressive Democrats, if any still remain in Ohio, will be still further alienated and disgusted. The result of the Democratic convention at Columbus is eminently satisfactory to Republicans. How it can be satisfactory to Democrats who are not Populists, single tax men or socialists, passes comprehension.

The real issue in Ohio is whether a business man shall be governor or whether the visionary theorist who has plunged Cleveland into debt and increased other people's taxes while avoiding payment of his own shall have that honor. It won't take long to decide the matter and to forever eliminate Tom L. Johnson as a factor in state politics.

Turkey promises to restore order in Macedonia without outside assistance. The great powers of Europe know what Turkish promises are worth and will be foolish if they give this one any heed.

Pittsburg undoubtedly has good base ball players. Her clubs may learn in time that the theory that any team is good enough to send to East Liverpool is a most erroneous one.

If Sir Thomas Lipton cannot carry back the cup, he will take with him the good will and esteem of this country, and these are worth more than tarnished silver.

The Ohio Democracy is living up to its old record. It can do more blundering in a few minutes in a convention than it can repair in a year.

John H. Clarke, a gold Democrat, running for senator on a free silver platform, comes near the climax of Democratic inconsistency.

She is said to be survived by a husband in Pittsburg, with whom she has not been living for some years.

AT THE THEATER

Theater-goers braved the torrid weather of last night to attend the opening of the season at the Grand opera house. It was one of the best hot weather audiences in the history of the house, and is certainly indicative that the people are glad of the return of the theater season. While no great changes have taken place in the play house since the close of last season it had a very pleasing appearance.

The offering was a mammoth production of the stirring western drama, "The Queen of the Highway," and that it was pleasing to the audience was readily seen from the continuous applause. The company was a strong one, evenly balanced and thoroughly competent to dramatically portray the many thrilling situations. The scenes were calculated to be realistic of the west in the days of the gold excitement and several rather unusual stage properties were introduced. In the canon scene the hero was surrounded with genuine wolves and at other places several ponies were seen upon the stage.

Lovers of the romantic drama will have the opportunity tonight to see one of the best of the year's productions, an entirely new play to the stage, "Near the Throne." The play is a dramatization of the book by that name, and the leading role was created by Thomas Alexander, who last season had such remarkable success as Rupert in Anthony Hope's "Prisoner of Zenda." The scene of "Near the Throne" is laid at Cairo, Egypt, during the time of Napoleon's invasion, a period rich in stirring incidents for dramatic writers. The company carries its own scenery for the entire production, and the costumes are said to be gorgeous.

The Philadelphia newspapers were the first great dailies of this country to call public attention to Thorold's novel, "Near the Throne," and to pronounce it new and unique. A Philadelphia firm of theatrical managers were the first to direct attention to "Near the Throne" as a play, the book being dramatized by the author and made a romantic spectacle of the orient. Don't fail to see this big scenic production at the Grand tonight.

WELLSVILLE

The failure of Howard Russell, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell, of Front street, to return to his home, which he left on Saturday afternoon, August 15, is causing considerable excitement and agitation among his relatives and friends, and is particularly distressing to his father and mother. For the past week or 10 days the matter has been kept very quiet and only a few are aware of young Russell's disappearance. Mrs. Russell is nearly frantic over the affair and is almost on the verge of collapse.

It seems that on the date mentioned, Russell drew a small pay from the railroad pay car for odd jobs around the railroad yards. It is also stated that Russell sold his bicycle in order to secure as much money as possible with which to take a trip. He was not missed at his home until evening, when he failed to come home for supper, and it is now thought that he left the city on one of the afternoon trains.

A few days ago Mr. Russell, the father, received word from Coshocton, which led him to believe that the boy had gone to that city. He made a trip to Coshocton in search of the lad, but was unable to find any trace of him. Last Saturday morning Mr. Russell learned from a railroader that his son had been seen in Pittsburg. Mr. Russell went to Pittsburg on the first train, but was unable to locate his son.

No one seems to know what brought about the action of the lad, as he has never been known to run away from home. None of his friends seem able to attribute any cause to his actions. He had money enough when he left the city to last him for a couple of weeks, if used economically, and it is hoped that he will return within a few days.

By the use of Hyomei, you can save an expensive trip to the mountains and escape weeks of suffering. This remarkable remedy for the cure of hay fever, kills the germs of the disease, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane, if used two or three weeks before the time of the usual appearance of hay fever, will prevent the attack.

The complete Hyomei treatment consists of a neat pocket inhaler, through which Hyomei is breathed, a bottle of Hyomei, and a medicine dropper. The air taken into the lungs in this way is filled with healing balsams and forms a perfect safeguard against attacks of hay fever or rose cold.

Those who have had hay fever, know how little help can be gained by stomach dosing in this disease. Hyomei is the only scientific yet common sense treatment for the trouble.

It is easy enough for any one to say that a remedy will give satisfaction, but Will Reed's offer to refund the money if Hyomei does not do all that is claimed for it, certainly inspires faith in the treatment.

Hyomei really gives you in your own home, a change of climate, and hay fever sufferers know from past experience that this has been the only thing that afforded them relief. By breathing Hyomei a few times daily, you can save the expense and trouble of a mountain trip and avoid all danger of hay fever.

Unclaimed Letters.

List of unclaimed letters remaining in the Wellsville postoffice for the week ending August 24: J. E. Albertson, J. E. Baker, Charles Boyd, Alessi Bellanea, Frank Evans, Geseppe Carramossa, Castelveten Ginseppe, Antonio Giovanio, Mrs. Ellie Hamilton, Miss Mattie Hilton, Charles Harkins, Miss Julia Lemon, Miss Anabel Lee, Miss Helen Malone, Joe McBane, James Morehead (2), Michael Domenico, Georgia Cunningham, Francesco Regusa, David Rice, Mrs. George Seeley, Miss Mary Smith, Charles B. Smith, L. Peng, Elizabeth Shank, J. W. Stamm, Emmet Slaughter, Clyde J. Wright, Willis R. Ward, James Warrant, Alma Williamson, Thomas Young, Mrs. Clara McFarland, Frank Walsh.

Statements Unsubstantiated.

An article was published in one of Wellsville's dailies a few days ago, stating that Cudahay, the millionaire beef packer of Kansas City, was negotiating for the purchase of a tract of land on the north side of Yellow creek, between the county bridge and the street car bridge, upon which an abbatoir and stock yards were to be built. The article further stated that negotiations were under way for the purchase of eight or ten acres of ground outside of the corporation for stock yards. The story is thought to have been a manufactured one for "booming" purposes, as none of the statements in the story can be substantiated.

Water Must be Used Sparingly.

On account of the broken piston rod at the water works pumping station and on account of the lack of the usual water supply of water, a notice has been sent out to all water consumers by Supt. Ewing, requesting the consumers to be as economical as possible in the use of water until the repairs to the disabled pump can be made. It is expected that these repairs will be made Friday or Saturday. The water supply is very limited and the careful use of water is urged to save the city from running out of a supply entirely before the difficulty is overcome.

DEATH DUST

...Roaches...

A big, black roach, is a big, mean nuisance; and the sooner they are driven out or killed, the better. They not only eat food and spoil infinitely more than they eat, but they destroy many fine things, such as book covers, etc. Numerous are the ways and means employed to rid premises and places of them but without permanent result.

The very best thing to kill roaches is Death Dust.

It kills them in their tracks before they reach their haunts. Sprinkle it freely about the places they are seen. They breathe it and DIE. Just what every good housekeeper wants them to do.

Giving an Excellent Performance at Rock Springs Park Theater This Week.

The patrons of Rock Springs park who have seen the Wm. Josh Daly's minstrels during the forepart of the week, will see an entirely new show commencing this evening. The minstrels are one of the best drawing attractions that the park management have secured for Rock Springs park; excellent singing, bright, clean comedy and good dancing are interspersed throughout the entire performance, and those who have seen it are sure to witness it more than once.

Mr. Daly, who is the stage manager for the W. S. Cleveland's minstrels, who are now rehearsing at Rock Springs for their road show, is adding night by night some of the artists who are engaged with the Cleveland company, and by the latter part of the week those who visit the theater will witness one of the best minstrel performances on the road. The company at the present time numbers 11 people, but tonight it will be augmented to at least 20 people, including the specialty artists.

OIL LANDS LEASED

By a Big Company Proposing a Thorough Test of the Territory.

J. A. McDonald and Thomas Campbell have secured leases on a number of farms on Oak Run for the purpose of developing for oil and gas. The gentlemen are working in the interest of a large concern with headquarters at Marietta and expect operations to be commenced very soon on one of the four farms that have been already secured.

Leases were closed yesterday on the farms of O. A. Lowary, Charles Geer, Burgess Geer and Mrs. George Miller. The leases adjoin territory that has been developed to the extent of 21 wells, and only one of them has proved a duster and the farms that have been secured are considered gilt edge by the Vilginia Oil company, who will work the leases. The well on the Stewart farm, which adjoins and showed up favorably, would have been in today but for the breaking of the tools.

Two Strangers Taken In.

Only two arrests were made yesterday by the officers. The men arrested gave their names as Samuel Watt, of Allegheny, and John Gilchrist, of Jeannette. Both men were intoxicated and when requested by the police to take their trains for home, refused to do so. They were taken before Mayor Mercer and fined $6.60 each. Being unable to produce, they remained in the lockup over night. Friends came to the assistance of Gilchrist this morning and Watt stated his intention of boarding out his $6.60, and is still the guest of the town.

Rain Did Not Check the Rush.

The threatening weather or the showers during the morning had but little effect on the attendance at the Hookstown fair on the last day of the meeting. As early as 6 o'clock rigs of different descriptions were noticed going through the town and the travel was steady throughout the day. The horses and vehicles of all kinds were much in demand and the liverymen did a rushing business.

An Important Purchase.

The well known oil operator, James Murray, of New Cumberland, has purchased of the rolling mill land company six lots on Louisiana avenue for $4,000. He will erect a house and stable on one of the lots and move to Chester. He proposes also to sink a gas well and have a gas supply of his own. Mr. Murray is a lover of fine horses and will build a $4,000 stable in which to keep them.

Heptasophs' Big Picnic.

The Heptasophs' picnic was one of the biggest of the season. Members of the order from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, took in the sights of the park and of East Liverpool and had a royal good time. The chief amusements were dancing and athletic sports. Crowds patronized the theater.

Horse Died of Colic.

A valuable horse belonging to Nick Genalley succumbed to an attack of colic last night. Mr. Genalley was awakened in the early morning by the noise of the suffering animal, but before the assistance of a veterinary surgeon could be had, the horse died.

Postoffice Not to Move.

Contrary to report, the location of the Chester postoffice, for the present at least, will not be changed. Postmaster Johnston, when asked about the matter this morning, stated that privilege to change the location had been granted by the department August 11, but no location had yet been contracted for. In all likelihood as soon as a building is erected more centrally that will answer the purpose, the postmaster will avail himself of the oportunity to secure quarters.

Taken Suddenly Ill.

Mrs. Albert Nolan, while visiting Mrs. R. H. Dunn, was taken suddenly ill last night, and after being removed to her home on Louisiana avenue, became much worse, her temperature rising to a degree that greatly alarmed her friends. Her condition was much improved this morning, but she is not yet out of danger.

Seventeen Coaches Full.

The Sunday school outing from Brilliant was a much larger one than was expected and was brought in on one of the largest trains which has come over the branch this season. The train consisted of 17 coaches, all of which were well filled.

REALM OF SPORTS

ONLY PRACTICE FOR THE LOCALS

H. H. A. C. Failed to Make the Game Even Interesting.

Considering the fact that they needed a little practice for the genuine battles they are to fight during the next 10 days, the locals do not feel that the time they spent yesterday afternoon in the West End park was totally fruitless. They are going to buck three of the best teams outside the major leagues within two weeks, and a little limbering up was really good for them. They shut out the Pittsburg Herron Hill Athletic club, 10 to 0.

The fans evidently were governed by a premonition, few of them being fooled to the park, and it was a lucky thing, not many people particularly admiring practice ball. However, there was considerable sport in the exhibition, the locals playing one of the prettiest games of the season. The visitors did not play bad ball—they were simply out of their class. In fact, they have got two men, the third baseman and short stop, who will see better days in the base ball world. They are certainly comers.

It was with difficulty that either trio of outfielders managed to escape a broken leg or two. The circus had rested on the grounds for two days and the holes and uprisals scattered over the field made it almost impossible for a man to navigate. The condition came dangerously near sending Gibson to the happy hunting grounds. He was running like the wind after a hard one in left when his foot became entangled in a tuft of mud and grass and the next thing Gibson knew he was rolling some.

The locals made their runs in a steady stream, escaping but two innings. Their greatest onslaught was in the third, however, when three runs were scored on two hits, one of them a three-bagger by the old captain, Reark. The visitors did manage to reach third once, but they were eaten alive in every other inning. They got only three hits, and one of them was anything but clean. Gibson had his hands all over it, but the run was so hard the runner was credited. In errors they were not so bad, having but four scored against them. As stated above they were out of their class, and being unable to hit had no chance. The score:

A Great Agency

We Have Secured Control for This City of the Fulton Compounds, the Only Things Known to Medicine That Cure Kidney Diseases in Both the Primary and Secondary Stages.

The kidneys are not sensitive and the disease is sometimes fastened and already chronic with the very first symptoms. If it has hung on eight to ten months it is surely chronic. In either case why take chances? Why not take at first the only thing known that cures kidney disease in the chronic as well as the primary stages. The Pell case cited below, by permission, is especially valuable, for its incurability was doubly confirmed by consulting physicians and after recovery under the Fulton Compounds the recovery was also doubly attested.

On May 1st, 1902, the son of R. C. Pell, the manager of the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company of Second and Folsom streets, San Francisco was declared by the family physician to have chronic kidney disease and incurable. Another physician was called in and confirmed the diagnosis. The whole body was swollen with dropsy, and a fatal termination looked for. The Fulton Compounds were then turned to as the only hope. On September 15 the dropsy had disappeared and the boy was well, and after double examinations the physician declared the recovery complete and gave Mr. Pell a written report which he now has.

Judge G. A. Cabaniss, the Police Judge of San Francisco, also attests the recovery under his own observation of a friend of his who also recovered when the case (chronic Bright's Disease of the kidneys) was well known to be incurable according to all medical authorities.

Up to the advent of the Fulton Compounds medicine knew nothing that would cure kidney troubles after they became chronic. About nine-tenths of all cases are now curable, ever after they have developed into the dreaded chronic forms of Bright's Disease and diabetes. No statements are published or invited except from chronic cases that, like the above, are incurable by all other known medicines. If your kidney trouble is recent Fulton's Renal Compound will cure it quickly. If it is of over eight to ten months standing it is the only thing known that will save your life. John J. Heart Beats Per Minute. Weak Heart

Complicated With Kidney Trouble.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me Permanently.

"Your medicine is worth its weight in gold, and I cannot recommend it too highly for the good it has done me. I was troubled with heart disease complicated with a weak back and kidney complaint for a number of years. Although five of our best doctors waited on me I grew worse instead of better, until at last nothing seemed to do me any good. I had a rapid pulse varying from 100 to 150 beats per minute, a choking and burning sensation in the wind-pipe, and pain in the heart. At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure I weighed but 130 pounds. After using the remedies six months I weighed 182 pounds and felt well, and strong and hearty. My nerve, heart and kidney troubles are all gone now and as this cure was performed nearly seven years ago I know that it is permanent."—Edward Knapp, Wilkersville, Ohio.

"For many years I have been a great sufferer from heart disease. I was subject to faint and sinking spells, with a clutching, oppressive or full feeling at the heart, that is difficult to describe. I was unable to attend to my household duties and was thoroughly wretched and miserable. I doctored with some of our best physicians but got no relief until I tried Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine. I experienced benefit from the first few doses and finally was completely cured."—Mrs. J. M. Holloway, Geneva, Ind.

MEETING CALLED FOR ASSOCIATION PLAYERS

New Organization Is to Be Formed from Remnants of Last Year's Clubs.

Next Monday evening, August 31, at 7:30 it is proposed to hold a general meeting of all old members of the East Liverpool Rovers foot ball club, and as many more outside foot ball players (that is, players not belonging to the Rovers) as are desirous of becoming members of a new foot ball organization to be formed out of the remnants of the old Rovers and Buckeye clubs. It is hoped that, as there are quite a number of young foot ball aspirants in the Crockery City, a first-class team can be got together that will uphold the name of East Liverpool in the world of sport.

President Hancock and Manager Wooliscraft, of last year's Rovers club, will deliver a few interesting remarks concerning last year's foot ball season. The Rovers finished up with a few dollars on hand last season.

NINE FAST GAMES

Contrary to the announcement in another evening paper the crack team of Waynesburg, Pa., will be the attraction at the West End park during the remainder of the week. In this series the locals will be up against one of the strongest teams that has appeared in the city this season. Though the Waynesburg aggregation has gained but little mention so far, it demonstrated on last Tuesday its superiority by defeating Homestead, conceded to be one of the fastest amateur teams in the country. The local team is probably better qualified for a strenuous series than for many months, every weak point having been strengthened and each player playing the game to the satisfaction of his well-trained captain, "Chick" Reark.

There will no doubt be enormous crowds at each game, local fans having shown in the past their enthusiasm over such contests. That they will get the worth of their money no one doubts, the contesting teams being well matched.

Notwithstanding that the series alluded to above will be witnessed by every fan in the city, it is predicted that the games scheduled for every day of next week will be the biggest drawing card ever presented by any local management. There are none in this vicinity ignorant of the merits of the Niles steel workers and the team of Youngstown has gained a reputation equally as good. Niles will oppose the locals Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and Youngstown on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. As a result of hard and continuous practice the locals expect to carry the scalps of both teams. They showed a few weeks ago that these crack teams are in their class and that by steady playing they can win a victory every time.

The Only Way

is to cure the Cause. You can relieve it by taking Pepsin, Soda or the many Dyspepsia Tablets, but they will not cure. It is absolutely necessary to cure the inner lining of the stomach, and that is what

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 11th, 1902.
Mr. Frank Nau, New York City:

"Dear Sir—I have been troubled with Stomach trouble for a number of years, and have had the pleasure of giving your remedy a trial, and am convinced that it will prove beneficial in every case where one is suffering from troubles of the stomach. I highly recommend it, having received great benefit myself from the use of your remedy. Respectfully,"

BUCKEYE DEMOCRATS

TOM L. JOHNSON FOR GOVERNOR

Columbus, O., Aug. 27.—The Johnson program was carried out completely in the Democratic state convention. Every nomination on the state ticket, including Mayor Tom L. Johnson for governor, was made by acclamation. Even after the chair announced that the name of Mayor Johnson was the only one before the convention for governor there were some dissenting Zimmerman votes on the motion to make the nomination unanimous, but the Zimmerman supporters subsided after the selections for governor and senator were made.

The Ticket.

Governor—Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland.

Attorney General—Frank S. Monnett, of Columbus.

State Treasurer—V. J. Dahl, of Washington Court House.

Auditor—Charles A. Kloeb, of Wapakoneta.

Member of Board of Public Works—W. B. Jones, of Ironton.

Supreme Judge—E. J. Dempsey, of Cincinnati.

John H. Clarke, of Cleveland, was endorsed for United States senator.

The opposition by various obstruction movements kept the convention in continuous session for about seven hours. While minority reports were presented from the committees the only fight that worried the Johnson managers was on the senatorship. The only ballots forced on the dominant element were in that contest. The minority report on rules and order of business, which was intended to omit the endorsement of a senatorial candidate, was defeated by a vote of 211 ayes to 448 nays, which was considered a test vote between Johnson and Zimmerman, after all the contested seats had been decided in favor of the former.

Johnson Forces Divided.

On naming the candidate for senator the Johnson supporters were divided among themselves. Mayor Johnson and former Congressman John J. Lentz have been very close personally and politically for years, but an almost intensely bitter feeling existed between them, at least on the part of Lentz, who openly accused Johnson with favoring for senator a man who had voted against Bryan. Zimmerman men had intended voting for Clarke, the Johnson candidate for senator, as they said he represented their conservative views, but when Lentz opened a fight on Johnson on the senatorial candidate the opposition resumed its obstructive tactics and voted for Lentz for senator, thus driving the Johnson faction to the second ballot.

John H. Clarke, who will canvass the state with Mayor Johnson and other Democratic committees, has been a prominent attorney at Youngstown for many years, but now he is located in Cleveland, which city has four prominent candidates, Republican as well as the Democratic, for senator and governor.

Clarke Active in Convention.

Next to the commanding presence of Johnson was the part of Clarke in the convention. He made two masterly speeches, one presenting the name of Johnson and the other in accepting the senatorial nomination. Mr. Clarke intimated that he would ask Senator Hanna for joint debates during the campaign.

With the single exception of senatorial endorsement the Johnson men controlled the convention. The convention was as distinctly with Bryan on national as with Johnson on state issues. The speeches of both Temporary Chairman Saltzgaber and Permanent Chairman Goeke insisted that if the Democratic party is to change its policy to suit the times, the change "must be made by the friends of the party and not by its enemies."

The result of the convention leaves the state committee 18 to 3 in the hands of the Bryan-Johnson element for next year, when delegates to the Democratic national convention are to be selected.

Want Freight Rates Reduced.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 27.—Alabama iron manufacturers have addressed a strong letter to the traffic managers of the railroads throughout this section for the immediate reduction of 50 cents a ton in freight rates to enable them to meet competition with the iron manufacturers in Pennsylvania, Ohio and elsewhere.

Mother and Daughter Injured.

Cleveland, Aug. 27.—Mrs. J. J. Lohrer, wife of a Cincinnati physician, and their daughter, Dorothy, were run into by a brewery wagon on Euclid avenue and knocked down. Mrs. Lohrer is not seriously hurt, but Dorothy is said to be so badly hurt that she may die. Mrs. Lohrer is visiting her brother in this city.

RICH COAL LANDS PURCHASED

Block of Over Two Thousand Acres Sold to Eastern People for a Quarter of a Million.

Wheeling, Aug. 27.—A block of 2,220 acres of good coal land lying about 10 miles above this city changed hands. About $250,000 was paid for the land. The most of those interested in the gigantic scheme are from the east.

James Bradock, of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., and John M. Stauffer, of Scottdale, are the two promoters and those who will likely be at the head of the company when it is chartered.

The land lies in Beech Bottom which is traversed by the lines of the Panhandle Traction company, and is considered one of the richest pieces of coal land in the Ohio valley. It has an outcrop facing along the river two miles in length and has the river rights for two landings.

American Lawyer Acquitted.

Havana, Aug. 27.—The criminal court acquitted Joseph De Wyckoff, an American lawyer, of the charge of misappropriating $10,000 sent to him by Michael J. Dady, of Brooklyn, for the purpose of securing an option on the aqueduct of Cienfuegos. The purchase was not consummated and De Wyckoff did not return the money. The contention of the defense was that the power of attorney given by Dady to De Wyckoff was not special, but general; that Dady owed De Wyckoff more than $10,000, and that De Wyckoff was justified in applying the money to that account.

King Peter's Iron Hand.

Belgrade, Aug. 27.—King Peter is determined to suppress the military malcontents with an iron hand. On Tuesday three army colonels, two captains and a newspaper editor were condemned to death for participation in a plot which was discovered and rendered abortive. Despite this, however, the king is obviously in the hands of the recent regicides, who are causing a veritable reign of terror.

Miles a Guest of Veterans.

The Weirs, N. H., Aug. 27.—General Nelson A. Miles was the guest at the New Hampshire Veterans' association camp and spoke at the afternoon camp fire. A salute of 17 guns was fired in his honor and he was accorded a most enthusiastic greeting. General Miles confined his remarks chiefly to reminiscences of the Civil war and paid tribute to the part taken in that struggle by the troops from New England.

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

CHAPTER I.—Grenfall Lorry, a wealthor occupant who refuses or neglects to do quaintance with a charming foreign girl on the train from Denver to Washington. The pair are left behind when the fler stops for repairs in West Virginia. II.—Lorry wires ahead to hold the train. He and the unknown girl ride twenty miles at a tearing pace in a mountain coach. Lorry knows it is a dangerous ride. There is no love-making, but a near approach to it as the rolling stage tumbles the passengers about. III.—Lorry dines with the foreign party, consisting of Miss Guggenslocker, Uncle Caspar and Aunt Yvonne. They are natives of Graustark, a country Lorry had never heard of before. IV.—Lorry shows the foreigners the sights of Washington. They leave for New York to sail on the Kaiser Wilhelm. Miss Guggenslocker naively calls Lorry her "Ideal American" and invites him to come and see her at Edelweiss. V.—Wildly infatuated, Lorry hurries to New York. The name Guggenslocker is not on the steamer list. He sees the steamer off. Miss G. waves him a kiss from the deck. VI.—Lorry joins his old friend, Harry Anguish, an American artist in Paris. Graustark and its capital Edelweiss, are located by a gulde book. The Americans get no trace of the Guggenslockers there. VII.—Lorry sees his charmer driving in a carriage with a beautiful companion of her own sex. He gets a glance of recognition, but the carriage rolls on, leaving the mystery unsolved. Later he receives a note at his hotel signed Sophia Guggenslocker, inviting him to visit her next day. VIII.—In the evening Lorry and Anguish ramble about the grounds of the castle where dwells the court of the princess of Graustark. They overhear a plot to abduct the princess and resolve to capture the plotters red handed. IX.—Following the conspirators, Lorry finds himself in a room he heard them designate as that of the princess. X.—Lorry tells the princess of the plot. Mutual recognition; she is Miss Guggenslocker. Dannox, the guard, is in the abduction plot. He fells Lorry with a terrible blow. Anguish to the rescue. XI.—Lorry quartered in the castle. The princess visits him, but forbids all talk of love. XII.—Graustark is bankrupt and owes the neighboring princedom of Axphain $30,000,000. The creditor demands cash or the cession of the richest districts of Graustark. XIII.—The Prince of Axphain offers to extend the loan if the princess will marry his son Lorenz. Prince Gabriel, of Dawsbergen, also bids for the princess' hand with offer of a loan. Yetive tells Lorry that she belongs to her people and will marry Lorenz. XIV.—Lorry discovered kissing the princess while she is seated on the throne. He quits the castle by royal command. XV.—Betrothal of the princess to Lorenz. The Americans recognize Gabriel as chief conspirator in the abduction plot. XVI.—Lorenz toasts the princess lightly in a cafe. Lorry dashes the glass from his hand. Challenge to a duel. Lorenz assassinated. Lorry charged with the crime. XVII.—Princess Yetive commits Lorry to prison. All Graustark rejoices at the death of Lorenz. XVIII and XIX.—The princess helps Lorry to escape.

With Lorry in the center, the trio walked off rapidly in the darkness, the fugitive with the sense of fear that belongs only to a blind man. A little light far ahead told the position of the gate, and for this they bent their steps. Reaching the gate, the captain pounded vigorously, and a sleepy monk soon peered from the little window through which shone the light.

"On important business with the abbot, from her royal highness the Princess Yetive," said Quinnox in response to a sharp query, spoken in the Graustark tongue. A little gate beside the big one opened, and the monk, lantern in hand, bade them enter.

"Await me here, captain," commanded the slim, straight soldier, with face turned from the light. A moment later the gate closed, and Lorry was behind the walls of St. Valentine's, a prisoner again. The monk preceded them across the dark court toward the great black mass, his lantern creating ghastly shadows against the broken mist. His followers dropped some little distance behind, the tall one's arm stealing about the other's waist, his head bending to a level with hers.

"Is it to be goodby, dearest?" he asked. "Goodby forever?"

"I cannot say that. It would be like wishing you dead. Yet there is no hope. No, no! We will not say goodby—forever," she said despairingly.

"Impossible! You will stay here until Quinnox comes to take you away. Then you must not stop until you are in your own land. We may meet again"—

"Yes, by my soul, we shall meet again! I'll do as you bid and all that, but I'll come back when I can stay away no longer. Go to your castle and look forward to the day that will find me at your feet again. It is bound to come."

They passed inside the massive doors and halted. "You must remain here until I have seen the prior," she said, laughing nervously and glancing down at the boots which showed beneath the long coat. Then she hastily followed the monk, disappearing down the corridor. In ten minutes—ten hours to Lorry—she returned with her guide.

"He will take you to your room," she said breathlessly, displaying unmistakable signs of embarrassment. "Goodby, and God be with you always. Remember, I love you."

The monk's back was turned, so the new recluse snatched the slight figure to his heart.

"Some day?" he whispered.

She would not speak, but he held her until she nodded her head.

CHAPTER XX.

THE APPROACHING ORDEAL.

"THE American has escaped!" was the cry that spread through Edelweiss the next morning.

It brought undisguised relief to the faces of thousands. There was not one who upbraided Baron Dangloss for his astounding negligence. Never before had a criminal escaped from the tower. The only excuse, uttered in woebegone tone, was that the prison had not been constructed or manned for such clever scoundrels as Yankees—good name for audacity.

The full story of the daring break for liberty flashed from lip to lip during the day, and it was known all over the water swept city before noon. Baron Dangloss himself had gone to the prisoner's cell early in the morning, mystified by the continued absence of the guard. The door was locked, but from within came groans and cries. Alarmed at once, the captain procured duplicate keys and entered the cell. There he found the helpless, blood covered Ogbot, bound hand and foot and almost dead from loss of blood. The clothes of the American were on the floor, while his own were missing, gone with the prisoner.

Ogbot as soon as he was able related his experience of the night before. It was while making his rounds at midnight that he heard moans from the cell. Animated by a feeling of pity, he opened the slab door and asked if he were ill. The wretched American was lying on the bed, apparently suffering. He said something which the guard could not understand, but which he took to be a plea for assistance. Not suspecting a trick, the kindly guard unlocked the second door and stepped to the bedside only to have the sick man rise suddenly and deal him a treacherous blow over the head with the heavy stool he had secreted behind him. Ogbot knew nothing of what followed, so effective was the blow. When he regained consciousness, he was lying on the bed just as the captain had found him. The poor fellow, overwhelmed by the enormity of his mistake, begged Dangloss to shoot him at once. But Dangloss had him conveyed to the hospital ward and tenderly cared for.

Three guards in one of the offices saw a man whom they supposed to be Ogbot pass from the prison shortly after 12, and the mortified chief admitted that some one had gone through his private apartment. As the prisoner had taken Ogbot's keys, he experienced little difficulty in getting outside the gates. But, vowed Dangloss stormily, he should be recaptured if it required the efforts of all the policemen in Edelweiss. The chagrin of the grim old captain, who had never lost a prisoner, was pitiful to behold.

The forenoon was half over before Harry Anguish heard of his friend's escape. To say that he was paralyzed would be putting it much too mildly. There is no language that can adequately describe his sensations. Forgetting his bodyguard, he tore down the street toward the prison, wild with anxiety and doubt. He met Baron Dangloss, tired and worn, near the gate, but the old officer could tell him nothing except what he had learned from

Ogbot. Of one thing there could be no doubt—Lorry was gone. Not knowing where to turn or what to do, Anguish raced off to the castle, his bodyguard having located him in the meantime. He was more in need of their protection than ever.

At the castle gates he encountered a party of raving Axphainians, crazed with anger over the flight of the man whose life they had thirsted for so ravenously. Had he been unprotected Anguish would have fared badly at their hands, for they were outspoken in their assertions that he had aided Lorry in the escape. One fiery little fellow cast a glove in the American's face and expected a challenge. Anguish snapped his fingers and sarcastically invited the insulter to meet him next winter in a battle with snowballs, upon which the aggressor blasphemed in three languages and 300 gestures. Anguish and his men passed inside the gates, which had been barred to the others, and struck out rapidly for the castle doors.

The Princess Yetive was sleeping soundly, peacefully, with a smile on her lips, when her prime minister sent an excited attendant to inform her of the prisoner's escape. She sat up in bed, and, with her hands clasped about her knees, sleepily announced that she would receive him after her coffee was served. Then she summoned her maids.

Her uncle and aunt, the Countess Dagmar (whose merry brown eyes were so full of pretended dismay that the princess could scarcely restrain a smile), and Gaspon, the minister of finance, were awaiting her appearance. She heard the count's story of the escape, marveled at the prisoner's audacity and firmly announced that everything possible should be done to apprehend him. With a perplexed frown on her brow and a dubious twist to her lips, she said:

"I suppose I must offer a reward?"

"Certainly!" exclaimed her uncle.

"For the murderer of a prince?" demanded Gaspon. "It would be absurd, your highness. He is a most important person."

"Quite so. He is a most important person. I think I'll offer 5,000 gavvos."

"More like it. He is worth that, at least," agreed Uncle Caspar.

"Beyond a doubt," sanctioned Gaspon.

"I am glad you do not consider me extravagant," she said demurely. "You may have the placards printed at once," she went on, addressing the treasurer. "Say that a reward of 5,000 gavvos will be paid to the person who delivers Grenfall Lorry to me."

"Would it not be better to say 'delivers Grenfall Lorry to the tower?'" submitted Gaspon.

"You may say 'to the undersigned' and sign my name," she said reflectively.

"Very well, your highness. They shall be struck off this morning."

"In large type, Gaspon. You must catch him if you can," she added. "He is a very dangerous man, and royalty needs protection." With this wise bit of caution she dismissed the subject and began to talk of the storm.

As the two young plotters were hastening up the stairs later on an attendant approached and informed the princess that Mr. Anguish requested an audience.

"Conduct him to my boudoir," she said, her eyes sparkling with triumph. In the seclusion of the boudoir she and the countess laughed like children over the reward that had been so solemnly ordered.

"Five thousand gavvos!" cried Dagmar, leaning back in her chair to emphasize the delight she felt. "What a joke!"

Tap, tap, came a knock on the door, and in the same instant it flew open, for Mr. Anguish was in a hurry. As he plunged into their presence a pair of heels found the floor spasmodically.

"Oh, I beg pardon!" he gasped as if about to fly. "May I come in?"

"Not unless you go outside. You are already in, it seems," said the princess, advancing to meet him. The countess was very still and sedate. "I am so glad you have come."

"Heard about Lorry? The fool is out and gone!" he cried, unable to restrain himself. Without a word she dragged him to the divan, and, between them, he soon had the whole story poured into his ears, the princess on one side, the countess on the other.

"You are a wonder!" he exclaimed when all the facts were known to him. He executed a little dance of approval, entirely out of place in the boudoir of a princess, but very much in touch with prevailing sentiment. "But what's to become of me?" he asked after cooling down. "I have no excuse for remaining in Graustark, and I don't like to leave him here either."

"Oh, I have made plans for you," said she. "You are to be held as hostage."

"What!"

"I thought of your predicament last night, and here is the solution: This very day I shall issue an order forbidding you the right to leave Edelweiss. You will not be in prison, but your every movement is to be watched. A strong guard will have you under surveillance, and any attempt to escape or to communicate with your friend will result in your confinement and his detection. In this way you may stay here until the time comes to fly. The Axphain people must be satisfied, you know. Your freedom will not be disturbed. You may come and go as you like, but you are ostensibly a prisoner. By detaining you forcibly we gain a point, for you are needed here. There is no other way in which you can explain a continued presence in Graustark. Is not my plan a good one?"

"It is beyond comparison," he said, rising and bowing low. "So shrewd is this plan that you make me a hostage forever. I shall not escape its memory if I live to be a thousand."

At parting she said seriously:

"A great deal depends on your discretion, Mr. Anguish. My guards will watch your every action, for they are not in the secret—excepting Quinnox—and any attempt on your part to communicate with Grenfall Lorry will be fatal."

"Trust me, your highness. I have had much instruction in wisdom today."

"I hope we shall see you often," she said.

"Daily—as a hostage," he replied glancing toward the countess.

"That means until the other man is captured," said the young lady saucily.

As he left the castle he gazed at the distant building in the sky and wondered how it had ever been approached in a carriage. She had not told him that Allode drove for miles over winding roads that led to the monastery up a gentler slope from the rear.

The next afternoon Edelweiss thrilled with a new excitement. Prince Bolaroz of Axphain, mad with grief and rage, came thundering into the city with his court at his heels. His wrath had been increased until it resembled a tornado when he read the reward placard in the uplands. Not until then did he know that the murderer had escaped and that vengeance might be denied him.

After viewing the body of Lorenz as it lay in the sarcophagus of the royal palace, where it had been borne at the command of the Princess Yetive, he demanded audience with his son's betrothed, and it was with fear that she prepared for the trying ordeal, an interview with the grief crazed old man. The castle was in a furore. Its halls soon thronged with diplomatists and there was an ugly sense of trouble in the air, suggestive of the explosion which follows the igniting of a powder magazine.

The slim, pale faced princess met the burly old ruler in the grand council chamber. He and his nobles had been kept waiting but a short time. Within a very few minutes after they had been conducted to the chamber by Count Halfont and other dignitaries the fair ruler came into the room and advanced between the bowing lines of courtiers to the spot where sat the man who held Graustark in his grasp.

Bolaroz arose as she drew near, his gaunt face black and unfriendly. She extended her hand graciously, and he, a prince for all his wrath, touched his trembling lips to its white, smooth back.

"I come in grief and sadness to your court, most glorious Yetive. My burden of sorrow is greater than I can bear," he said hoarsely.

"Would that I could give you consolation," she said, sitting in the chair reserved for her use at council gatherings. "Alas, it grieves me that I can offer nothing more than words." Truly she pitied him in his bereavement.

Bolaroz said that he had heard of the murderer's escape and asked what effort was being made to recapture him. Yetive related all that had happened, expressing humiliation over the fact that her officers had been unable to accomplish anything, adding that she did not believe the fugitive could get away from Graustark safely without her knowledge. The old prince was working himself back into the violent rage that had been temporarily subdued, and at last broke out in a vicious denunciation of the carelessness that had allowed the man to escape. He first insisted that Dangloss and his incompetent assistants be thrown into prison for life or executed for criminal negligence; then he demanded the life of Harry Anguish as an aider and abettor in the flight of the murderer. In both cases the princess firmly refused to take the action demanded. Then she acquainted him with her intention to detain Anguish as hostage and to have his every action watched in the hope that a clew to the whereabouts of the fugitive might be discovered, providing, of course, that the friend knew anything at all about the matter. The Duke of Mizrox and others loudly joined in the cry for Anguish's arrest, but she bravely held out against them and in the end curtly informed them that the American, whom she believed to be innocent of all complicity in the escape, should be subjected to no indignity other than detention in the city under guard, as she had ordered.

$1650 Six rooms, slate roof front, back and side porticos, grained inside, well arranged, comfortable and convenient. Good cellar, drilled well with force pump. Lot 40x100. Commands a fine view, is easy of access, within one minute's walk of north side street car line. It is located one-half square east of the Calcutta road just beyond Riverview cemetery. Terms—$450 down; balance $10 per month.

Other properties we would note as follows as being on sale with us (particulars furnished upon inquiry). Ten room brick house, lot 33x133, Sixth street, $5,200; new ten room house, lot 40x100, Ogden street, $2,500; six room modern house, Spring street, $2,900; four rooms, water and gas, lot 30x100 Minerva street, $1,850; ten room modern double house near Second street, $3,000; four rooms, new, just completed, McKinnon addition, $1,200; three rooms and small lot, Cadmus street, $700; two rooms and large lot Gardendale, $400; four rooms, lot 30x100, Pennsylvania avenue, East End, $1,450; six rooms, new, Sheridan avenue, $2,750; five rooms, pantry, lot 30x100, Bradshaw avenue, $1,850; six rooms, furnace, gas, lot 30x100, Eighth street, $2,400; four rooms, just new, Oakland addition, $1,200; four rooms, new, Maple street, East End, $1,250; four rooms, Ohio avenue, East End, $1,750; seven rooms and five rooms on Third street, $5,500; seven rooms on Pine street, $2,500.

Restaurant and dwelling of 12 rooms furnished in part. Well suited and located for a boarding or mealing house. See us for terms and price.

We have 25 times as many more properties. Call and see us about any or all of them. We will sell on terms to suit your income. Why pay rent when you can own a home? Don't you know that by paying a dollar on each $100 you owe will wipe out the debt and interest in ten years? For instance, fifteen dollars paid monthly for ten years will pay off a $1,500 debt and interest. It's not how much money one spends but how one spends it that makes one's financial weal or woe.

"This new line will be the first electric property to have a separate right of way through a city for the handling of freight. In Youngstown they will have a freight track separate from the street line, which will connect with the belt line and with all of the railroads in that city. Backers of the Youngstown & Southern own 2,300 acres of coal land near East Liverpool, which produces North Lima coal, a fuel of about the same grade as the Palmyra, which was recently exhausted. In addition the same parties own about 3,000 acres of land, producing West Point coal of about equal grade with the production from the Massillon district. This fuel is to be marketed in Youngstown and the surplus sent out over the various railroads with which the Youngstown & Southern will connect.

"The liabilities of the company will amount to $1,800,000 of stock and $1,500,000 of 5 per cent bonds. These bonds have been underwritten very largely in Boston. Construction work has been under way for four months and will hardly be completed for 18 months or two years. The matter of a connection with other properties is one for future consideration."

WOMEN LITIGANTS BEFORE THE MAYOR

Mayor Weaver is making a record for handling petty cases, those in which women are mostly the participants, occurring generally in backyards and the kind that former chief executives have been only too glad to dismiss. The present incumbent has no kick coming, however, very few of the cases failing to fatten his purse to the extent of $3 or more.

Besides a number that he has on the docket awaiting the law the mayor gave out the following this afternoon: Mrs. Ella Powell versus Mrs. Mary Lynch, Mrs. Gertrude Short versus Mrs. John Frye and Mrs. Anna Stilwell versus her husband. Mrs. Powell alleges that Mrs. Lynch was very disorderly and that she used profane and indecent language. Mrs. Frye pleaded guilty to "cussin'" Mrs. Short and was fined $1 and costs. Mrs. Stilwell charges her husband with all kinds of cruelty. She says he gets drunk and fails to provide for her and that he must be turned away from their household. Mrs. Stilwell has employed the mayor as her attorney and will file a suit for divorce if she can get together enough charges to insure a victory in the courts.

A woman of Second street, who failed to leave her card, complained this morning that neighbor women were tormenting her nigh unto death. She said they swore so terribly that she could not eat breakfast this morning. One of them, she said, is bent on fastening a clothes line to her fence, too.

The mayor takes all such cases without protest and feels that he is being well rewarded.

Sandy Hook, August 27.—(Special.)—The Reliance will win with ease today, according to all indications, and the great prize cup will be in the hands of American sportsmen for at least two more years, making 53 consecutive years that England yachtsmen have bowed before triumphant Americans.

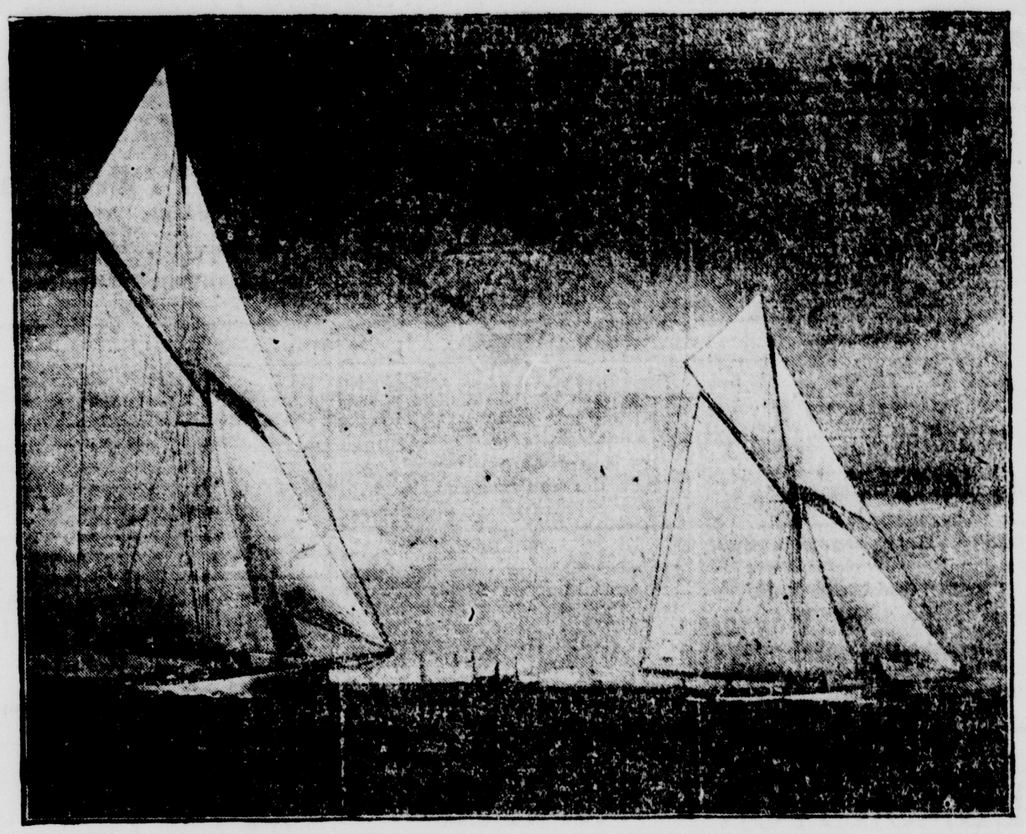

The race today was witnessed by thousands of most enthusiastic people, scores of boats being filled to their uttermost all along the line of the race. The boats, both in perfect condition, commenced getting ready for the heat early, and no racers ever looked prettier than they when the starting line was nearing. It was a windward and leeward battle.

The Reliance crossed the line first at 11:02, the Shamrock following a minute later. The wind was blowing 5½ miles per hour, the sea was calm and the weather excellent.

The advantage gained by the defender in her start was never overcome at any stage by the Shamrock, but for an hour or so there was not much difference in speed noted. At 12:30 the Reliance was a mile in the lead. Until 1 o'clock neither boat seemed to gain a point when the Reliance started rapidly to increase the span and at 2 o'clock was leading by 6 minutes.

The latest bulletin states that the Shamrock has gained slightly and the Reliance is only 4 minutes ahead.

As has been stated in the News Review, the Youngstown & Southern Railway company is preparing to haul coal from the North Lima coal fields as soon as the line which is now under process of construction has reached that point. The company has located the openings for the mines and will begin selling coal in Youngstown as soon as possible. The Cleveland Leader says regarding it:

"The Youngstown & Southern company is negotiating with builders of electric locomotives for three engines of the heaviest type. It is expected that these will be able to haul 20 cars each loaded with 50 tons of coal. The company is also negotiating with some car builders for heavy steel cars of 40 and 50 tons' carrying capacity. They will have hopper bottoms and all arrangements for the convenient handling of coal usually provided for the steam railroads. This equipment is being provided to drain some new coal fields in the East Liverpool district at present served by no railroad. The intention of the Youngstown & Southern company is to build a low grade road from Youngstown to East Liverpool, the maximum grade being less than 2 per cent. The engines, which have been negotiated for, although not yet purchased, will be able

MATTERS GROWING WORSE

The garbage situation in the city remains unchanged, nearly every street and alley outside the central district containing an unlimited amount of fever-breeding offal and the residents living on such thoroughfares being absolutely without recourse. They are at the mercy of the city council, and if the action of that body continues no more speedy than in the past they will be enwrapped by the same conditions for months to come.

Reports by the score are heard at the city hall every day from suffering humanity, and while objections are being raised concerning the derelict officials, there seems to be nothing doing relative to assisting the endangered ones. It is true that a committee was appointed by council Tuesday evening to confer with the city solicitor regarding the conditions, but the people do not feel that this was bringing the issue to an end. They knew by experience that committees galore have been appointed since last May, and they know that the garbage question is many fold worse now than it was then.

What the people want is definite action, and they want it to occur at once. Council knows the necessity of the action. An uprising will take place if the question is not finally settled soon. At least one member of council is cognizant of the need of a settlement. He stated on Tuesday evening that he had noticed for weeks the conditions in California hollow and pronounced them deplorable. "Garbage haulers are disposing of the filth in conspicuous places in the hollow," he said, "and not only is the stench disgusting, but the miles of dirt are running over with the germs that produce fever. In fact, there is one family living in the neighborhood at the present time at the mercy of the dreaded fever. I feel that something should be done."

"This councilman's assertion," said a prominent citizen, "should awaken the body to quick action. When the lives of the community are at stake something is due from the officials in charge. The councilmen have promised to awake at the next meeting, and they are urged to not let it pass. If they do the city will be completely helpless, Manager Bursner, of the Sanitary Reduction company, making the positive statement that he will shut down his plant on the day following council meeting if a contract is not closed with him. He has submitted his figures, both for disposing and collecting, and has agreed to file a surety bond, and it is now up to council to do the rest."

At the congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church last evening, Rev. J. N. Swan presided and George C. Murphy acted as clerk. The resignation of Rev. Charles G. Jordan was formally accepted. Prof. R. E. Rayman, for the committee of the session to recommend a successor as pastor, reported that the committee were unanimously in favor of extending a call to Rev. Dr. John Montgomery, of Findlay. He is a graduate of Princeton and ranks high among the ministerial workers in Ohio.

The report of the committee was accepted, with only 12 opposing votes. Afterward the choice of the committee was made unanimous. A committee consisting of Messrs. Croxall, Stoddard and Warner, was appointed to dratt resolution in commendation of Pastor Jordan's work in the church. It was decided that Dr. Montgomery's work should begin as soon as Mr. Jordan's resignation took effect, and he is expected to enter upon his pastorate in October. The salary was fixed at $2,500, as at present.

The call will be reported to the Steubenville presbytery, which meets at Smithfield September 14, and arrangements will then be made for the installation.

On the Charge of Pointing Firearms He Is Given a Stiff Sentence.

Edward O'Connor pleaded guilty yesterday at 5 p. m. before Mayor Weaver to the charge of resisting an officer and pointing firearms. The mayor imposed a fine of $40 and costs, upon the defendant's attorney waiving the right of a trial by a jury.

The charge against O'Connor, it will be remembered, was preferred by Officer Dawson, who with several other policemen arrested O'Connor a month ago after he had terrified his mother and others around his home on Monroe street. He was fined $10 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct, the day following his arrest.

Mrs. Leach Still Missing.

Park Leach, the Wellsville restaurant keeper, who reported the elopement of his wife with an oil man, at central station Tuesday evening, is yet on the hunt for her. She was located in this city yesterday morning, but before the police got on her trail she had gone to West Virginia. She was heard from at Empire and the husband left for that point.

OPTIONS CLOSED ON LARGE TRACT OF COAL LAND

Irondale, August 27.—(Special)—That the Irondale Mining company is to become one of the largest and most important corporations of Eastern Ohio, was clearly shown yesterday when options on 1,500 acres of land, valuable for the coal and clay deposits, were taken up. The deals closed yesterday are of considerable magnitude, involving the expenditure of many thousands of dollars. Some time ago the company closed options on a tract of coal land and soon commenced upon its development, the first mine having been in operation a month or more and now producing 200 tons of coal per day.

The property secured by the company yesterday lies to the west and northwest of this town, although a portion of it is within the city limits. Experts have declared it to be very rich in both coal and clay and the topography of the land is such as to render both deposits easy of access.

It is the intention of the company at once to proceed with the development of the lands secured yesterday and with this end in view the contract has already been placed for an electrical equipment for the operation of a new mine. The openings to the coal veins will be started within the next few days.

These improvements will give the coal company a producing capacity of 1,000 tons of coal a day and will make it one of the largest in this section of the state. The enlargement will result in quite a boom for this city as several hundred men will be added to the company's payroll.

The Irondale Mining company was organized in May of this year with a capital of $300,000. The officers are: John A. Woods, Jr., of Pittsburg, president, E. W. Hill, of East Liverpool, vice president; F. L. Head, of Irondale, secretary and treasurer, and K. Head, of Irondale, general manager. A. D. Hill, of East Liverpool, is one of the directors. Under the direction of Manager Head, who is one of the best posted men in the coal business in the state, the company has made wonderful progress during the short period since it was organized and if nothing hinders the improvements mentioned above will make the record all the more remarkable.

Quite a number of Chester people were interested in the deals closed yesterday, they holding several small sections of the property taken up.

It was stated today that a mammoth sewer pipe works is soon to be built upon the property of the company by well known capitalists who will pay a royalty for the clays. The mining company, it is stated, is not interested in this project.

BEEF DAVIS ARRESTED ON THE USUAL CHARGE

James W. ("Beef") Davis, of Vine street, was arrested last night by Officer Morris on a charge of assault, preferred against him by his wife. He was released on his own recognizance to appear this morning, but was not compelled to do so, a friend of influence interceding and having his hearing postponed until next Saturday.

When she filed the charge, Mrs. Davis showed signs of having been roughly treated, marks being plainly visible on her neck and face. She claimed that Davis upon arriving at their home on Monday night gave her the worst licking of her life. She also claimed that she was not in the least to blame. However, this statement needs qualification, according to people living in the vicinity of the Davis home. The actions of the pair have become almost unabearable to their neighbors and it is the wish of all that some other locality be selected by them as a battle ground.

Salem Case Appealed.

Lisbon, August 27.—(Special.)—The case of Norman M. May vs. Robert Trimble and others, of Salem, in which the court gave a decision for the plaintiff some time ago, has been appealed. May had inherited an interest in Salem property by descent through his wife, who was a Trimble, and the court held that he was entitled to her full one-fourth interest, also decreeing the partition of the property at Main and Chestnut streets in Salem, which includes the Trimble business block.

CLARKE AND HANNA LISBONS SONS

Success of the Democratic Aspirant Due to Johnson's Friendship.

Columbus, August 27.—(Special)—The village of Lisbon gives to Ohio this year two candidates for the honored position of United States senator, the highest within her gift—Hon. Marcus A. Hanna and Hon. John H Clarke, both of whom first saw the light of day in that quaint, historical town. Yesterday afternoon, after a contest replete with stirring scenes,, the Democratic state convention named Hon. John H. Clarke as the man to oppose Hon. Marcus A. Hanna, candidate of the Republican party, for the office of United States senator.

It is somewhat singular that both men should be born in the same community, in after years should be neighbors in a city and should be pitted against each other by the rival big political parties for the greatest honor the state can confer. Mr. Clarke owes his success to his matchless oratory and to the help given him by Mayor Tom Johnson, of Cleveland.

RAILWAY FOREMAN BADLY INJUREO

Struck Violently With a Heavy Rope Attached to an Automatic Shovel.

An accident that might have resulted much more seriously befell M. W. Kelleher, a foreman in the employ of the contractors engaged in building the stone culverts for the C. & P., yesterday afternoon near Ralston crossing. As it is he is laid up with injuries of a rather serious nature and may not be able to resume his duties for several weeks.

Kelleher was standing upon the stone abutment of the culvert, directing the men in their work when he was struck violently with a heavy rope, attached to the automatic shovel. The force of the blow was so great that he was knocked from his position and fell to the ground, many feet beneath.

The injured man was picked up in a half conscious condition and taken to the office of Dr. R. J. Marshall. It was found that he was badly hurt about the arms and legs, but no bones were broken.

AT WORK REBUILDING BURNED BRICK PLANT

Harvey McHenry, of East Liverpool, and five carpenters, are now at Irondaye at work on the building of the Porter brick plant, to replace the structure burned recently. Mr. McHenry has the contract for the wood work and proposes to put on a large force and rush the work to completion.

The new building will be largely composed of iron and brick and made as nearly fireproof as possible.

Miss Leonora Ball, of Pennsylvania avenue, East End, was painfully hurt early this morning while en route in a buggy to the Hookstown fair. The horse became frightened at a street car along the avenue between Wedgwood and Andrews avenues, and Miss Ball lost control of him. The frightened animal tried to run away, but the buggy struck a post, throwing Miss Ball and her companion to the ground. Miss McKinnon was not hurt, but Miss Ball's right arm was badly sprained and she was bruised and stunned.

The injured girl was carried into the home of Ben Mankins, where she awaited the arrival of a physician. Dr. Marshall rendered the necessary attendance.

DELAY IN BOND SALE IS UNPROFITABLE

Any Premium Possible Is Being Eaten Up By Innterest Charges.

The failure of council to sell the $92,925 worth of bonds is costing the taxpayers money. The city is paying interest on borrowed money at the rate of 7 per cent, and the amount is accumulating fast. Several of the councilmen stated that they wanted to hold the sale of the bonds up until sufficient money could be secured to pay for the printing of the bonds. They evidently did not take into consideration that the printing will cost less than $50, and that this amount is overbalanced already by interest.

TEAM TOOK FRIGHT AT A WHEELBARROW

Taking fright at a wheelbarrow being pushed dirctly at them by a boy who was runing at brekneck speed down Bradshaw avenue, two horses attached to a delivery wagon of Faulk Bros. & Co., the millers, wheeled abruptly from where they were left standing by their driver, John McDole, and ran down the avenue shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, quite seriously injuring two persons and causing damage estimated at nerly $200.

McDole was delivering some feed to a resident of Bradshaw avenue and had alighted from the wagon. The horses are ordinarily very peaceable and it was thought they would not become frightened at anything. The movement of the wheelbarrow and the noise it made was new to them, however, and before the driver could interfere they had turned completely around and were dashing at a terrible rate down toward the bottom of the hill, which is some places is very steep. People rushed wildly to their doors upon hearing the crash of wheels against big stones, and most of the persons on the street made a hasty exit. Charles Todd, driver of a wagon owned by Jones & Sellers, grocers, made a desperate attempt to get off the avenue and escape a collision with the frightened team, but he was not fast enough.

Charging down the narrow roadway with terrible fury, the horses seemingly made a bee-line for the Jones & Sellers wagon, and though the driver was tugging with all his might on the lines he was unable to get the grocery wagon out of danger. Onward the team sped and while spectators stood breathless they dashed into the grocery wagon, cutting a number of deep gashes in the horse's body, throwing Todd violently to the ground and smashing the frail wagon into smithereens.

Having wrecked as much damage as possible at this point, the wild team continued its mad rush and stopped only upon a collision with a water plug near the K., T. & K. pottery. The collision badly damaged the big mill wagon, bruised the horses considerably and broke off the water plug. The horses were then powerless to go further and their driver soon caught up with them, preventing any further excitement.

WAR DOGS WATCHING

Navy Theoretically Lost Several Vessels in an Attack in the Morning.

MIMIC WAR GOES MERRILY ON

Portland, Me., Aug. 27.—At 10 o'clock last night the war maneuvers had again developed into a watching and waiting game for the defending forces just as before the mimic war was declared. At 7 o'clock the greater part of Admiral Barker's fleet was anchored off Goose island, about 10 miles from Fort McKinley, the eastermost of the protecting fortifications.

A demonstration, claimed by the army to be a day attack and by the navy a night attack, was made by the fleet early in the morning. The attack was repulsed with a theoretical loss of several vessels to the fleet.

The preliminary attack directly after midnight was made by landing parties; the later attack, which ended at 6 a. m., was made by two sections of the fleet, which attempted to force simultaneously the passages leading into the harbor. The fleet mobilized off Goose island and remained there all day.

During the early part of the evening there had been no open hostilities, but firing was heard shortly after 10 o'clock.

Moody Talks of Maneuvers.

Haverhill, Mass., Aug. 27.—Secretary of the Navy Moody was the chief guest of the boards of trades of the cities of the Merrimac Valley in Groveland and spoke briefly upon the navy and the present policy of the administration. Referring to the present war maneuvers, the secretary said:

"They are not for show or spectacle. The fact that they are a spectacle is the chief objection to them, but they are to train officers and men, because there is no other way in which they can be so well trained.

"There is an especial interest in these maneuvers for the people of New England. South of the Potomac there are few deep harbors, but as you come north the number and depth of the harbors increase until between Provincetown and Eastport there are more deep harbors than on other parts of our coast line.

"This is the most vulnerable part of our coast line, and because of the fact that upon each harbor stands a populous city representing in population and property vast interests of the nation, it becomes a part of the nation's duty to defend that property, and so these maneuvers are being held off this coast in order that the officers and men in our fleet may be trained to the defense of these cities and may have the opportunity by actual experience to learn the lesson which can be taught in no other way."

Cloudbursts Flood Council Bluffs.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 27.—Two cloudbursts destroyed hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property in this city. The first storm turned the streets of the city into torrents and hundreds of families in the lower districts were removed with difficulty. Many business houses were flooded by the first storm and the damage to stocks will amount into the thousands. Another storm later in the evening raised the water still higher and many stocks were badly damaged. The loss in this city alone is estimated at easily half a million dollars. The rainfall here will amount to six inches. The Northwestern, Rock Island and Milwaukee roads are tied up and not running trains either in or out of the city.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 27.—Bass Cook shot and killed Noah Sloan near Oceana, W. Va. Both are well-known citizens of Wyoming county, and the altercation which led to the killing was over 30 cents, which Sloan claimed Cook owed him. Sloan went to Cook's home armed with a revolver. The latter saw Sloan approaching and fired upon him.

News and Notes About The Potteries

CONFEREES OUT OF TOWN.

President T. J. Duffy, of the N. B. of O. P., tried yesterday to arrange for a meeting this week between the committees representing the operatives and the manufacturers, but was not successful, owing to the absence from the city of Messrs. W. L. Smith and W. E. Wells, both of whom are members of the manufacturers' committee. If the gentlemen return in time a meeting may yet be arranged for, and if not it will be arranged for next week. President Duffy announced yesterday afternoon that the result of the referendum vote on the propositions submitted from the recent sessions of the committees would not be made known until the two committees get together.

FAREWELL SOCIAL.

Lisbon, August 27.—(Special.)—The few former employes of the Thomas China company's plant yet remaining in Lisbon held a farewell social last evening in a vacant tenement house on East Washington street. About 40 were present, most of whom will have left town by the last of the week. The evening passed pleasantly with music and social amusements.

The plants is temporarily closed on account of extensive repairs and renovations that are being made.

STARTING WELL.

The Hall China company, recently incorporated with a capital of $100,000, is starting under very favorable conditions if the amount of work being done at the plant is indicative. With the exception of the decorating department, which naturally is the last to get under full sway, the plant is running in all departments. William Meakin, foreman of the clay shop, who same to the plant from Murphy's, is making an excellent showing.

SUDDEN ILLNESS.

Charles Henderson, of the warehouse at the Dresden, was taken very suddenly and seriously ill while at his work yesterday morning and for a time his condition was alarming. Those near him at the plant worked with him until the arrival of a physician, when he revived sufficiently to be removed to his home on Fourth street. He is much better today.

EXPECT TO HEAR OF IT.

PARKER CHANGES.

POTTERY NOTES.

The Vulcan Brick company has secured a contract for furnishing 800,000 paving brick.

Uhrichsville's Home Week.

Uhrichsville's first home week will be held September 21 to 27, inclusive. The town is making quite an effort to entertain handsomely all the former residents who may be there that week. Something especially interesting is scheduled for each day, and it is expected to be a grand reunion of all the living former residents who can get there that week.

EAST END

Two cars of a night freight train, east bound on the C. & P., were demolished in a wreck at 3 o'clock this morning just west of the Mulberry street crossing. The train crew escaped without injury. The wrecked cars were No. 3130, a flat loaded with dressed flag stones and No. 17,203, a box car, loaded with fertilizier. The woodwork of both cars was burning this morning after the contents had been removed.

The car carrying the stone was loaded too heavily, causing the car to jump the track, taking the box car directly in the rear with it. Fortunately the couplings parted or more cars would have been piled up. Both cars left the track to the south and struck the stone retaining wall with great force.

Nearly every slab of stone on the flat car was broken, adding much to the loss. The contents of the other wrecked car suffered but little. As a result of the track being blocked the early morning train was delayed three hours.

More Hookstown Visitors.

The threatening weather this morning did not deter several parties starting for the Hookstown fair and a great day is anticipated. From shortly after daylight until 9 o'clock the road to Hookstown was well sprinkled with vehicles. Among the East Enders who made the trip today were: Edward Searight, Miss Ida Betz, Mort Calhoun, Miss Edna Duncan, Pearl Finley, Ollie Hamilton, Mayme Randall, Samuel Searight, Joe Logan, Earl Horger, John White and wife, Charles White and wife, Helen McCain, Anna Searight, Miss Jennie Cowan, Fannie Jones and W. C. Supplee.

A New Industry.

According to a report in circulation this morning the East End is soon to have another industry and while not a great many men will be employed at first, it will add a great deal to the industrial reputation of the section. William Kinney, one of the most substantial citizens, it is reported, has already commenced preparations to become a mushroom farmer. He has secured a quantity of rotten wood and loam for mulching purposes and has had the gravel removed from his cellar, where he is to make the first attempt. In case the industry flourishes he will enlarge his farm and employ a number of assistants.

Rain May Interfere.

Manager Herbert, of the East End Grays, was a close observer of the weather indications this morning as the second of the series of games between his team and the Carroll club is scheduled for this afternon at Columbian park. In case rain prevents the contest it will be deferred until Saturday and the game that was scheduled for that day will be played one day next week. Chambers was selected to do the pitching for the Grays today.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Joseph Webb is moving from Mulberry street to Greasley street, down town.

Mrs. Hardman, of the Klondike, is reported very seriously ill with lung trouble.

C. J. Mench, of Allegheny, is the guest of Walter C. Supplee and family, of Pennsylvania avenue.

Mrs. Potts, an aged and highly respected lady, living in the Klondike, is very ill with paralysis.

The ladies of the Aid Society, of the Erie street Methodist church, will give an ice cream social at the home of Mrs. Sarah Dawson, of St. George street, on Friday evening.

Rev. J. N. Swan has received word that his son, Rev. B. H. Swan, who has been attending the Bible conference at Winona Lake, Ind., has left, with his family, for a visit at West Bethany, N. Y. Another son, Rev. C. W. Swan, who was also attending the conference, left for his home in Shreve.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Bellville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

Cloudburst Caused Great Damage.

Frankfort, Kan., Aug. 27.—The damage to farms in Nemaha and Marshall counties by the cloudburst is greater than at first estimated and now is placed at $500,000. Great quantities of hay, wheat and oats in stack, besides wheat and corn in bins, were swept away, while many farmers lost all their cattle and hogs. Business at Frankfort is at a standstill. Dozens of bridges are out and wire communication with most of the flooded points is still interrupted. The Vermillion river has fallen 10 feet.

Body Recovered by Fisherman.

Nantucket, Mass., Aug. 27.—The body of Albert E. Sivyer, the 17-year-old son of F. W. Sivyer, of Milwaukee, who was drowned by the capsizing of a sailboat last Saturday, was found on the north shore of Coatue by Charles Stackpole, a Nantucket fisherman. A reward of $500 offered for the body will be paid to Stackpole.

A Woman's Complexion.

It is rank foolishness to, attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment, as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New size trial bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. POWERS APPEALED TO

Help Must Come Quickly or There Will Be None Left to Save—Resolutions Adopted—Iron Bridge Blown Up by Rebels—Wires Cut.

Sofia, Aug. 27.—An immense mass meeting of Macedonians took place here. The proceedings were most enthusiastic. It was resolved that a memorandum should be presented to the representatives of the great powers at Sofia urging their governments to take action.

The recent visit of the Russian squadron to Turkish waters was much commented on at the meeting. It was described as "a moment of sunshine which quickly passed." The speakers impassionedly appealed for the immediate intervention of the powers in Macedonia, declaring that if the pouring out of blood in Macedonia continued another fortnight Europe would find nobody there to save. The Bulgarian ministers were urged not to stand by while their brethren were dying in Macedonia.

The gathering was the largest yet held in Sofia. Most of the shops were closed during the meeting as a mark of sympathy with its objects.

Resolutions were also adopted thanking the publicists who have defended the cause of the Macedonians, regretting the hesitation on the part of Europe to take steps to ameliorate the lot of the Christians in Turkey, demanding the appointment of a powerful Christian governor who would insure security for the country, and inviting all Bulgarians to aid in securing the triumph of the work already commenced.

The Macedonian committee has issued a black-bordered list of 70 villages which have been pillaged and destroyed in the vilayet of Monastir, to which are added instances of revolting outrages perpetrated on women. The publication of this sheet has created a sensation.

No news has been received in official circles from the interior of Macedonia. The revolutionists at Kischevo are reported to have seven quick-firing guns. In a fight which has just occurred in that district the insurgents defeated and slaughtered an entire detachment of 80 soldiers. A Turkish courier carrying 40,000 francs intended for the pay of the troops has been captured by insurgents near Surovitchovo. The rebels have blown up an iron bridge over a deep ravine on the high road between Los Engrad and Demirdgehand.

Time Made In Fraction Over Fifty-Four Days—Lost Seven Days at Yokohama.

New York, Aug. 27.—Henry Frederick, who left here July 2 on the steamer Deutschland for a tour around the world with the hope of breaking the record for the shortest time consumed in circling the globe, has returned. Mr. Frederick had been successful in his endeavor, having made the circuit in 54 days, 7 hours and 26 minutes. In speaking of his trip he said:

"My object in making the trip was to see the quickest time a man could go around the world comfortably. The train ride from Paris to Dalny, China, consumed 18 days. Two days were spent crossing the Yellow sea and two more by rail across Japan. At Yokohama I missed my steamer by 10 hours and lost seven days, as I was compelled to take a slow boat two days later, which spent 16 days on the Pacific. I landed at Victoria and crossed the continent in a little over four days. This, with the Deutschland's fast time of six days across the Atlantic, made my record of 54 days."

ORDER CREATES SOME SURPRISE

Washington, Aug. 27.—An order from Public Printer Palmer was issued to the heads of divisions in the government printing office just before the hour for closing to appear before a notary public in the office and take the oath of allegiance of the United States as subscribed to by clerks under the civil service law.

Mr. Palmer said he had issued the order at the suggestion of a government official whose name he declined to give. He said that its object was to place the per diem employes in the same attitude toward the government as that of the clerks on annual salaries who have subscribed to the order. He said that every employe of the office would be affected by the order, but to prevent loss of time and confusion the chiefs of divisions were asked to take it immediately and that gradually the entire force would have the oath administered.

The issuance of the order created considerable surprise among the employes of the office, especially among members of the bookbinders' union, who believe it has indirectly a bearing on the issues growing out of the case of W. A. Miller, the assistant foreman of the bindery, who was discharged from the office because he had been expelled from the local bookbinders' union, but who was afterwards reinstated at the direction of President Roosevelt.

FAVOR DEVELOPMENT OF ALASKA

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 27.—The revenue cutter McCulloch dropped anchor in Victoria harbor from Nome, having on board the sub-committee of the senate committee on territories. The party is all well and report a very pleasant and profitable trip. The members of the committee are evidently persuaded that Alaska should have a delegate in congress, but probably are not prepared to make him elective.

The construction of a national highway from Valdez to Eagle by the government aid seems to be regarded with favor. It is believed, too, that the building of a wagon road through the interior from the south coast will stimulate the development of the country to such an extent as to hasten materially the time when private capital will construct a railroad over practically the same route.

The committee also seem inclined to favor taking practical steps to perpetuate salmon and other fisheries by having the government establish hatcheries to be supported by taxes levied on the canneries and other fisheries according to output. The committee spent the day here, going to Seattle in the evening, where they will separate for home.

Charged With Swindling Immigrants.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Provincial Detective Murray, of Toronto, made an application to the military authorities at Plattsburg barracks to have George H. Stewart, alias Curtis, alias Gudley, turned over to him for extradition to Canada to answer a charge of swindling immigrants just arriving in that country. Murray chased Stewart several hundred miles through New England, finally arresting him in Troy and turning him over to the military authorities as a deserter from the Ninth infantry. Stewart was to have been married Tuesday to a Plattsburg woman whom he met while in the army.

Thought Matches Were Coins.

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 27.—County Judge Bradford Almy committed Lewis Bloom, aged 76, to the state insane hospital at Willard. For several months Bloom has been possessed with the hallucination that matches are coins and as he had collected hundreds of boxes of them he considered himself possessed of fabulous wealth. His peculiarity was first noticed when he began attempting to make purchases with lucifers. He several times recently attempted to burn his house.

Disposed of Grievances.

New York, Aug. 27.—The board of conciliation, which opened the consideration of several matters in dispute between the anthracite coal miners and their employes, disposed of five grievances. One was the case of Martin Delaney, a contract miner who complained that the Philadelphia and Reading company violated its agreement. The board found for the company. On the complaint of George Robinson, engineer of Leisenring & Co., that he has not received the advance awarded by the strike commission, the board directed that he receive an advance of 11½ per cent.

Yellow Fever Epidemic.

Laredo, Tex., Aug. 27.—A letter was received in this city from a responsible resident of Linares, Mexico, in which he states that yellow fever exists at that place and that the death rate is now 14 a day. This information was given to the quarantine officials, both federal and state, of this city and they will take the matter up at once for investigation. Linares is a small town on the gulf, about three hours' ride from Monterey. The letter further said that people are fleeing from there in all directions as fast as they can get out.

Girl Killed in Runaway.

Pawtucket, R. I., Aug. 27.—Jennie Montague, aged 23, a telephone operator, is dead and her companion, John F. Bannon, aged 22, is violently insane as a result of a runaway accident. For half a mile the two young people clung to their seat in the carriage. Then the girl jumped and a hundred yards farther Bannon followed her example. Miss Montague died an hour later. Bannon escaped with painful body bruises, but as soon as he learned of his companion's condition he became violently insane.

Employes Negotiating for Peace.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Peace negotiations looking to a settlement of the strike which began last Monday are being sought by the restaurant employes. Meditators will be asked to sue for peace with the restaurant keepers association. The restaurant employes have retracted statements issued from the joint board that "influence" was used to secure the arbitration award which was unsatisfactory to the union and was responsible for the present strike.

East Africa for Jewish Colony.

Basel, Switzerland, Aug. 27.—The debate in the Zionist congress on the British proposal to set apart a portion of British East Africa for colonization by the Jews has closed. The congress adopted a resolution to appoint a committee of nine who should be sent on an expedition to East Africa to investigate the situation. The Russian delegates opposed the project and left the hall as a protest.

GREAT ROMANTIC PLAY COMING

Mr. Thomas B. Alexander, the young romantic actor, who achieved such a notable success in "The Prisoner of Zenda," is said to have a wonderfully fascinating play in the new romantic drama, "Near the Throne," in which he will appear this season, under the management of Verbeck and Smiley. The action of the play is supposed to take place during Nalopeon's conquest of Egypt, one of the most romantic, as well as the most exciting epochs of either ancient or modern history. Mr. Alexander assumes the role of a dashing young French cavalry officer of Napolon's staff. The play will be beautifully mounted and the luxurious splendor of the Orient reproduced most realistically. One of the scenes in particular, that showing the palace of Murad Bay, with the historic Nile and the pyramids in the background, forming one of the most beautiful pictures ever put on the stage. At the Grand opera house, Thursday, August 27.

The Democratic party of Ohio is characteristically Democratic in one respect. It makes no progressive step, but goes back into the past for a platform and issues. It reaffirms the Kansas City platform, which reaffirmed the Chicago platform. It therefore stands committed to every form of Bryanism—fifty cent dollars, condemnation of the United States supreme court, calamity howls and all the other Popocratic "issues" and notions upon which the party has met with two successive defeats. Progressive Democrats are aware that the country has no confidence in Bryanism and are shaking themselves free of his control. They are casting about for leaders whom the party can trust and issues upon which they can gain votes. Even the Iowa Democrats, who stood by Bryan in two campaigns, have now repudiated his doctrines utterly. But the Ohio Democracy, led by a demagogue whose theories are as wild and visionary as those of Bryan himself, if not more so, loses sight of the opportunity to show a progressive spirit, and reaffirms the doctrines that have weakened and disrupted its party. Tom Johnson ruled the convention and ruled it with a rod of iron. Conservative and progressive Democrats, if any still remain in Ohio, will be still further alienated and disgusted. The result of the Democratic convention at Columbus is eminently satisfactory to Republicans. How it can be satisfactory to Democrats who are not Populists, single tax men or socialists, passes comprehension.

The real issue in Ohio is whether a business man shall be governor or whether the visionary theorist who has plunged Cleveland into debt and increased other people's taxes while avoiding payment of his own shall have that honor. It won't take long to decide the matter and to forever eliminate Tom L. Johnson as a factor in state politics.

Turkey promises to restore order in Macedonia without outside assistance. The great powers of Europe know what Turkish promises are worth and will be foolish if they give this one any heed.

Pittsburg undoubtedly has good base ball players. Her clubs may learn in time that the theory that any team is good enough to send to East Liverpool is a most erroneous one.

If Sir Thomas Lipton cannot carry back the cup, he will take with him the good will and esteem of this country, and these are worth more than tarnished silver.

The Ohio Democracy is living up to its old record. It can do more blundering in a few minutes in a convention than it can repair in a year.

AT THE THEATER

Theater-goers braved the torrid weather of last night to attend the opening of the season at the Grand opera house. It was one of the best hot weather audiences in the history of the house, and is certainly indicative that the people are glad of the return of the theater season. While no great changes have taken place in the play house since the close of last season it had a very pleasing appearance.

The offering was a mammoth production of the stirring western drama "The Queen of the Highway," and that it was pleasing to the audience was readily seen from the continuous applause. The company was a strong one, evenly balanced and thoroughly competent to dramatically portray the many thrilling situations. The scenes were calculated to be realistic of the west in the days of the gold excitement and several rather unusual stage properties were introduced. In the canon scene the hero was surrounded with genuine wolves and at other places several ponies were seen upon the stage.

Lovers of the romantic drama will have the opportunity tonight to see one of the best of the year's productions, an entirely new play to the stage, "Near the Throne." The play is a dramatization of the book by that name, and the leading role was created by Thomas Alexander, who last season had such remarkable success as Rupert in Anthony Hope's "Prisoner of Zenda." The scene of "Near the Throne" is laid at Cairo, Egypt, during the time of Napoleon's invasion, a period rich in stirring incidents for dramatic writers. The company carries its own scenery for the entire production, and the costumes are said to be gorgeous.

The Philadelphia newspapers were the first great dailies of this country to call public attention to Thorold's novel, "Near the Throne," and to pronounce it new and unique. A Philadelphia firm of theatrical managers were the first to direct attention to "Near the Throne" as a play, the book being dramatized by the author and made a romantic spectacle of the orient. Don't fail to see this big scenic production at the Grand tonight.

PARENTS ARE WORRIED BY THEIR SON'S ABSENCE

The failure of Howard Russell, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell, of Front street, to return to his home, which he left on Saturday afternoon, August 15, is causing considerable excitement and agitation among his relatives and friends, and is particularly distressing to his father and mother. For the past week or 10 days the matter has been kept very quiet and only a few are aware of young Russell's disappearance. Mrs. Russell is nearly frantic over the affair and is almost on the verge of collapse.

It seems that on the date mentioned, Russell drew a small pay from the railroad pay car for odd jobs around the railroad yards. It is also stated that Russell sold his bicycle in order to secure as much money as possible with which to take a trip. He was not missed at his home until evening, when he failed to come home for supper, and it is now thought that he left the city on one of the afternoon trains.

A few days ago Mr. Russell, the father, received word from Coshocton, which led him to believe that the boy had gone to that city. He made a trip to Coshocton in search of the lad, but was unable to find any trace of him. Last Saturday morning Mr. Russell learned from a railroader that his son had been seen in Pittsburg. Mr. Russell went to Pittsburg on the first train, but was unable to locate his son.

No one seems to know what brought about the action of the lad, as he has never been known to run away from home. None of his friends seem able to attribute any cause to his actions. He had money enough when he left the city to last him for a couple of weeks, if used economically, and it is hoped that he will return within a few days.

By the use of Hyomei, you can save an expensive trip to the mountains and escape weeks of suffering. This remarkable remedy for the cure of hay fever, kills the germs of the disease, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane, if used two or three weeks before the time of the usual appearance of hay fever, will prevent the attack.

The complete Hyomei treatment consists of a neat pocket inhaler, through which Hyomei is breathed, a bottle of Hyomei, and a medicine dropper. The air taken into the lungs in this way is filled with healing balsams and forms a perfect safeguard against attacks of hay fever or rose cold.

Those who have had hay fever, know how little help can be gained by stomach dosing in this disease. Hyomei is the only scientific yet common sense treatment for the trouble.

It is easy enough for any one to say that a remedy will give satisfaction, but Will Reed's offer to refund the money if Hyomei does not do all that is claimed for it, certainly inspires faith in the treatment.

Hyomei really gives you in your own home, a change of climate, and hay fever sufferers know from past experience that this has been the only thing that afforded them relief. By breathing Hyomei a few times daily, you can save the expense and trouble of a mountain trip and avoid all danger of hay fever.

Unclaimed Letters.

List of unclaimed letters remaining in the Wellsville postoffice for the week ending August 24: J. E. Albertson, J. E. Baker, Charles Boyd, Alessi Bellanea, Frank Evans, Geseppe Caramossa, Castelveten Ginseppe, Antonio Giovanio, Mrs. Ellie Hamilton, Miss Mattie Hilton, Charles Harkins, Miss Julia Lemon, Miss Anabel Lee, Miss Helen Malone, Joe McBane, James Morehead (2), Michael Domenico, Georgia Cunningham, Francesco Regusa, David Rice, Mrs. George Seeley, Miss Mary Smith, Charles B. Smith, L. Peng, Elizabeth Shank, J. W. Stamm, Emmet Slaughter, Clyde J. Wright, Willis R. Ward, James Warrant, Alma Williamson, Thomas Young, Mrs. Clara McFarland, Frank Walsh.

Statements Unsubstantiated.

An article was published in one of Wellsville's dailies a few days ago, stating that Cudahay, the millionaire beef packer of Kansas City, was negotiating for the purchase of a tract of land on the north side of Yellow creek, between the county bridge and the street car bridge, upon which an abbatoir and stock yards were to be built. The article further stated that negotiations were under way for the purchase of eight or ten acres of ground outside of the corporation for stock yards. The story is thought to have been a manufactured one for "booming" purposes, as none of the statements in the story can be substantiated.

Water Must be Used Sparingly.

On account of the broken piston rod at the water works pumping station and on account of the lack of the usual water supply of water, a notice has been sent out to all water consumers by Supt. Ewing, requesting the consumers to be as economical as possible in the use of water until the repairs to the disabled pump can be made. It is expected that these repairs will be made Friday or Saturday. The water supply is very limited and the careful use of water is urged to save the city from running out of a supply entirely before the difficulty is overcome.

DEATH DUST

...Roaches...

A big, black roach, is a big, mean nuisance; and the sooner they are driven out or killed, the better. They not only eat food and spoil infinitely more than they eat, but they destroy many fine things, such as book covers, etc. Numerous are the ways and means employed to rid premises and places of them but without permanent result.

The very best thing to kill roaches is Death Dust.

It kills them in their tracks before they reach their haunts. Sprinkle it freely about the places they are seen. They breathe it and DIE. Just what every good housekeeper wants them to do.

The patrons of Rock Springs park who have seen the Wm. Josh Daly's minstrels during the forepart of the week, will see an entirely new show commencing this evening. Mr. Daly, who is the stage manager for the W. S. Cleveland's minstrels, who are now rehearsing at Rock Springs for their road show, is adding night by night some of the artists who are engaged with the Cleveland company, and by the latter part of the week those who visit the theater will witness one of the best minstrel performances on the road. OIL LANDS LEASED

By a Big Company Proposing a Thorough Test of the Territory.

J. A. McDonald and Thomas Campbell have secured leases on a number of farms on Oak Run for the purpose of developing for oil and gas. The gentlemen are working in the interest of a large concern with headquarters at Marietta and expect operations to be commenced very soon on one of the four farms that have been already secured.

Leases were closed yesterday on the farms of O. A. Lowary, Charles Geer, Burgess Geer and Mrs. George Miller. The leases adjoin territory that has been developed to the extent of 21 wells, and only one of them has proved a duster and the farms that have been secured are considered gilt edge by the Vilginia Oil company, who will work the leases. The well on the Stewart farm, which adjoins and showed up favorably, would have been in today but for the breaking of the tools.

Two Strangers Taken In.

Only two arrests were made yesterday by the officers. The men arrested gave their names as Samuel Watt, of Allegheny, and John Gilchrist, of Jeannette. Both men were intoxicated and when requested by the police to take their trains for home, refused to do so. They were taken before Mayor Mercer and fined $6.60 each. Being unable to produce, they remained in the lockup over night. Friends came to the assistance of Gilchrist this morning and Watt stated his intention of boarding out his $6.60, and is still the guest of the town.

Rain Did Not Check the Rush.

The threatening weather or the showers during the morning had but little effect on the attendance at the Hookstown fair on the last day of the meeting. As early as 6 o'clock rigs of different descriptions were noticed going through the town and the travel was steady throughout the day. The horses and vehicles of all kinds were much in demand and the liverymen did a rushing business.

An Important Purchase.

The well known oil operator, James Murray, of New Cumberland, has purchased of the rolling mill land company six lots on Louisiana avenue for $4,000. He will erect a house and stable on one of the lots and move to Chester. He proposes also to sink a gas well and have a gas supply of his own. Mr. Murray is a lover of fine horses and will build a $4,000 stable in which to keep them.

Heptasophs' Big Picnic.

The Heptasophs' picnic was one of the biggest of the season. Members of the order from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, took in the sights of the park and of East Liverpool and had a royal good time. The chief amusements were dancing and athletic sports. Crowds patronized the theater.

Horse Died of Colic.

A valuable horse belonging to Nick Genalley succumbed to an attack of colic last night. Mr. Genalley was awakened in the early morning by the noise of the suffering animal, but before the assistance of a veterinary surgeon could be had, the horse died.

Postoffice Not to Move.

Contrary to report, the location of the Chester postoffice, for the present at least, will not be changed. Postmaster Johnston, when asked about the matter this morning, stated that privilege to change the location had been granted by the department August 11, but no location had yet been contracted for. In all likelihood as soon as a building is erected more centrally that will answer the purpose, the postmaster will avail himself of the oportunity to secure quarters.

REALM OF SPORTS

ONLY PRACTICE FOR THE LOCALS

Considering the fact that they needed a little practice for the genuine battles they are to fight during the next 10 days, the locals do not feel that the time they spent yesterday afternoon in the West End park was totally fruitless. They are going to buck three of the best teams outside the major leagues within two weeks, and a little limbering up was really good for them. They shut out the Pittsburg Herron Hill Athletic club, 10 to 0.

The fans evidently were governed by a premonition, few of them being fooled to the park, and it was a lucky thing, not many people particularly admiring practice ball. However, there was considerable sport in the exhibition, the locals playing one of the prettiest games of the season. The visitors did not play bad ball—they were simply out of their class. In fact, they have got two men, the third baseman and short stop, who will see better days in the base ball world. They are certainly comers.

It was with difficulty that either trio of outfielders managed to escape a broken leg or two. The circus had rested on the grounds for two days and the holes and uprisals scattered over the field made it almost impossible for a man to navigate. The condition came dangerously near sending Gibson to the happy hunting grounds. He was running like the wind after a hard one in left when his foot became entangled in a tuft of mud and grass and the next thing Gibson knew he was rolling some.

The locals made their runs in a steady stream, escaping but two innings. Their greatest onslaught was in the third, however, when three runs were scored on two hits, one of them a three-bagger by the old captain, Reark. The visitors did manage to reach third once, but they were eaten alive in every other inning. They got only three hits, and one of them was anything but clean. Gibson had his hands all over it, but the run was so hard the runner was credited. In errors they were not so bad, having but four scored against them. As stated above they were out of their class, and being unable to hit had no chance. The score:

Wallace, r	1	2	1	0	0
Brown, 3	0	1	1	2	0

Jarvis, s	1	1	1	3	0

A Great Agency

We Have Secured Control for This City of the Fulton Compounds, the Only Things Known to Medicine That Cure Kidney Diseases in Both the Primary and Secondary Stages.

The kidneys are not sensitive and the disease is sometimes fastened and already chronic with the very first symptoms. If it has hung on eight to ten months it is surely chronic. In either case why take chances? Why not take at first the only thing known that cures kidney disease in the chronic as well as the primary stages. The Pell case cited below, by permission, is especially valuable, for its incurability was doubly confirmed by consulting physicians and after recovery under the Fulton Compounds the recovery was also doubly attested.

On May 1st, 1902, the son of R. C. Pell, the manager of the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company of Second and Folsom streets, San Francisco was declared by the family physician to have chronic kidney disease and incurable. Another physician was called in and confirmed the diagnosis. The whole body was swollen with dropsy, and a fatal termination looked for. The Fulton Compounds were then turned to as the only hope. On September 15 the dropsy had disappeared and the boy was well, and after double examinations the physician declared the recovery complete and gave Mr. Pell a written report which he now has.

Judge G. A. Cabaniss, the Police Judge of San Francisco, also attests the recovery under his own observation of a friend of his who also recovered when the case (chronic Bright's Disease of the kidneys) was well known to be incurable according to all medical authorities.

Up to the advent of the Fulton Compounds medicine knew nothing that would cure kidney troubles after they became chronic. About nine-tenths of all cases are now curable, ever after they have developed into the dreaded chronic forms of Bright's Disease and diabetes. No statements are published or invited except from chronic cases that, like the above, are incurable by all other known medicines. If your kidney trouble is recent Fulton's Renal Compound will cure it quickly. If it is of over eight to ten months standing it is the only thing known that will save your life. John J. Fulton Co., 409 Washington street, San Francisco, sole compounders. Fulton's Renal Compound for Bright's and Kidney Diseases, $1; for Diabetes, $1.50. Free analyses made for patients. Heart Beats Per Minute. Weak Heart

Complicated With Kidney Trouble.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me Permanently.

"Your medicine is worth its weight in gold, and I cannot recommend it too highly for the good it has done me. I was troubled with heart disease complicated with a weak back and kidney complaint for a number of years. Although five of our best doctors waited on me I grew worse instead of better, until at last nothing seemed to do me any good. I had a rapid pulse varying from 100 to 150 beats per minute, a choking and burning sensation in the wind-pipe, and pain in the heart. At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure I weighed but 130 pounds. After using the remedies six months I weighed 182 pounds and felt well, and strong and hearty. My nerve, heart and kidney troubles are all gone now and as this cure was performed nearly seven years ago I know that it is permanent."—Edward Knapp, Wilkersville, Ohio.

"For many years I have been a great sufferer from heart disease. I was subject to faint and sinking spells, with a clutching, oppressive or full feeling at the heart, that is difficult to describe. I was unable to attend to my household duties and was thoroughly wretched and miserable. I doctored with some of our best physicians but got no relief until I tried Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine. I experienced benefit from the first few doses and finally was completely cured."—Mrs. J. M. Holloway, Geneva, Ind.

MEETING CALLED FOR ASSOCIATION PLAYERS

Next Monday evening, August 31, at 7:30 it is proposed to hold a general meeting of all old members of the East Liverpool Rovers foot ball club, and as many more outside foot ball players (that is, players not belonging to the Rovers) as are desirous of becoming members of a new foot ball organization to be formed out of the remnants of the old Rovers and Buckeye clubs. It is hoped that, as there are quite a number of young foot ball aspirants in the Crockery City, a first-class team can be got together that will uphold the name of East Liverpool in the world of sport.

President Hancock and Manager Wooliscraft, of last year's Rovers club, will deliver a few interesting remarks concerning last year's foot ball season. The Rovers finished up with a few dollars on hand last season.

NINE FAST GAMES

Contrary to the announcement in another evening paper the crack team of Waynesburg, Pa., will be the attraction at the West End park during the remainder of the week. In this series the locals will be up against one of the strongest teams that has appeared in the city this season. Though the Waynesburg aggregation has gained but little mention so far, it demonstrated on last Tuesday its superiority by defeating Homestead, conceded to be one of the fastest amateur teams in the country. The local team is probably better qualified for a strenuous series than for many months, every weak point having been strengthened and each player playing the game to the satisfaction of his well-trained captain, "Chick" Reark.

There will no doubt be enormous crowds at each game, local fans having shown in the past their enthusiasm over such contests. That they will get the worth of their money no one doubts, the contesting teams being well matched.

Notwithstanding that the series alluded to above will be witnessed by every fan in the city, it is predicted that the games scheduled for every day of next week will be the biggest drawing card ever presented by any local team's management. There are none in this vicinity ignorant of the merits of the Niles steel workers and the team of Youngstown has gained a reputation equally as good. Niles will oppose the locals Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and Youngstown on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. As a result of hard and continuous practice the locals expect to carry the scalps of both teams. They showed a few weeks ago that these crack teams are in their class and that by steady playing they can win a victory every time.

The Only Way

TO CURE CHRONIC STOMACH TROUBLE

NAU'S DYSPEPSIA CURE will do.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 11th, 1902.
Mr. Frank Nau, New York City:

"Dear Sir—I have been troubled with Stomach trouble for a number of years, and have had the pleasure of giving your remedy a trial, and am convinced that it will prove beneficial in every case where one is suffering from troubles of the stomach. I highly recommend it, having received great benefit myself from the use of your remedy. Respectfully"

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

The St. Louis American league team wants Catcher Shannon, of Wheeling.

George Gardner says Fitz is a bluffer and that he will meet him any time that Bob gets ready.

Art Simms, the Akron boxer, wants to arrange matches with Eddie Hanlon and Young Corbett.

J. J. Corbett says Eddie Hanlon, the Pacific coast boy, will be the next feather weight champion.

Jeffries has become tired of fighting and may retire from the ring after his match with Jack Munroe.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. BUCKEYE DEMOCRATS

TOM L. JOHNSON FOR GOVERNOR

Columbus, O., Aug. 27.—The Johnson program was carried out completely in the Democratic state convention. Every nomination on the state ticket, including Mayor Tom L. Johnson for governor, was made by acclamation. Even after the chair announced that the name of Mayor Johnson was the only one before the convention for governor there were some dissenting Zimmerman votes on the motion to make the nomination unanimous, but the Zimmerman supporters subsided after the selections for governor and senator were made.

The following ticket was nominated:

The Ticket.

Governor—Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland.

Lieutenant Governor — Frank B. Niles, of Toledo.

Attorney General—Frank S. Monnett, of Columbus.

State Treasurer—V. J. Dahl, of Washington Court House.

Auditor—Charles A. Kloeb, of Wapakoneta.

Member of Board of Public Works—W. B. Jones, of Ironton.

Supreme Judge—E. J. Dempsey, of Cincinnati.

John H. Clarke, of Cleveland, was endorsed for United States senator.

The opposition by various obstruction movements kept the convention in continuous session for about seven hours. While minority reports were presented from the committees the only fight that worried the Johnson managers was on the senatorship. The only ballots forced on the dominant element were in that contest. The minority report on rules and order of business, which was intended to omit the endorsement of a senatorial candidate, was defeated by a vote of 211 ayes to 448 nays, which was considered a test vote between Johnson and Zimmerman, after all the contested seats had been decided in favor of the former.

Johnson Forces Divided.

On naming the candidate for senator the Johnson supporters were divided among themselves. Mayor Johnson and former Congressman John J. Lentz have been very close personally and politically for years, but an almost intensely bitter feeling existed between them, at least on the part of Lentz, who openly accused Johnson with favoring for senator a man who had voted against Bryan. Zimmerman men had intended voting for Clarke, the Johnson candidate for senator, as they said he represented their conservative views, but when Lentz opened a fight on Johnson on the senatorial candidate the opposition resumed its obstructive tactics and voted for Lentz for senator, thus driving the Johnson faction to the second ballot.

John H. Clarke, who will canvass the state with Mayor Johnson and other Democratic committees, has been a prominent attorney at Youngstown for many years, but now he is located in Cleveland, which city has four prominent candidates, Republican as well as the Democratic, for senator and governor.

Clarke Active in Convention.

Next to the commanding presence of Johnson was the part of Clarke in the convention. He made two masterly speeches, one presenting the name of Johnson and the other in accepting the senatorial nomination. Mr. Clarke intimated that he would ask Senator Hanna for joint debates during the campaign.

With the single exception of senatorial endorsement the Johnson men controlled the convention. The convention was as distinctly with Bryan on national as with Johnson on state issues. The speeches of both Temporary Chairman Saltzgaber and Permanent Chairman Goeke insisted that if the Democratic party is to change its policy to suit the times, the change "must be made by the friends of the party and not by its enemies."

The result of the convention leaves the state committee 18 to 3 in the hands of the Bryan-Johnson element for next year, when delegates to the Democratic national convention are to be selected.

Want Freight Rates Reduced.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 27.—Alabama iron manufacturers have addressed a strong letter to the traffic managers of the railroads throughout this section for the immediate reduction of 50 cents a ton in freight rates to enable them to meet competition with the iron manufacturers in Pennsylvania, Ohio and elsewhere.

Mother and Daughter Injured.

Cleveland, Aug. 27.—Mrs. J. J. Lohrer, wife of a Cincinnati physician, and their daughter, Dorothy, were run into by a brewery wagon on Euclid avenue and knocked down. Mrs. Lohrer is not seriously hurt, but Dorothy is said to be so badly hurt that she may die. Mrs. Lohrer is visiting her brother in this city.

RICH COAL LANDS PURCHASED

Block of Over Two Thousand Acres Sold to Eastern People for a Quarter of a Million.

Wheeling, Aug. 27.—A block of 2,220 acres of good coal land lying about 10 miles above this city changed hands. About $250,000 was paid for the land. The most of those interested in the gigantic scheme are from the east.

James Bradock, of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., and John M. Stauffer, of Scottdale, are the two promoters and those who will likely be at the head of the company when it is chartered.

The land lies in Beech Bottom which is traversed by the lines of the Panhandle Traction company, and is considered one of the richest pieces of coal land in the Ohio valley. It has an outcrop facing along the river two miles in length and has the river rights for two landings.

American Lawyer Acquitted.

Havana, Aug. 27.—The criminal court acquitted Joseph De Wyckoff, an American lawyer, of the charge of misappropriating $10,000 sent to him by Michael J. Dady, of Brooklyn, for the purpose of securing an option on the aqueduct of Cienfuegos. The purchase was not consummated and De Wyckoff did not return the money. The contention of the defense was that the power of attorney given by Dady to De Wyckoff was not special, but general; that Dady owed De Wyckoff more than $10,000, and that De Wyckoff was justified in applying the money to that account.

King Peter's Iron Hand.

Belgrade, Aug. 27.—King Peter is determined to suppress the military malcontents with an iron hand. On Tuesday three army colonels, two captains and a newspaper editor were condemned to death for participation in a plot which was discovered and rendered abortive. Despite this, however, the king is obviously in the hands of the recent regicides, who are causing a veritable reign of terror.

Miles a Guest of Veterans.

The Weirs, N. H., Aug. 27.—General Nelson A. Miles was the guest at the New Hampshire Veterans' association camp and spoke at the afternoon camp fire. A salute of 17 guns was fired in his honor and he was accorded a most enthusiastic greeting. General Miles confined his remarks chiefly to reminiscences of the Civil war and paid tribute to the part taken in that struggle by the troops from New England.

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

CHAPTER I.—Grenfall Lorry, a wealthor occupant who refuses or neglects to do quaintance with a charming foreign girl on the train from Denver to Washington. The pair are left behind when the flier stops for repairs in West Virginia. II.—Lorry wires ahead to hold the train. He and the unknown girl ride twenty miles at a tearing pace in a mountain coach. Lorry knows it is a dangerous ride. There is no love-making, but a near approach to it as the rolling stage tumbles the passengers about. III.—Lorry dines with the foreign party, consisting of Miss Guggenslocker, Uncle Caspar and Aunt Yvonne. They are natives of Graustark, a country Lorry had never heard of before. IV.—Lorry shows the foreigners the sights of Washington. They leave for New York to sail on the Kaiser Wilhelm. Miss Guggenslocker naively calls Lorry her "Ideal American" and invites him to come and see her at Edelweiss. V.—Wildly infatuated, Lorry hurries to New York. The name Guggenslocker is not on the steamer list. He sees the steamer off. Miss G. waves him a kiss from the deck. VI.—Lorry joins his old friend, Harry Anguish, an American artist in Paris. Graustark and its capital Edelweiss, are located by a guide book. The Americans get no trace of the Guggenslockers there. VII.—Lorry sees his charmer driving in a carriage with a beautiful companion of her own sex. He gets a glance of recognition, but the carriage rolls on, leaving the mystery unsolved. Later he receives a note at his hotel signed Sophia Guggenslocker, inviting him to visit her next day. VIII.—In the evening Lorry and Anguish ramble about the grounds of the castle where dwells the court of the princess of Graustark. They overhear a plot to abduct the princess and resolve to capture the plotters red handed. IX.—Following the conspirators, Lorry finds himself in a room he heard them designate as that of the princess. X.—Lorry tells the princess of the plot. Mutual recognition; she is Miss Guggenslocker. Dannox, the guard, is in the abduction plot. He fells Lorry with a terrible blow. Anguish to the rescue. XI.—Lorry quartered in the castle. The princess visits him, but forbids all talk of love. XII.—Graustark is bankrupt and owes the neighboring princedom of Axphain $30,000,000. The creditor demands cash or the cession of the richest districts of Graustark. XIII.—The Prince of Axphain offers to extend the loan if the princess will marry his son Lorenz. Prince Gabriel, of Dawsbergen, also bids for the princess' hand with offer of a loan. Yetive tells Lorry that she belongs to her people and will marry Lorenz. XIV.—Lorry discovered kissing the princess while she is seated on the throne. He quits the castle by royal command. XV.—Betrothal of the princess to Lorenz. The Americans recognize Gabriel as chief conspirator in the abduction plot. XVI.—Lorenz toasts the princess lightly in a cafe. Lorry dashes the glass from his hand. Challenge to a duel. Lorenz assassinated. Lorry charged with the crime. XVII.—Princess Yetive commits Lorry to prison. All Graustark rejoices at the death of Lorenz. XVIII and XIX.—The princess helps Lorry to escape.

With Lorry in the center, the trio walked off rapidly in the darkness, the fugitive with the sense of fear that belongs only to a blind man. A little light far ahead told the position of the gate, and for this they bent their steps. Reaching the gate, the captain pounded vigorously, and a sleepy monk soon peered from the little window through which shone the light.

"On important business with the abbot, from her royal highness the Princess Yetive," said Quinnox in response to a sharp query, spoken in the Graustark tongue. A little gate beside the big one opened, and the monk, lantern in hand, bade them enter.

"Await me here, captain," commanded the slim, straight soldier, with face turned from the light. A moment later the gate closed, and Lorry was behind the walls of St. Valentine's, a prisoner again. The monk preceded them across the dark court toward the great black mass, his lantern creating ghastly shadows against the broken mist. His followers dropped some little distance behind, the tall one's arm stealing about the other's waist, his head bending to a level with hers.

"Is it to be goodby, dearest?" he asked. "Goodby forever?"

"I cannot say that. It would be like wishing you dead. Yet there is no hope. No, no! We will not say goodby—forever," she said despairingly.

"Impossible! You will stay here until Quinnox comes to take you away. Then you must not stop until you are in your own land. We may meet again"—

"Yes, by my soul, we shall meet again! I'll do as you bid and all that, but I'll come back when I can stay away no longer. Go to your castle and look forward to the day that will find me at your feet again. It is bound to come."

They passed inside the massive doors and halted. "You must remain here until I have seen the prior," she said, laughing nervously and glancing down at the boots which showed beneath the long coat. Then she hastily followed the monk, disappearing down the corridor. In ten minutes—ten hours to Lorry—she returned with her guide.

"He will take you to your room," she said breathlessly, displaying unmistakable signs of embarrassment. "Goodby, and God be with you always. Remember, I love you."

The monk's back was turned, so the new recluse snatched the slight figure to his heart.

"Some day?" he whispered.

She would not speak, but he held her until she nodded her head.

CHAPTER XX.

THE APPROACHING ORDEAL.

"THE American has escaped!" was the cry that spread through Edelweiss the next morning.

It brought undisguised relief to the faces of thousands. There was not one who upbraided Baron Dangloss for his astounding negligence. Never before had a criminal escaped from the tower. The only excuse, uttered in woebegone tone, was that the prison had not been constructed or manned for such clever scoundrels as Yankees—good name for audacity.

The full story of the daring break for liberty flashed from lip to lip during the day, and it was known all over the water swept city before noon. Baron Dangloss himself had gone to the prisoner's cell early in the morning, mystified by the continued absence of the guard. The door was locked, but from within came groans and cries. Alarmed at once, the captain procured duplicate keys and entered the cell. There he found the helpless, blood covered Ogbot, bound hand and foot and almost dead from loss of blood. The clothes of the American were on the floor, while his own were missing, gone with the prisoner.

Ogbot as soon as he was able related his experience of the night before. It was while making his rounds at midnight that he heard moans from the cell. Animated by a feeling of pity, he opened the slab door and asked if he were ill. The wretched American was lying on the bed, apparently suffering. He said something which the guard could not understand, but which he took to be a plea for assistance. Not suspecting a trick, the kindly guard unlocked the second door and stepped to the bedside only to have the sick man rise suddenly and deal him a treacherous blow over the head with the heavy stool he had secreted behind him. Ogbot knew nothing of what followed, so effective was the blow. When he regained consciousness, he was lying on the bed just as the captain had found him. The poor fellow, overwhelmed by the enormity of his mistake, begged Dangloss to shoot him at once. But Dangloss had him conveyed to the hospital ward and tenderly cared for.

Three guards in one of the offices saw a man whom they supposed to be Ogbot pass from the prison shortly after 12, and the mortified chief admitted that some one had gone through his private apartment. As the prisoner had taken Ogbot's keys, he experienced little difficulty in getting outside the gates. But, vowed Dangloss stormily, he should be recaptured if it required the efforts of all the policemen in Edelweiss. The chagrin of the grim old captain, who had never lost a prisoner, was pitiful to behold.

The forenoon was half over before Harry Anguish heard of his friend's escape. To say that he was paralyzed would be putting it much too mildly. There is no language that can adequately describe his sensations. Forgetting his bodyguard, he tore down the street toward the prison, wild with anxiety and doubt. He met Baron Dangloss, tired and worn, near the gate, but the old officer could tell him nothing except what he had learned from

Ogbot. Of one thing there could be no doubt—Lorry was gone. Not knowing where to turn or what to do, Anguish raced off to the castle, his bodyguard having located him in the meantime. He was more in need of their protection than ever.

At the castle gates he encountered a party of raving Axphainians, crazed with anger over the flight of the man whose life they had thirsted for so ravenously. Had he been unprotected Anguish would have fared badly at their hands, for they were outspoken in their assertions that he had aided Lorry in the escape. One fiery little fellow cast a glove in the American's face and expected a challenge. Anguish snapped his fingers and sarcastically invited the insulter to meet him next winter in a battle with snowballs, upon which the aggressor blasphemed in three languages and 300 gestures. Anguish and his men passed inside the gates, which had been barred to the others, and struck out rapidly for the castle doors.

The Princess Yetive was sleeping soundly, peacefully, with a smile on her lips, when her prime minister sent an excited attendant to inform her of the prisoner's escape. She sat up in bed, and, with her hands clasped about her knees, sleepily announced that she would receive him after her coffee was served. Then she summoned her maids.

Her uncle and aunt, the Countess Dagmar (whose merry brown eyes were so full of pretended dismay that the princess could scarcely restrain a smile), and Gaspon, the minister of finance, were awaiting her appearance. She heard the count's story of the escape, marveled at the prisoner's audacity and firmly announced that everything possible should be done to apprehend him. With a perplexed frown on her brow and a dubious twist to her lips, she said:

"I suppose I must offer a reward?"

"Certainly!" exclaimed her uncle.

"Fifty!" cried the two men, aghast.

"Isn't that enough?"

"For the murderer of a prince?" demanded Gaspon. "It would be absurd, your highness. He is a most important person."

"Quite so. He is a most important person. I think I'll offer 5,000 gavvos."

"More like it. He is worth that, at least," agreed Uncle Caspar.

"Beyond a doubt," sanctioned Gaspon.

"I am glad you do not consider me extravagant," she said demurely. "You may have the placards printed at once," she went on, addressing the treasurer. "Say that a reward of 5,000 gavvos will be paid to the person who delivers Grenfall Lorry to me."

"Would it not be better to say 'delivers Grenfall Lorry to the tower?'" submitted Gaspon.

"You may say 'to the undersigned' and sign my name," she said reflectively.

"Very well, your highness. They shall be struck off this morning."

"In large type, Gaspon. You must catch him if you can," she added. "He is a very dangerous man, and royalty needs protection." With this wise bit of caution she dismissed the subject and began to talk of the storm.

As the two young plotters were hastening up the stairs later on an attendant approached and informed the princess that Mr. Anguish requested an audience.

"Conduct him to my boudoir," she said, her eyes sparkling with triumph. In the seclusion of the boudoir she and the countess laughed like children over the reward that had been so solemnly ordered.

Tap, tap, came a knock on the door, and in the same instant it flew open, for Mr. Anguish was in a hurry. As he plunged into their presence a pair of heels found the floor spasmodically.

"Oh, I beg pardon!" he gasped as if about to fly. "May I come in?"

"Not unless you go outside. You are already in, it seems," said the princess, advancing to meet him. The countess was very still and sedate. "I am so glad you have come."

"Heard about Lorry? The fool is out and gone!" he cried, unable to restrain himself. Without a word she dragged him to the divan, and, between them, he soon had the whole story poured into his ears, the princess on one side, the countess on the other.

"You are a wonder!" he exclaimed when all the facts were known to him. He executed a little dance of approval, entirely out of place in the boudoir of a princess, but very much in touch with prevailing sentiment. "But what's to become of me?" he asked after cooling down. "I have no excuse for remaining in Graustark, and I don't like to leave him here either."

"Oh, I have made plans for you," said she. "You are to be held as hostage."

"What!"

"I thought of your predicament last night, and here is the solution: This very day I shall issue an order forbidding you the right to leave Edelweiss. You will not be in prison, but your every movement is to be watched. A strong guard will have you under surveillance, and any attempt to escape or to communicate with your friend will result in your confinement and his detection. In this way you may stay here until the time comes to fly. The Axphain people must be satisfied, you know. Your freedom will not be disturbed. You may come and go as you like, but you are ostensibly a prisoner. By detaining you forcibly we gain a point, for you are needed here. There is no other way in which you can explain a continued presence in Graustark. Is not my plan a good one?"

"It is beyond comparison," he said, rising and bowing low. "So shrewd is this plan that you make me a hostage forever. I shall not escape its memory if I live to be a thousand."

At parting she said seriously:

"A great deal depends on your discretion, Mr. Anguish. My guards will watch your every action, for they are not in the secret—excepting Quinnox—and any attempt on your part to communicate with Grenfall Lorry will be fatal."

"Trust me, your highness. I have had much instruction in wisdom today."

"I hope we shall see you often," she said.

"Daily—as a hostage," he replied glancing toward the countess.

"That means until the other man is captured," said the young lady saucily.

As he left the castle he gazed at the distant building in the sky and wondered how it had ever been approached in a carriage. She had not told him that Allode drove for miles over winding roads that led to the monastery up a gentler slope from the rear.

The next afternoon Edelweiss thrilled with a new excitement. Prince Bolaroz of Axphain, mad with grief and rage, came thundering into the city with his court at his heels. His wrath had been increased until it resembled a tornado when he read the reward placard in the uplands. Not until then did he know that the murderer had escaped and that vengeance might be denied him.

After viewing the body of Lorenz as it lay in the sarcophagus of the royal palace, where it had been borne at the command of the Princess Yetive, he demanded audience with his son's betrothed, and it was with fear that she prepared for the trying ordeal, an interview with the grief crazed old man. The castle was in a furore. Its halls soon thronged with diplomatists and there was an ugly sense of trouble in the air, suggestive of the explosion which follows the igniting of a powder magazine.

The slim, pale faced princess met the burly old ruler in the grand council chamber. He and his nobles had been kept waiting but a short time. Within a very few minutes after they had been conducted to the chamber by Count Halfont and other dignitaries the fair ruler came into the room and advanced between the bowing lines of courtiers to the spot where sat the man who held Graustark in his grasp.

Bolaroz arose as she drew near, his gaunt face black and unfriendly. She extended her hand graciously, and he, a prince for all his wrath, touched his trembling lips to its white, smooth back.

"I come in grief and sadness to your court, most glorious Yetive. My burden of sorrow is greater than I can bear," he said hoarsely.

"Would that I could give you consolation," she said, sitting in the chair reserved for her use at council gatherings. "Alas, it grieves me that I can offer nothing more than words." Truly she pitied him in his bereavement.

Bolaroz said that he had heard of the murderer's escape and asked what effort was being made to recapture him. Yetive related all that had happened, expressing humiliation over the fact that her officers had been unable to accomplish anything, adding that she did not believe the fugitive could get away from Graustark safely without her knowledge. The old prince was working himself back into the violent rage that had been temporarily subdued, and at last broke out in a vicious denunciation of the carelessness that had allowed the man to escape. He first insisted that Dangloss and his incompetent assistants be thrown into prison for life or executed for criminal negligence; then he demanded the life of Harry Anguish as an aider and abettor in the flight of the murderer. In both cases the princess firmly refused to take the action demanded. Then she acquainted him with her intention to detain Anguish as hostage and to have his every action watched in the hope that a clew to the whereabouts of the fugitive might be discovered, providing, of course, that the friend knew anything at all about the matter. The Duke of Mizrox and others loudly joined in the cry for Anguish's arrest, but she bravely held out against them and in the end curtly informed them that the American, whom she believed to be innocent of all complicity in the escape, should be subjected to no indignity other than detention in the city under guard, as she had ordered.

$3750 Six room dwelling and store room 20x30 feet. A chance for one who wants a home and to go into the retail grocery business. The location for a grocery store is one of the best in the city, being in a closely built up neighborhood with no stores conveniently located. It is sure to command the trade of its district and neighborhood and it is grocery stores located as this is that make the money. Location overcomes the necessity of meeting ruinous competition and with less expenses and with regular trade the merchant prospers when his contemporary in the city's center does five times the business and makes less. The dwelling is modern, containing bath, hot and cold water, sanitary sewer connections, porticos, gas, electric light wiring, china closets, cabinet mantel, etc. This is an opportunity for some one—will it be you? Terms—$750 down; balance $30 monthly.

$1650 Six rooms, slate roof, front, back and side porticos, grained inside, well arranged, comfortable and convenient. Good cellar, drilled well with force pump. Lot 40x100. Commands a fine view, is easy of access, within one minute's walk of north side street car line. It is located one-half square east of the Calcutta road just beyond Riverview cemetery. Terms—$450 down; balance $10 per month.

Restaurant and dwelling of 12 rooms furnished in part. Well suited and located for a boarding or mealing house. See us for terms and price.

We have 25 times as many more properties. Call and see us about any or all of them. We will sell on terms to suit your income. Why pay rent when you can own a home? Don't you know that by paying a dollar on each $100 you owe will wipe out the debt and interest in ten years? For instance, fifteen dollars paid monthly for ten years will pay off a $1,500 debt and interest. It's not how much money one spends but how one spends it that makes one's financial weal or woe.

"This new line will be the first electric property to have a separate right of way through a city for the handling of freight. In Youngstown they will have a freight track separate from the street line, which will connect with the belt line and with all of the railroads in that city. Backers of the Youngstown & Southern own 2,300 acres of coal land near East Liverpool, which produces North Lima coal, a fuel of about the same grade as the Palmyra, which was recently exhausted. In addition the same parties own about 3,000 acres of land, producing West Point coal of about equal grade with the production from the Massillon district. This fuel is to be marketed in Youngstown and the surplus sent out over the various railroads with which the Youngstown & Southern will connect.

"The liabilities of the company will amount to $1,800,000 of stock and $1,500,000 of 5 per cent bonds. These bonds have been underwritten very largely in Boston. Construction work has been under way for four months and will hardly be completed for 18 months or two years. The matter of a connection with other properties is one for future consideration."

WOMEN LITIGANTS BEFORE THE MAYOR

Mayor Weaver is making a record for handling petty cases, those in which women are mostly the participants, occurring generally in backyards and the kind that former chief executives have been only too glad to dismiss. The present incumbent has no kick coming, however, very few of the cases failing to fatten his purse to the extent of $3 or more.

Besides a number that he has on the docket awaiting the law the mayor gave out the following this afternoon: Mrs. Ella Powell versus Mrs. Mary Lynch, Mrs. Gertrude Short versus Mrs. John Frye and Mrs. Anna Stilwell versus her husband. Mrs. Powell alleges that Mrs. Lynch was very disorderly and that she used profane and indecent language. Mrs. Frye pleaded guilty to "cussin'" Mrs. Short and was fined $1 and costs. Mrs. Stilwell charges her husband with all kinds of cruelty. She says he gets drunk and fails to provide for her and that he must be turned away from their household. Mrs. Stilwell has employed the mayor as her attorney and will file a suit for divorce if she can get together enough charges to insure a victory in the courts.

A woman of Second street, who failed to leave her card, complained this morning that neighbor women were tormenting her nigh unto death. She said they swore so terribly that she could not eat breakfast this morning. One of them, she said, is bent on fastening a clothes line to her fence, too.

The mayor takes all such cases without protest and feels that he is being well rewarded.
